SEVEN CONVICTED IN LOUP CITY RIOT

President Hits 'Selfish Criticism' Of New Deal Program

'MOTHER' BLOOR GETS HEAVIEST TERM AND FINE

All Defendants in Case Growing Out of Fight on Court House Lawn Found Guilty by Jury —72-Year-Old Woman Fined $100 and Given 90 Day Jail Sentence.

LOUP CITY, Neb., June 29 — (AP) — All seven defendants in the Loup City riot case were convicted today by a jury in County court.

The maximum penalty of $100 fine and 90 days in jail was imposed by County Judge E. W. Moehnert on Mrs. Ella "Mother" Bloor Omholt, 72 year old Grand Island organizer.

The prosecutions followed a hand to hand battle on the court house lawn here June 14 in which 20 persons were injured. Townsmen and "outside agitators" who tried to start a strike at a Loup City produce plant were involved.

The penalties imposed on the other defendants:

Floyd Booth, Grand Island negro, $50 and 60 days.

Mrs. Booth, $10 and 10 days.

Portius Sell, Arcadia, $50 and 30 days.

Appeal bonds were set at $500 each except for Mrs. Booth, whose bond was set at $100.

Deputies On Guard.

A light rain reduced the crowd of spectators somewhat but the courtroom was packed and special deputies still guarded the town to prevent any further violence. There was no demonstration, however.

Judge Moehnert in sentencing the group lectured each one of them and especially the white haired "Mother" Bloor.

He told of a letter of intimidation he had received from the Omaha provisional committee of the American League Against War and Fascism, and said "in spite of the fact that her grey hairs and age would lead him ordinarily to leniency," he could not overlook such a letter.

"Such a letter," he said, "does not lend to leniency."

"People Are Bosses."

Commenting on a passage in the letter which referred to "the bosses of Sherman county and the damnable capitalistic system," Judge Moehnert said:

"My masters are the citizens of

TWO KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING NEAR DUNCAN

Woman and Boy Meet Death When Car Is Struck By Train.

DUNCAN, Neb., June 29— (AP) — Two persons were killed west of here late Thursday when after waiting for a Union Pacific freight train they drove across the tracks into the path of an oncoming passenger train.

Lawrence Mostek, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mostek, died instantly and Mrs. Gustave Drozd, 61, died a few moments later without regaining consciousness. She was dead when an ambulance arrived.

They were enroute to a farm west of here and stopped at the crossing about a half mile west of Duncan while a westbound freight train was passing. The automobile then drove onto the tracks and was carried about two blocks when hit by an eastbound passenger train which had been screened from view by the freight.

The boy is survived by his parents, a sister, Delores, 6, and a brother, Virgil, six months old. Mrs. Drozd was survived by her husband, four sons and four daughters. Funeral services for each will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. at St. Stanislaus church here, with Father Mack in charge. Both lived in Duncan.

GIRL, 3, SECOND VICTIM OF HEAT IN LINCOLN AREA

Virginia Delisi Dies; Hernandez Recovers From Prostration.

Lincoln's 6-day heat wave claimed its second victim late Thursday when 3 year old Virginia Lucille Delisi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Delisi, died at a local hospital at about 5:30 o'clock.

The child, who lives with her parents four miles west on A street, was overcome Wednesday evening and Dr. George Walker, who attended her, said death was undoubtedly caused by the heat and a stomach disorder resulting from it.

The girl is survived by her parents; a sister, Mary Ann; and a brother Simon.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, Rev. Lawrence F. Obrist officiating. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery. The body is at the home in charge of Splain, Schnell & Griffiths mortuary.

At Lincoln General hospital, Pedro Hernandez, 56, of 1728 Vine street, was said to be recovering from a heat prostration suffered shortly before noon Thursday. Hernandez, a Rock Island section hand, collapsed while cutting weeds along the right-of-way.

President Asks Agreements by Service Trades

WASHINGTON, June 29— (AP) — President Roosevelt, by executive order, today authorized some 55 uncodified service trades to enter agreements with him on standards of labor which will warrant display of the blue eagle.

Simultaneously, Hugh S. Johnson in an order dealing with codified service trades pointed out that provisions for creation of national and local code authorities were suspended and that in their stead he was authorizing creation of local code committees "to co-operate with NRA in co-ordination and execution of the program under said executive order."

The president's order and that of Johnson were described by NRA as "further steps toward solution of the service trades problem." On May 26 the president suspended all provisions of the eight service codes then in force except those governing child labor, minimum wages and maximum hours and the collective bargaining guarantees.

As a result, a number of code authorities have resigned and Johnson was strongly criticised by the code authority for the cleaners and dyers for lifting the price fixing provisions of their code.

SIMON'S TO ADD TO STORE SPACE

Firm Leases Second Floor 1215-17 O For Boys Department.

Ben Simon and Son's will have the largest boys and children's clothing and furnishing department in Nebraska as the result of a long term lease, recently made by the firm, on the second floors of the buildings at 1215 and 1217 street.

The new arrangement will give Simon's additional space, 50 by 142 feet, which will be devoted entirely to the boys and children's departments. The new department will connect with the men's clothing department in the present store and extend across the building of which the down stairs is occupied by the Eastman Kodak store and across the old Walt's Music Store location. The improvement will cost approximately $10,000 it was stated by Charles Simon.

The entire second floor of the present store and the newly acquired space will be remodeled and completely redecorated. The basement of the present store will also be enlarged and several new departments will be added.

HEAT WAVE IS INTERRUPTED BY LIGHT SHOWERS

HEAVIEST RAIN NORTHEAST AREA

Minor Precipitation is General Over East Nebraska.

The temperature at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon was only 80 degrees, the coolest reading for this hour or the day since June 17.

Sprinkles of rain which fell over most of the eastern part of the state Friday forenoon held the temperature here down to the 80-degree mark early in the afternoon, but humidity was oppressively high. The cooler weather interrupted a 6-day blasting heat wave.

In Lincoln .10 of an inch of rain fell from 6 o'clock until 1 o'clock in intermittent showers. Noon reports received by the Burlington showed a half-inch rain at Garrison, a quarter of an inch at York and Utica and one-third of an inch at Waco. A trace fell at Seward.

Sprinkles fell over most of the eastern part of the state earlier in the morning, but only the northeastern part of the state received moisture of beneficial proportions.

The Burlington reported showers extended from here to Ravenna, from Crete to Plattsmouth, and from Sioux City to Ashland. The heaviest rain in the northeastern part of the state was at Ewing, where 1.50 inches fell. A tenth of an inch fell at O'Neill.

3 Hour Rain At Norfolk.

Norfolk had a good three hour rain, the Lincoln Telephone company reported. Other reports received by the telephone company were: David City, .19; showers at Fremont, Columbus, and Friend; and sprinkles at Wahoo, Ashland, and Plattsmouth.

The sixth day of the heat wave brought the second fatal prostration here when Virginia Lucille Delisi, 3, living four miles west on filing with the secretary of state as a bidder for the republican nomination.

Mrs. Catherine McGerr entered the race for congress as a democratic contender two weeks ago. She is competing for the nomination on her ticket with nearly a dozen male aspirants. Miss Muir is in the republican contest against six men.

Urges Tax Saving.

A statement given out by Miss Muir defining her position and views on various public questions emphasizes the following:

Saving of federal expenditures wherever this can be done without impairing the recovery program.

Abolishing state office of land commissioner and transferring the duties to other departments, with further simplification of the state government by getting rid of useless boards, bureaus, commissions and offices.

Consolidation of national war and navy departments into a single department of national defense with separate divisions for the army, the navy and aeronautics.

Creation of a new department of education [illegible] welfare.

Payment [illegible]

Old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

No sale of printed stamped envelopes by the government below cost because of unfair competition to which printing firms are thus subjected.

Goodman in Third Round at Dallas

DALLAS, June 29—(AP)—Continuing his near perfect golf, Johnny Goodman of Omaha easily advanced to the third round of the trans-Mississippi championship this morning with a 4 and 3 victory over Fred Odom, New Orleans city champion.

One under par for the first nine holes, the 1933 national open champion was 4 up. He hugged par to retain this lead and close out Odom on the fifteenth green.

The cards:

Goodman out	5	3	4	3	5	4	4	3	4	—34
Odom out	5	5	4	3	5	4	5	3	5	—39
Goodman in	3	5	5	4	3	5
Odom in	3	5	5	4	3	5

Goodman will meet Wilson Schoellkopf of Dallas in a third round match this afternoon.

Another of golfdom's great was eliminated when Johnny Dawson of Chicago, bowed to the brilliant stroking of O'Hara Watts of Dallas, 1 up.

PLATTE COUNTY SHERIFF FACES FEDERAL ACTION

Kavanaugh Is Defendant in Contempt Charge Filed Here.

Sheriff Edward C. Kavanaugh of Columbus was ordered to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt of court by Federal Judge T. C. Munger Friday afternoon. The order was issued after Assistant U. S. District Attorney Robert Van Pelt filed an information charging that Kavanaugh had allowed federal prisoners in his custody to make visits outside the Platte county jail without guards.

The order to show cause is returnable at 9:30 o'clock the morning of July 3.

On February 28 of this year, all federal prisoners were withdrawn from the Platte county jail because of the alleged irregularities.

The information names three prisoners who are alleged to have been permitted to leave the jail on nuemrous occasions within supervision.

One was William Huff, former Steinauer postmaster, sentenced to six months for embezzling postal funds, who is said to have been allowed to go to church alone and to make other trips about the city of Columbus.

The other two are Harrison L. Dunn, Beatrice, serving a year for robbing the mails, and Francis X. Welch, given 18 months for a Dyer act violation.

The three men entered the Platte county jail on different dates between October 14 and November 1, 1933, and the alleged "visits" apparently occurred between those dates and early in 1934. The length of the freedom period is not stated in the information, and is described as "a long time."

STATE RELIEF FUND IS CUT

Hopkins Allows Nebraska $1,111,000 For All Types of Aid.

Nebraska will not get the entire amount of federal relief funds for July requested by Governor Bryan in his requisition recently sent to Washington, which bore the approval of Federal Relief Agent Rowland Haynes. The amount asked for was about $1,200,000 the greater portion of which was intended for meeting drouth needs.

Associated Press advices Friday are that National Relief Administrator Hopkins has cut this state's July allotment to a total of $1,111,900, which will be divided as follows:

Drouth relief, $590,000; general relief, $515,000; rural rehabilitation, $50,000; care of transients, $29,000; research, $900.

NUDIST COUPLE WEDS IN PUBLIC AT WORLD'S FAIR

CHICAGO, June 29 — (AP) — Dressed in a smile and — the bride at least—a wedding ring, an Amarillo girl and a Milwaukee bridegroom were pronounced man and wife today in strictly nudist ceremony at the World's fair they call "A Century of Progress."

The bride was Jean May, 23 of Amarillo, Tex., and her husband Charles Mueller, 24, of Milwaukee.

Of the wedding party of nine, only the minister deigned to wear clothing. He was dressed in a goat skin, and walked about gingerly in barefeet, stubbing his toe now and then.

The nudists had selected as a background for their ceremony the setting of dinosaurs, triceratops, brontosaurus and other denizens of the "world a million years ago" at the World's fair site.

Cameramen and reporters furnished the necessary blushes, watching the party step into a boat to glide down a "lost river," disrobe behind the scenes and then reappear properly undressed for the wedding.

Miss May had been an adherent of the Roselawn, Ind., nudist colony and Mueller was a disciple of a colony at Mirror Lake, Wis.

LABOR UNIONS AT MILWAUKEE PLAN GENERAL STRIKE

ONE MAN KILLED DURING VIOLENCE

Service Paralyzed and Utility Chief's Position Unchanged.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 29— A general strike will be called by the Milwaukee Federated Trade Council if the electric company strike is not settled by 8 a. m., Monday, it was announced following a conference of labor leaders this afternoon.

Rumors were current this afternoon that employes in the electric company power plants were going to walk out late today.

A pole carrying a high tension power line today was dynamited at Vernon Center, 25 miles southwest of here.

Only four streetcars left the barns here this morning.

Paralysis of trolley and bus service spread today to Racine, also served by the Milwaukee utility, when all conveyances were ordered off the streets after a bus driver was injured by a stone.

MILWAUKEE, June 29— (AP) — One death in a new outburst of violence spurred peace makers on to redoubled efforts to end the strike of union employes of the Milwaukee Electric Railway Co., which threatened today to spread to other industries.

Eugene Domagalski, 24, leader of a band of strike sympathizers and pickets, died last night after a raid on the company's huge Lakeside power plant.

Domagalski was electrocuted when the iron fence post he was using to batter a path into the

COURT ASKED TO OUST RECEIVERS LINCOLN HAIL CO.

Policyholders Assert State Has No Power Assume Control.

Objection to further control of the Lincoln Hail Insurance Co. by any state agency is made in a petition of intervention filed in District court Friday by 10 policyholders in their own behalf and that of others similarly situated. The petition attacks the right of the state to control any insurance company.

Citing alleged improper mismanagement by the former department of trade and commerce and more recently by the department of insurance, the interveners ask a court order immediately removing Director of Insurance Lee Herdman and Special Agents M. Witzenburg and F. A. Wood from control of the company. The court is asked to make such an order on the ground that the state officials are "incompetent and unqualified to longer administer the company."

Ask Accounting.

The ten policyholders, whose petition was filed by Attorney Richard F. Stout, ask an accounting of all funds of the hail insurance company that have come into the hands of the three insurance department officials, or those of former Secretary of the Department of Trade and Commerce E. H. Luikart, who is made a defendant as having had control of the insurance company under his direction until it was

Dillinger Alive, His Father Says

Received Letter From Outlaw Son in Chicago Three Weeks Ago.

MOORESVILLE, Ind., June 29 — (AP)—John Dillinger, desperado, was alive as recently as three weeks ago, because a letter was received from him in Chicago at that time, his father, John Dillinger, sr., said today.

The elder Dillinger, who owns a farm near here, said the letter was delivered to him by a stranger and was immediately burned in accordance with instructions which it contained.

"The letter we got was in John's handwriting and it made us certain that the stories about him being dead are not true," the 69-year-old father added. "We of his family still have no more idea of where John is now than anyone else, but we believe he is alive and well."

Farmer Dillinger related he had been offered money for letters from his son.

"We got together some of the old letters because we needed the money," he explained. "My old mare has gone lame and I need another horse on this farm."

The father said the last time he had seen young John was when the outlaw attended a family reunion at the farm home here April 8.

A. H. FARRENS IS DEAD OF HEART ATTACK IN IOWA

President of Western Brick and Supply Stricken in His Sleep.

Albert Henry Farrens, 70, president of the Western Brick and Supply company, died suddenly in his sleep Thursday night or Friday morning of a heart attack at Centerville, Ia.

—Townsend Photo
A. H Farrens.

Mr. Farrens, inventor and designer of a ventilating brick known as "Farrens-Wall," was in Centerville in regard to obtaining an agent for the product in that territory. He left Lincoln Wednesday morning.

He was a guest Thursday at the home of H. L. Tramp, clay products manager in Centerville. He had attended a dinner and retired about 11 o'clock, apparently in the best of health. When he was called for breakfast at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning his death was discovered. It is believed he passed away at about midnight.

Mr. Farrens was one of the organizers of the Western Brick and Supply company at Hastings about a quarter century ago. He became secretary of the organization at first but when the firm was moved to Lincoln about five years later, he was made president, a position he had held for the past 20 years.

About four years ago he designed and patented the Farrens-Wall, a hollow brick, intended for basement and air conditioning use. The product met with almost instant success, officials of the company here said.

Operated Hastings Drug Store.

Born at Clarinda, Ia., Mr. Farrens attended a school of pharmacy at an Iowa college and came to Nebraska as a young man. For 30 years he operated a drug store at Hastings before organizing the brick company.

He was a member of the chamber of commerce and was prominent in Masonic circles of the city. He was a member of Lincoln lodge No. 19, A. F. & A. M., the Shrine, Scottish Rite and York Rite. He was a member of the Holy Trinity Episcopal church.

He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. George H. Neal, Miss Pauline Farrens, and Miss Frances Farrens, all of Lincoln, Mrs. John Bail of Crockett, Calif., and Mrs. Howard Kitchen of Dallas, Tex.; a son, Bill Farrens of Lincoln; and two brothers, R. D. Farrens of Lincoln, and Wilbur Farrens of Billings, Mont. Mrs. Farrens died February 8, 1933.

The body will be brought to Castle, Roper & Matthews mortuary.

Roosevelt Names Groups To Study Social Problems

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt today established the committee on economic security to prepare the program of social legislation he recently advanced as the business for the next session of congress.

The committee includes Secretaries Morgenthau, Perkins, Wallace, Attorney General Cummings, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator.

Mr. Roosevelt also authorized an advisory council for the special committee to include 15 to 20 national leaders in the fields of labor, social welfare, industry and commerce, and state and local governments.

A technical board to assist the committee in gathering and co-ordinating facts also was authorized.

"The committees will study the hazards of unemployment, old age and unemployability, industrial accidents and occupational diseases, non-industrial sickness and disability, widowhood and the economic aspects of maternity," said a white house statement.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt's lashing of "die hards" and pledge of a vaster new deal promised today to resound in the campaigns for the fall elections.

Friend and foe alike studied the latest "report to the nation" in which the president claimed "substantial gains," laughed at "prophets of calamity" and again stressed his future program for "the security of the men, women and children of the nation."

Sitting in the oval room of the white house, in the steaming heat of a Washington summer, the president gave a radio talk last night in which he:

1. Praised congress as the most unpartisan since the time "of President Washington himself."
2. Cited statistics to show gains in wages, employment, farm prices and consuming power.
3. Struck at "plausible self-seekers and theoretical die-hards" who "tell you of loss of individual liberty."
4. Declaring the "most vociferous of the Doubting Thomases" are those who seek special political or financial privileges.
5. Said the toes of harmful self-seekers "are being stepped on and are going to be stepped on."
6. Reaffirmed his faith in what has come to be known as the "brain trust."
7. Promised protection against the chiselers and "unfair skyrocketing" of prices in NRA's "process of evolution."
8. Again emphasized his huge, three-fold plan for "security" through providing better homes, planning land and water resources and social insurance.

Some Fear Progress.

The president said:

"A few timid people, who fear progress, will try to give you new and strange names for what we are doing. Sometimes they will call it

LANGER GIVEN 18 MONTHS IN PEN

North Dakota Governor Also Fined $10,000 for Conspiracy.

FARGO, N. D., June 29—(AP)—Gov. William Langer, a day after winning the republican nomination for governor, today was sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $10,000 in Federal court for conspiracy to defraud the United States government.

Federal Judge Andrew Miller imposed sentence.

Governor Langer and four others were convicted two weeks ago of soliciting funds from federal relief workers for maintenance of "The Leader," an administration newspaper.

Sentences of 13 months and fines of $3,000 each were imposed on Oscar Chaput, business manager of the Leader, Frank Vogel, state highway commissioner, and R. A. Kinzer, former executive secretary of the federal emergency relief committee for North Dakota.

Harold McDonald, also a co-defendant, was given four months in the Bismarck jail, Judge Miller remarking in passing sentence that the lighter penalty was imposed because of the defendant's youth and the fact that he was merely a hired agent.

SAYS EDUCATION MUST BE MOBILE

Dr. Pittman Tells Educators Keep Minds Open To Change.

"The American educational army should be as mobile as our military army," Dr. Marvin S. Pittman of Michigan state normal told the Nebraska teachers in session Friday at the last day of the state educational conference in Morrill hall.

He declared that education should be adaptable, and urged the educators to keep their own minds open to change. "School supervision is made up of one part vocational guidance and two parts human engineering," he said.

"In our supervisory setup in the schools we are moving toward something that is statewide in scope,

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 29—And they lay to rest Jimmy Wedell, died as a soldier in the discharge of his duty, for he was teaching somebody else to fly.

When you realize aviation as the greatest advancement in our times, and America is spending the most money, yet our whole government, whole army, whole navy, had to wait to see how fast they could fly, till Jimmy Wedell (through his own personality and personal honesty got financial backing from generous and spirited Mr. Williams), would make the plane. Who knows but what aviation might not be permanently set back one hundred miles an hour, through the loss of this fellow, with the knowledge that was buried with him. Such men should be grabbed up at once and put into our government service.

He had one thing that was in keeping with all great aviators and that was his modesty.

Yours, WILL.

BAN PUT UPON SILVER EXPORTS

Treasury Acts to Balk Speculators Under Monetary Law.

WASHINGTON, June 29— (AP) — The treasury has nipped in the bud any plans silver speculators may have had to glean large profits by shipping the metal abroad.

Secretary Morgenthau ordered an embargo last night on exports of the metal. A special license now will be necessary to send silver abroad.

Officials indicated that silver had started to leave the country in considerable quantities since the president signed a bill directing the treasury to buy sufficient silver to make it eventually a quarter of all the nation's metallic monetary stock.

Some speculators were said to expect silver prices abroad to rise to such a point that more money could be made by selling there than by taking the 50 cents an ounce top price authorized for treasury purchases here.

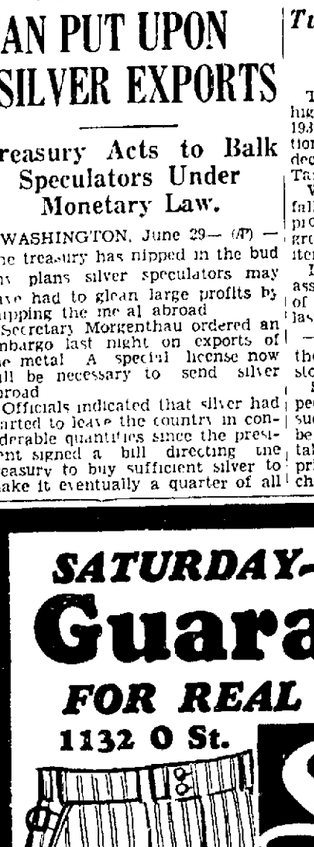

Two Counties Show Higher Valuations Than For Year Ago

Two more counties have reported higher equalized tax assessments for 1934 than a year ago, and one additional one just heard from shows a decrease, in returns made to State Tax Commissioner Smith.

Webster county, which registers a falling off of $50,000 in personal property and real estate, has an aggregate of $13,430,600 covering those items.

In Hitchcock county the regular assessments totals 8,625 632, a gain of $131 000. Banner is $10,000 over last year, with 2 914,745.

U. S. PROTESTS MORATORIUM ON GERMAN DEBTS

Hull Hints Policies of Nazis Cause of Crisis.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—The United States protested today against Germany's moratorium on $1,500 000 000 in obligations held by Americans, blaming the reich's financial plight on Nazi policies.

Secretary of State Hull handed the German charge d'affaires a note last night which said:

Hints Boycott Trouble.

"The German government is no doubt aware that its policies have created opposition in many parts of the world which has expressed itself in various trade conflicts and the probable reduction of Germany's capacity to transfer."

Hull did not mention anti-Jewish measures which have brought boycotts on German goods, but observers agreed his note was broad enough to include such policies.

Mentions Arms Expenses.

Other points Hull emphasized were:

1 Anxieties over German policy have led many foreign creditors to withdraw credits from Germany.

2 Germany has repurchased German bonds in the United States at bargain prices. Creditors insist this money should have been used to pay interest.

3 Germany has bought much military material out of funds available to pay debts.

Forum On Social Sciences Conducted

Education Conference Holds Dinner at Agricultural College; Curricula Changes Debated.

An open forum discussion of "Significant Changes in the Social Science Curricula for the New Day," featured the dinner of the state educational conference held Thursday evening at the student activities building on the college of agriculture campus.

C. A. Bowers, secretary of the Nebraska state teachers association, led the forum in which various noted educators expressed views on the subject. The conference itself, which will be concluded Friday, has concerned itself chiefly with discussions of similar subjects, especially in relation to the new place of the social sciences.

The main speakers in the discussion over which Chancellor E. A. Burnett presided, were Dr. Helen MacIntosh, Grand Rapids, Mich; Dr. W. H. Burton, University of Chicago. Dr Edgar B Wesley, University of Minnesota; Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, Michigan State Normal, Dean C H Oldfather, Dr J. P Senning, and Dr. J. E Sellers of the University of Nebraska; and Dr. W. S. Morton of Teachers College high school.

Other subjects discussed were the place of the social sciences in the public shool curriculum, supervision problems, and the part education will play in the success or failure of the new deal.

Two Fined on Charge of Unlawful Assembly

D. Robert Burleigh and Norman Hazelrigg were found guilty Thursday afternoon of unlawful assembly and were fined $1 and costs by Municipal Judge John L. Polk. The costs amounted to $26 80 each. Charges against Earl Richards, W H. Corbett, Ivan Waples and Glen R. Miller were dismissed. Appeal bond for Burleigh and Hazelrigg was fixed at $100.

Burleigh and Hazelrigg were also charged with refusing to obey the commands of a police officer, along with the other four men, but this count was also dismissed by Judge Polk.

Testimony advanced by the defense witnesses was that they were an orderly crowd, assembled in accordance with the rights granted them by the constitution of the United States, and that they had committed no crime to be so assembled. All six of the defendants and W. W. Morphew were among the defense witnesses. Previously during the afternoon Mayor Fenton B. Fleming and Commissioner L. C. Oberlies testified.

Wife Defends Premier In Seduction Law Suit

EDMONTON, Alta, June 29—(AP)—The conflicting testimony of two women, one a wife defending her husband against a charge of seduction, the other the pretty young stenographer-plaintiff, were weighed today in Ontario Supreme court.

Mrs. J. E Brownlee, wife of the premier of Alberta, testifying in the damage suit brought by 22-year-old Vivian MacMillan, denied statements of Miss MacMillan that she (Miss MacMillan) had improper relations with the premier in the Brownlee home.

The wife took the stand after Brownlee had made a blanket denial of the charges yesterday. Cross examination of Mrs Brownlee was to be continued today.

"It is not true, it couldn't be true," Mrs. Brownlee told the jury of six.

There is a possibility the case may be ended tomorrow. Brownlee is being sued for unstated damages. He has filed a counter claim asking $10,000 of Miss MacMillan and John Caldwell, her former fiance, alleging conspiracy.

SWANSON CLAIMS MAIL REROUTED

Says That for Coast Now Goes Through Kansas City.

Although Secretary of State Harry Swanson said today he had learned of a secret order of the postal department recently issued routing all transcontinental mail through Kansas City instead of Omaha, postal authorities in Lincoln said they knew nothing of such an order.

The order, Swanson claimed would take the mail off the Omaha to Denver route and put it through via Kansas City to Denver. He pointed out that such an order would increase the cost to the government because of the greater mileage and would also mean a serious reduction in the employment of mail clerks and train crews in Nebraska.

He sent L B Maupin, an assistant in his department, to Omaha to confer with Burlington and Union Pacific officials to see if they have ascertained any reason for the change. He said that an investigation by Maupin had revealed a sharp falling off of mail shipments through this state and he said it confirmed the information previously given him.

Charles Frost assistant superintendent of mails at the local office, said he had no word of such an order and said he could hardly believe there was such an order. 'It would be logical for mail routed to Los Angeles and southern California to go through Kansas City, but mail for the northwest and even for San Francisco should go through Omaha and Lincoln," he said.

"I think we would know about such an order," Assistant Postmaster L. H. Watson said. "We have no way of ascertaining whether the mail which comes here from the east comes via Kansas City or Omaha, except as to the time element. The postmarks on letters all seem to indicate that no change has been made."

Swanson said another effect of the change is to delay mail shipments to southwestern Nebraska points. Formerly, he said mail for Hastings, McCook and other towns along the Burlington west of here came into Lincoln from Chicago and after sorting moved out promptly.

Now, he said this mail goes from Chicago to Kansas City and then to Lincoln.

State Treasurer Hall will have about $800,000 uninvested cash belonging to state trust funds soon after July 1, including $200 000 expected as final redemption payment by the state of Mississippi on that amount of its bonds now maturing, which the state of Nebraska has held for many years. The $800 000 will be used for purchasing either United States bonds or obligations issued by local governmental subdivisions in this state.

Kauffman Is Hanged For Murder of Girl

KANSAS CITY, June 29— (AP) — Paul H. Kauffman, 35, World war veteran and former minor league baseball player, was hanged in the county jail here today for the murder of 17-year-old Avis Woolery of Webb City, Mo., whom he lured to Kansas City and attacked in Swope park four years ago. His home was in Columbia, Pa. The trap was sprung at 6 03 a m.

Kauffman protested his innocence, announcing from the scaffold that he expected someone to come forward and save him.

School Land Lease Near Fairbury to Be Sold For Third Time

Deputy Land Commissioner J H Wehn will go to Fairbury Saturday for the third time to sell the lease on 600 acres of state school land south of that city a public auction. The first sale, which brought an offer of $600 premium above the $300 annual rental, was annulled by the board of educational lands and funds, which ordered the tract readvertised. An injunction suit prevented the lease being sold again on the first date fixed but since then the writ has been dissolved. Lee Snyder of Fairbury and George Landgren of Geneva who both claimed to have made the best bid are expected to be on hand again at Saturday's sale.

THE PRONG HORN ANTELOPE
—fastest of North American Animals!
An ordinary greyhound cannot match the easy, effortless speed of the Prong Horn Antelope of western America. When the antelope goes into high, one gets an impression of graceful flowing motion. Not only does the Prong Horn get off to a sprinting start, but it can maintain its distance-eating pace, "running the legs off" any pursuing animal.

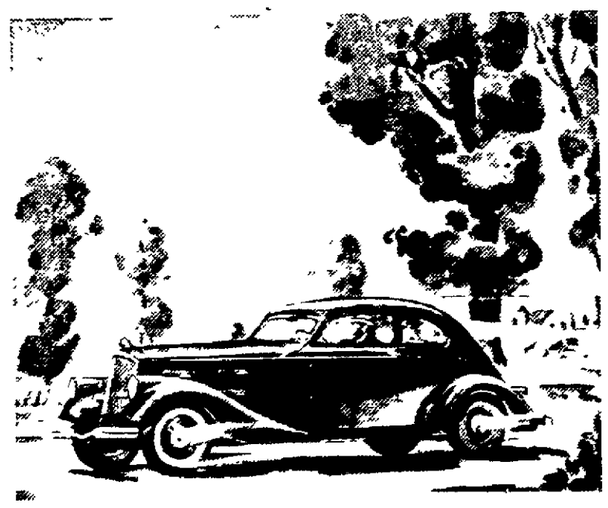

—and here's the smoothest Live Power in Motordom!
—more of it per gallon

The rhythmic grace of these prong horn antelopes is jerky compared with the even, velvety flow of Live Power which Standard Red Crown Superfuel gives a motor.

For more responsive driving energy is released in this already great gasoline—the slower, heavier parts are converted into keener, faster fractions. This big improvement is made possible by engineering and refining facilities without equal in the middle west.

We can only do this: We can urge you to give this improved motor fuel a trial in your own car. Thereafter, it is squarely up to the gasoline—and Superfuel will make good. It has the quality—the extra Live Power to give your engine the full, keen response the maker built into it. That we know.

DO YOU LIKE... Hair-trigger engine response? Zooming power for stiff hills? Distance-eating speed? Extra miles per gallon? ... then take on More LIVE POWER per gallon and enjoy yourself!

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper's investigation of the two murders in Pierre Dufresne's house, has involved Mrs. Dufresne, her husband, a maid and a chauffeur in a serious tangle, for it has developed that mysterious notes concerning equally mysterious rendezvous have been found by the maid, and that both Dufresnes have paid her to keep silent. Harper just has failed to persuade Mrs. Dufresne to talk, and has left her under strict surveillance in her room.

Chapter 45
CROYDEN'S PLEA.

The house seemed as deserted as before, but as Harper came down the stairs he realized that the dinner must be over, for he heard music from the drawing-room, indicating Richard Croyden at the piano.

Harper was passing the doorway when the playing stopped, and Croyden, looking over his shoulder, hailed the detective. "Come in," he called, "if you can spare a minute. I've been watching for you."

Harper was somewhat surprised by this invitation. He eyed the pianist sharply as he crossed the floor. "Have a cigarette?" The detective declined the offer, while Croyden turned back to the piano, his fingers moving softly over the keys. "There are some passages in this I need to brush up," he explained. "Recognize it? Chopin Polonaise in B Flat Minor."

The detective sat down in the chair by the piano bench. Croyden's whole manner was feverish and excited and though his fingers continued through rippling passages his mental abstraction showed that he was casting about for an opening for whatever he had on his mind.

Then, preceded by a nervous exhalation of cigarette smoke, he struck out boldly. "Harper, can't you call off the dogs? Must this thing go on, boring deeper and deeper into the private life of this house? You can't ease the dead by an autopsy on the living."

"A detective on a murder case has no friends, Mr. Croyden. We cannot call this case closed until we have found the killer who is hiding among you."

The fingers slipped into a jangling discord and stopped. The pianist turned to face the detective. "I think you exaggerate when you call it a 'case,'" he challenged. "I really don't see it. Harper. You've built up a scarecrow of shreds and patches. When you tear it apart you won't find your murderer, but you will expose all the poor bare bones of our family skeleton to the public gaze. The public is always roaring for that sort of stuff, but I felt that you were above that kind of show, Harper."

He drew a long breath. "Don't think I'm talking wildly, or trying to hide some deep, dark secret. Dig below the surface anywhere in so-called Society and you'll find deceit, treachery, disillusionment. And, God knows, if you're going to take those things for clues to motive, you'll finish by putting all of us in the dock. Does this make sense to you or do you think I'm being merely rhetorical?"

Through a haze of smoke the detective looked straight into the glittering excited eyes. There was no mistaking the genuine fervor of that plea. "I think I understand, Mr. Croyden," Harper responded gravely. "Yesterday, perhaps I should not have, but today a great many things have become clear to me."

Croyden turned again to the keyboard, softly fingering the treble keys with muted sound. "Are you a married man, Harper?" he asked, suddenly, without turning his head.

"No."

"Then take my advice—and think well first," he counselled. "It can do things to you, bring about conditions that no lover can survive. One's birthright of spirit can be sold out for a compromise," he added darkly. "Today, we seem to cling only to the Thirteenth Commandment—'thou shalt not be found out.' Many things can be borne in silence, indignities to the spirit as well as acts of the flesh, so long as these are kept discreetly hidden from our neighbors' eyes. But flaunt them across the horizon and then comes the end. That is why I ask you to take no further steps in that direction."

He stopped to snub out the cigarette end. "I suppose you've heard about Mr. Dufresne and Joyce Rohmer, to give the lady her more familiar name? And, possibly other details of the sort?"

Harper shrugged. "Servants will talk, tabloids thrive on scandal," he remarked, "and there's precious little escapes them. As I understand it, there have been dissensions and suspicions on both sides of the fence. I'm not at all interested in private scandal unless it touches on the case itself."

"Ah, that's what you think, Harper, but you make the other poor beggars conscious of their tatters. That public loss of dignity can never be repaired. Affairs in this social world move in a complicated rhythm on their own. The unfortunate death of two strangers in this house threatens to visit injustices on those who had nothing to do with the case."

"It's not so easy to say just who those may be," was Harper's dry comment.

"Don't let gossip run away with your good judgment," Croyden replied quickly. "If you take that line, you'll find us all in your net, accusing and accused. No doubt you've

WOODS BROTHERS DECREE UPHELD

Supreme Court Declares Thompson's Heirs Breached Contract.

Mell Olston and others lost their suit to collect $5491 from Woods Bros Corp., under a real estate sales contract made with the late Callen Thompson, when the Supreme court affirmed a judgment of the Lancaster county District court that Thompson's agents had breached the contract

The contract was for the subdivision of a tract of land in College View, by terms of which Woods Bros. agreed to handle sale of the property to the public. Thompson agreeing to deliver sufficient title to any of the land to effect its sale The contract was held breached by failure of Thompson's heirs to deliver deed to a piece of the property sold to Agnes Slot The corporation reimbursed her for the purchase price she paid for the property.

The plaintiffs alleged that the contract called upon Woods Bros. to purchase the land, but the courts held that the agreement merely designated the corporation as agent for sale of the property.

Affirm Teacher Verdict.

Reversing a previous decision, the supreme court affirmed a judgment for $4 683 which Genevieve Berg, Richardson county school teacher, obtained from J M. Griffiths for injuries suffered in an automobile accident The court originally reversed the judgment of the lower court because of the failure of Rudolph Watzke to disclose the fact that he was incompetent to sit on the jury that heard the case, because of his youth.

In its opinion Friday, handed down in a rehearing of the case, the court said that affidavits and exhibits disclosing Watzke's incompetence were not made a part of the bill of exceptions, but had merely been filed with the clerk of the court, and could not be considered because they were not a part of the record.

The court sustained a $300 judgment entered by the Custer county district court in favor of L W. Chiles against the county for compensation, for damages occasioned by the construction of a highway aross his land.

Compensation Denied.

Frances Suverkrubbe was denied compensation for the death of her husband, Albert Suverkrubbe, Fort Calhoun village marshal, who was mortally wounded by a burglar December 5, 1932. Suverkrubbe at the time of his death, was also an employe of the Nebraska Power Co, which was also a defendant in the widow's suit to recover under the workman's compensation law.

In denying her claim, the court held that a village marshal is an official and not an employe within the meaning of the compensation act The court also found that Suverkrubbe was not shot in his line of employment with the power company and his widow is not entitled to compensation from it.

Hannah C Peterson, widow of William R. Peterson, also was denied compensation for the death of her husband while employed by the Orchard & Wilhelm Co., Omaha. The court upheld the company's claim that Peterson did not die as a result of injuries, but natural causes.

Reverse Rockwell Case

Harry Rockwell, county treasurer of Dakota county was hasty in cancelling a tax lien which had been taken up by payment of a check on a bank that failed the next day, and the loss must be borne by someone other than the holder of the lien, the Supreme court held, reversing its former opinion in the case.

Charles E Keenan held a mortgage and a tax lien on a Dakota county farm, the lien for 1928 taxes Nellie McClure, the mortgagor presented a check to Rockwell December 5 1930, for payment of the delinquent taxes and also for her 1929 taxes Rockwell cancelled the lien, gave her a certificate of redemption and Keenan the next day, December 6 appeared at the treasurer's office during the forenoon and surrendered his tax sale certificate, which was cancelled

The First National bank of Sioux City failed at noon the same day and Rockwell cancelled the redemption certificate and reinstated the record of the delinsuent taxes.

"A county treasurer who accepts from a tax debtor a check to redeem land from a tax sale, instead of money is required to exercise reasonable diligence in presenting the check for payment," the Supreme court said in reversing its former stand and holding that Keenan should not bear the loss.

The Mitchell Drainage district in Scotts Bluff county lost its fight to enjoin the Farmers' Irrigation district from permitting water to pass through its irrigation canal into the plaintiff's drainage district. The suit concerned irrigation and drainage waters of Scottsbluff county.

Church Demands Movie Cleanup

Archbishop McNicholas

Boycott of motion pictures has been threatened by members of the Catholic faith unless the movie industry accedes to demands of the church that salacious and immoral films be cleaned up. A formal demand for the cleanup has been made at a meeting in Cincinnati of representatives of Will Hays, movie czar, and church officials, headed by Archbishop John T McNicholas. As the church campaign waged, the Ohio board of censors banned the showing of the new movie, "The Life of Vergie Winters," starring Ann Harding and John Boles.

MIDWEST RETAIL TRADE GAINING

Largest Upturn In Five Years Reported For Month of May.

KANSAS CITY, June 29—(AP)—Improvement in retail trade and crop prices but a severe decline in crop prospects because of the drouth were reported for May in the monthly federal reserve survey of the tenth district.

"Thirty-two department stores in the district reported their May sales in dollars were 8.7 per cent larger than in April and 17.2 per cent larger than in the corresponding month a year ago," the survey stated.

Largest Gain In 5 Years.

"The increase for the month was the second and largest in five years and compares with an increase of 4.6 per cent last year."

The grain advances, attributed to the drouth, included one of 22 cents in wheat.

The report noted that "business failures for the month were less numerous and liabilities the smallest since 1920."

Building activity remained below normal. Substantial increases in building permits were listed at Kansas and Omaha.

Although taking into account beneficial rains in early June, a period not covered in the report, the survey characterized crop conditions on June 1 as "the poorest of record" particularly in Nebraska and "the central areas"

Purchasing Power Down.

"Farm purchasing power has declined one point each month the past four months, averaging 61 per cent of the 1909-1914 average of 100 on May 15," the survey stated.

"The index of prices of farm products now stands at 74 per cent of pre-war and that of prices paid by farmers for commodities purchased at 121 per cent."

Fifty-two selected member banks in leading cities reported increases of .4 per cent in loans and discounts and 3.8 per cent in net demand deposits during the five weeks' period ending June 13.

State Issues Warrant To Pay Pinney Claim

A warrant for $19,600, payable to District Court Clerk J S. Baer of Lancaster county, was issued Thursday from the state auditor's office as final settlement of the agreed judgment entered last week for Ralph B. Pinney on claims of himself and other land owners in the Harris-Cooper irrigation district of Dawes county for damage done their farms by changing a creek channel and destroying a dam, in order to straighten a state highway. The other owners assigned their claims to Pinney The aggregate was about $100.000.

LEE CENTENNIAL PROGRAM SET

Methodists to Observe Anniversary Mission Trip Sunday.

Lincoln's Methodist churches are joining in observance of the Jason Lee centennial in a program Sunday afternoon and evening at Epworth Lake park

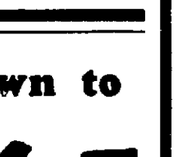

At 3 o'clock the Salem men's choir is to present a sacred concert, following which Bishop F. D Leete of the Omaha area will talk. In the evening there will be songs and demonstrations by Edward Winter Moon, a Mohave Indian, who is participating in a transcontinental tour in observation of the Lee centennial. Young People of Elm Park church will present the pageant "Two Thousand Miles For a Book" Dr. E. D Kohlstedt, Philadelphia member of the Methodist board of home missions, will give his illustrated lecture "Adventures in Faith"

Many are expected to bring basket lunches and spend the entire afternoon and evening at the park

The Jason Lee centennial commemorates the 1834 overland trip of Jason Lee, famous Methodist missionary, from Boston to Oregon, where he ministered to the Indians and established the first permanent American settlement in Oregon The Jason Lee caravan which spends Sunday here, started April 16 from Boston where Lee was ordained as a missionary to the Flathead Indians The goal of the caravan is Salem, Ore., where Lee landed his canoe from the Willamette river The closing service will be held there September 9

The Astors, Bought Land Men Eat, Women Think

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

In Newport, R. I., tomorrow, a young Mr. Astor will marry a young Miss French and reporters who attend to that sort of "copy" are deeply interested in this "great society event."

One of them says that, after Mr. Astor, descendant of the original fur trader, has given to his bride money and other things amounting to two million dollars, he will modestly live on eight thousand dollars a year, work hard and be happy.

More important even than that announcement is the reminder that the Astors are still rich after more than a hundred years because they bought real estate and kept it. Ten thousand speculators in stocks, ten thousand builders of great commercial fortunes have come, seen their day and gone. The Astors, Goelets, Gerrys and others still march on through Fifth avenue, the "society columns," the social register and Newport, because their ancestors knew enough to buy good real estate and keep it. Don't forget that when you ask yourself:

"In what shall I invest?"

Mrs. Antonio, expecting to be put to death in the electric chair last night, gave her three children, Phyllis, 9; Marie, 6, and Frank, 3, to her brother to take care of them.

The two men convicted of helping her murder her husband will go with her to "the chair." They probably will go anyhow, even should the governor decide not to supply the electric chair with a woman convict on this occasion.

It must be unpleasant for Governor Lehman to decide that it is his duty to permit the execution of a woman with three young children. There is no excuse for her, although it was shown at the trial that her husband was a peddler of drugs, therefore a dangerous public enemy, and that he beat and otherwise ill-treated her. That may have had more to do with her planning his murder than the fact that his life was insured for $3,000.

President Roosevelt is said to have told his subordinates, high and low, old style and new "brain trust" style, not to talk politics while he is away on his trip to the Virgin islands and Hawaii.

The president's order is wise. If all the different brains recently and suddenly injected into politics began arguing all together some of them might contradict each other.

The Dillinger mystery grows more mysterious. Tom Riley, a Dillinger friend caught by the police, declares solemnly and "crosses his heart and hopes to die," that Dillinger is dead. Another says he recently talked with Dillinger at a baseball game, and Dillinger is not dead at all.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., June 29—The vigilance committee of 75 World war veterans will in the future augment Gage county's defense against bank banditry. The deputies were sworn in yesterday by Sheriff Tom Dunn. The movement was sponsored by the Beatrice American Legion post.

Triple Execution Postponed a Day

Doomed Man Says Woman Is Innocent in Slaying Her Husband.

OSSINING, N. Y., June 29—(AP)—A story that came tumbling from the lips of a condemned man even as the hour set for his death was striking, has saved Anna Antonio—for at least a day—from the electric chair.

Warden Lawes, into whose ear as they sat together last night in the death house Saetta whispered his story, telephoned Governor Lehman at Albany.

After the warden repeated the story, the governor postponed—though only for a day—the execution of the woman and two men she was convicted of hiring to kill her husband, Salvatore, for his $5,000 insurance money.

Whether Saetta's death house statement was just a gallant gesture to save a woman's life or whether it was the solemn truth, spoken by a man about to die, Governor Lehman is to decide today. If he finds it false, the three die tonight.

Saetta's story to the warden was that he had loaned Antonio $75 that was not repaid. They fought with fists over the money, made up, shook hands. But Feraci told Saetta that Antonio had not forgotten; was going to take him "for a ride."

Feraci said Antonio should be killed and he would help Saetta do it.

That, according to the new story, was what they did.

Protests Window Washing Contract

Lincoln Firm Says Award Let Without Bids; Offers Take Job For $350.

B. V. Rosenberg, proprietor of the American Capital Window Cleaners, Thursday protested the letting by Land Commissioner Conklin of a contract for washing the capital windows without first asking for bids.

Rosenberk said that $711, the figure at which the Nourse Window Cleaners agreed to do the work, was too high, claiming that he would be glad to submit a bid of $350 for the same work, which includes cleaning the windows in the tower and the third and fourth stories of the lower section.

Rosenberg said he formerly cleaned the windows of the lower section, and last week called several times at Conklin's office in regard to being allowed to bid on the cleaning job. Conklin, Rosenberg said, stated he was not ready to take bids and would let him know.

Rosenberg said he learned of the award of the contract through a newspaper item.

OLSON TO OPPOSE PRICE.

O. H. Olson of Hastings has decided to try his luck as a candidate in the democratic primary for state auditor, opposing the incumbent, W. B. Price, for renomination. Olson's filing was made Thursday in the secretary of state's office. Fred W. Hoesing of St. Helena entered himself for state senator in the 10th district, as a democrat.

TRUCKERS STILL OUT ON STRIKE

Contractor Says Cannot Come Out On Job and Pay Rate.

Strikers Assert Move Recommended By State Code Chairman.

CHADRON, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Ed Jordan, district reemployment director here from Alliance, in a conference here with truck owners on strike on a highway project, said the reemployment bureau will take no part in the strike and intimated truckers had been "gypped" in paying $3 NRA registration fees.

Jordon said the reemployment bureau's duty is to furnish men for the contractor and that difficulties relative to overloading trucks and the time worked after hours without overtime allowance is up to the state engineer and inspector on the job.

Mayor C. H. Loewenthal Friday urged Jordan not to cause agitation among local truck owners by sending in outsiders when enough trucks are available here for the job. He advised every outside trucker not to put his truck to work on arrival here.

Not a truck had gone to work at noon Friday, upon learning the situation and all joined in the strike for 50 cents a yard hour in place of the 35 cents offered. The truck owners yesterday wrote Charles E. Hall, state secretary of the NRA truckers code, citing their contention $7 a day will not keep up running expenses and wanting to know now soon assistance might be expected from code authorities.

Hinges On Specification.

The strike hinges upon the specifications to contractors covering trucks, the truck owners claim. The contractor asserts his estimate for the job was based on 70 cents an hour and that he cannot come out on the job if he increases the cost. Strikers suggested if the contractor's specifications set by the state fixed a minimum of 70 cents an hour it is in violation of the NRA truckers' code and assert the state should make up the difference to the contractor and permit him to pay the rates asked by the strike ballot.

The strike was recommended by Carl P. Martin, chairman of the Nebraska Truckers' code on a visit here this week, the truckers said, after they had paid $3 registration fee to him for NRA code certificates.

Jordan told the truckers they did not have to pay $3 for the code certificates and said they could have been obtained from Postmaster F. E. Jacobs here without any cost.

State Engineer Cochran said the truckers' controversy at Chadron has not yet been brought to his attention. Requirements against overloading and overtime will be enforced completely by the department, he said. The engineer stated, however, that if the truckers are asking more than set up in state specifications, the contractor cannot be required to pay the higher figure, as the state cannot change contracts in which both the contractor and federal government is involved.

RALLY MADE BY MARIE DRESSLER

Doctors Give Impression, However, Actress' Death Is Near.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 29—(AP)—Marie Dressler, 62-year-old actress, passed a major crisis in her illness early today after doctors at her bedside had abandoned hope that she would live to see dawn.

Five hours after Dr. F. R. Nuzum, head of the medical staff attending her, expressed belief she would not live through the night, Miss Dressler rallied so strongly that physicians announced the threat of death had passed at least until noon today.

Her amazing vitality held out against a complication of heart and kidney ailments. At 7 o'clock last night Dr. Nuzum said "We don't expect her to live through the night."

At 8 o'clock she sank so low that her features turned blue. Her heart faltered — almost stopped. Then slowly the blue pallor drained from her face. By midnight her heart action was normal. There was no fever. Respiration was 80 to 100.

How long she may linger on was questionable but the impression was left that death was near.

Child Badly Burned By Boiling Water

FREMONT, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Severely burned when the maid who was carrying him stumbled and fell with a teakettle of boiling water, Carroll Clausen, one and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Clausen, who live eight miles northwest of Fremont, is in a critical condition at the Lutheran hospital here. The baby was sprayed with the hot water and suffered deep burns over the entire front of his body and minor burns on his face and arms.

OVER SCORE DIE OF TORRID HEAT IN MIDDLEWEST

(By the Associated Press.)

More than a score of deaths were attributed Friday to sizzling temperatures that scorched much of the continent from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Generally speaking, no immediately relief was in sight.

Of the midwestern states, Iowa apparently was the hardest hit, with six deaths, three due to prostrations and three to drownings. A maximum of 107 degrees was reached at Waterloo.

Many of the victims in other states died when they took to the water to escape the baking heat. Nebraska counted 3 dead, Illinois 1; Maryland 3, Michigan 4, Ohio, 4, western Pennsylvania 3 and Indiana 2.

112 Degrees in Illinois.

An all time heat record of 112 was registered at Mattoon, Ill., while in Chicago, where one person died from the heat and scores were prostrated, the mercury hit 99—a new high for the date.

There was some hope of relief in Nebraska, where rain was reported Thursday night.

Heavy property damage was reported at Maysville, Ky., after the city had baked in a temperature of 105.

A heavy loss of livestock was reported from some of the drouth stricken areas of the midwest, and crops were withered and burned.

13 INDICTED IN BANKING CRASH

U. S. Grand Jury at Detroit Charges Men Made False Reports.

DETROIT, June 29—(AP)—The federal grand jury investigating the collapse of Detroit's two major banking institutions last year today returned 13 indictments.

Those indicted were:

Robert O. Lord, John Ballantyne, John H. Hart, Donald N. Sweeny, James L. Walsh, John Bodde, and Herbert L. Chittenden, all of Detroit; Joseph M. Brewer, and Alvin N. Crimmins of Grand Rapids, Stephen A. Graham of Port Huron, Charles S. Campbell and Earl H. Shepherd of Kalamazoo, Alex Robertson of Ionia.

The indictments charge mainly the making of false reports or conspiring to make false statements of condition.

The men were former officers of Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., which controlled 32 Michigan banks, and the First National Bank-Detroit, or their affiliates.

SMALL INCREASE IN HOG QUOTAS

Half Per Cent Added as 'Safety Factor' Is Found Unnecessary.

A safety factor to take care of arithmetical errors, and which, it turned out, was unnecessary, will permit an increase of one-half of one per cent in county hog quotas, A. E. Anderson, chairman of the state corn-hog board of review, said Friday.

Anderson said the board held back one-half of one per cent of the state quota in assigning county quotas, in order to take care of any errors which the board might make in computing base figures. After checking and rechecking base figures, Anderson said, no errors were found, so the one-half of one per cent can now be added to the quota for each county.

The state quota, however, is unchanged, Anderson said. He declared that many county committees are now acknowledging that their quotas are fair and just and that overstatement on their part did exist.

Anderson said he had learned in a telephone conversation with Washington officials Friday that corn-hog contracts can be handled and benefit payments returned within two to five days after the contracts reach the capitol.

MRS. M'REYNOLDS FILES.

Mrs. Mina McReynolds, 4642 Greenwood avenue, University Place, filed Friday for representative from the thirty-third district on the democratic ticket. Mrs McReynolds is president of the general aid of the First M. E. church; past matron of Myrtle chapter No. 94, O. E. S. and secretary of the woman's board of Bryan Memorial hospital. Before University Place was annexed to Lincoln, she served on the school board in the suburb.

BELIEVE WIRING STARTED BLAZE

Roof Of Adjoining Bank Building Is Also Damaged.

COOK, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Fire that destroyed the W. U McDermitt general store here Friday morning caused a loss estimated at $4 500.

The blaze apparently was started by defective wiring on the second floor of the two story frame building, and swept through the structure before volunteers could check it. The Tecumseh fire department gave assistance, but there was little water available

Gas Consumers At Omaha To Receive Lowest Price Made

OMAHA, June 29—(AP)—A reduction of five cents per 1,000 cubic feet for al lconsumers who use more than 500 cubic feet and up to 10 000 cubic feet of manufactured gas was ordered today by the Omaha Metropolitan Utilities district No change is being made in the rate for the first 500 cubic feet, but for the next 9,500 cubic feet the rate will be 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet No change is being made in the rate for more than 10,000 cubic feet.

The reduction is warranted, it was announced, by increased earnings due to greater consumption and to a leser degree by the saving of $100,000 a year guaranteed by the Northern Gas and Pipe company when natural gas is substituted for oil in the manufacture of gas.

The reduction, officers of the district said, will give Omaha the cheapest gas rates in the United States. The reduction is effective July 1.

Creston, Ia., Forced To Haul In Water

Lake From Which Supply Had Been Obtained Dries Up and Tank Cars Are Utilized.

Creston, Ia., a city of 8,600, has been forced to import water due to the drying up of a lake which had been the municipal supply source, according to word received at the Lincoln office of the Burlington railroad Friday.

The Burlington has been employed to make daily hauls of water from the Des Moines river near Ottumwa, it was reported.

Railroad officials said that they have been hauling from 200,000 to 250,000 gallons of water daily to Creston for their own use since about 60 days ago At that time, Creston officials said the failing water supply made it necessary to conserve water for human needs. Creston is a division point on the main line of the Burlington. All available tank cars in eastern Nebraska have been sent to Creston.

The Burlington has been hauling water for its own use to Creston from as far west as Pacific Junction and from as far east as Villisca.

REUNION PLANNED AT CAMP SHELDON

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 29—(AP)—A Camp Sheldon reunion will be held Saturday and Sunday, in observance of 16 years of camping at the state "Y" camp and of the fiftieth year of organized camping in the United States

A feature of the reunion will be a pageant, presented by Columbus people and others from over the state who have attended the camp during the last 16 seasons. The pageant will be given around the campfire Saturday evening.

Dr. E. Guy Cutshall, president of Nebraska Wesleyan, will deliver a sermon at the outdoor chapel Sunday morning.

DEDICATE NEW HEBRON BRIDGE

Five Span Structure Considered Finest Of Type In State.

HEBRON, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Approximately 2,000 persons were present at a dedicatory ceremony here Thursday night which marked completion of a $60 000 bridge on highway number three The structure is a five span construction 430 feet long Governor Bryan, State Engineer Roy Cochran, Glen J. Mason, state bridge engineer and Josef Sorkin, designer of the bridge, were among the speakers A loud speaker system was installed on the bridge and seats were provided at each end of the span.

After a community picnic at 6 p m. in a grove near the bridge, the large crowd was entertained by the Hebron band and the American Legion drum and bugle corps

A feature of the dedicatory ceremony was the cutting of a ribbon to open the bridge for traffic by Anne Kenner of Hebron who was assisted by eight boys and eight girls whose ages ranged from two to six They presented a pageant previous to the dedication

Cochran, in his speech said there is nothing appreciated so much as appreciation. Citizens from all parts of southern Nebraska were here

The officials present said the bridge is considered the finest of its type in the state and is believed to have the longest single span of its type

The ceremony was sponsored by the Hebron Civic club and the Hebron Kiwanis club A historical sketch by W E Boyes, president of the Hebron Civic club preceded the speaking.

RAILROAD WINS CASE.

NORTH PLATTE Neb June 28—(AP)—A United States court jury Thursday found for the Union Pacific railroad in a $15,000 damage suit brought by Frank E. Minken Dalton farmer who received a leg injury permanently knee crushed about 18 months ago in a grade crossing accident near LaSalle Colo. Trainmen, including the fireman testified a red flare was waved, intending to warn Minken to halt his truck to avoid striking the lead box car of a string being pushed over a crossing by a work engine.

REPORTS APPLE CROP IS SHORT

Richardson County Yield Reduced By Late Frosts.

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 29—(AP)—The first definite estimate of Richardson county's apple yield for 1934 was given today by Dearle Baker of Shubert secretary of the Shubert Brothers Orchard company, largest growers in southeastern Nebraska.

Baker placed the probable harvest at 100,000 bushels, or 25,000 bushels under the 1933 crop Until the damaging frosts last spring, horticulturists of the county had been looking forward to a crop ranging from 200,000 to 250,000 bushels—an all time record.

Due to the late freezes and a heavy yield last year, no summer apples, such as Duchess, Transparents and Wealthies, will be harvested this year, Baker said. These varieties ordinarily would be harvested about July 15. The first harvest now will be around the first of September, which is 10 days earlier than usual

Rainfall the last few weeks has put the fruit in excellent condition and little moisture will be required to carry the apples through to maturity, Baker feels

At present the growers are concerned with combatting the codling moth, which has become more prevalent than ever, due to the hot, dry weather of the last two years.

Baker believes the county will produce the largest grape crop in its history this season. Two carloads of Concords, are expected to be shipped in August.

GOOD WHEAT YIELDS.

(Special to The Star).

SEWARD, Neb., June 29—In spite of the continued drouth, many farmers in Seward county have reported good wheat yields V. A. Briggs, west of Seward, had a small patch which made 36 bushels to the acre. Frank Fritz, south of Milford, reported 42 bushels. R. C. Vance had one piece which showed 25 bushels to the acre, harvesting with a combine. The fields near rivers and creeks yielded wheat as good as in ordinary years, while others on the higher ground were very poor.

Good Wheat Yield In Saunders County

One Farmer Has 28.75 Bushels Of Heavy Grain To Acre and Sells Crop For 79 Cents.

WAHOO Neb June 29—(AP)—Vincent Houska, farmer four miles southwest of Wahoo, reported the best wheat yield here to date. His 27 acre field averaged 28 75 bushels per acre and the grain weighed 61 pounds to the bushel Houska sold the crop for 79 cents a bushel

It was considered an exceptionally good yield, considering the three months of extreme drouth Joe Bouc, farmer three miles northeast of Wahoo, reported 16 bushels to the acre. Some good yields also were reported from Cedar Bluffs, Yutan and Mead

Grain dealers here estimate the Saunders county wheat yield will average between 5 and 12 bushels to the acre. A number of fields in the south part of the county are infested with chinch bugs, and in others the drouth kept the grain so short farmers were unable to bind it.

TO WED AND TAKE BRIDE TO AFRICA

OMAHA June 29—(AP)—Dr. Leslie L Hunter, hospital interne here, who is going 200 miles inland from Freetown, Africa, to establish a base to battle tropical diseases among the natives, said that he will be married July 7 to Miss Mary Bergdoll of Cessna Park, Ill., and that his bride will go to Africa with him. He is making the trip principally to repay a loan of the United Brethren church that helped him to graduate from the University of Nebraska school of medicine.

DEPUTY MARSHAL BECOMES LAWYER

OMAHA, June 29—(AP)—A lifelong ambition has been realized by Henry F. Meyers, 55, chief deputy United States marshal here, who has been notified that he passed examinations for the state bar. Meyers studied his law at night school. He began his study while engaged in the real estate business here. Convinced that this business required knowledge of the law, he studied a year and became so interested that he finished the course. He does not expect to begin practice immediately.

HOLDUPMEN POSE AS FARM HANDS

Bind and Leave Victim After Taking Money From Safe.

YORK, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Posing as farm hands seeking employment, two men last night held up and robbed Otto Rucksdaeschel, farmer near Waco, of about $500. He told officers about it but they were without a clue in the search for the men.

As Rucksdaeschel drove into his garage shortly after dusk the men approached and asked for work. When the farmer told them he did not need any help, one of them drew a gun and demanded money

Rucksdaeschel said he had about $50 in his pocketbook. One of the men, however, insisted that a small safe in the house contained money. Forced at the point of a gun to accompany the men to the house, Rucksdaeschel opened the safe.

The men rifled it, taking the cash then bound the owner and escaped. Rucksdaeschel managed to escape his bonds and went to a home of a neighbor to nofity authorities.

He said he would not be able to recognize the men. The men did not torture him, he stated.

SEWARD TAX LEVY TO BE INCREASED

(Special to The Star)

SEWARD, Neb., June 29—The city council this week passed ordinances for the annual corporation and the corresponding levy. The appropriation for the fiscal year of 1934 is $93,000 as compared with $83,250 for 1933, while the levy will be at the rate of 13.51 mills as compared with a 12 mill levy for the past year The levy ordinance also provides for a $2 poll tax.

LOUIS GEHLE DIES.

SEWARD, Neb., June 29—Louis Gehle, 68, a resident of Seward county for the past 63 years, died at a local hospital Wednesday afternoon. He lived on a farm ten miles east of Seward. He is survived by his wife, eight daughters and two sons, all residents of Seward county. Funeral services will be at Elk's Slough Lutheran church.

Norris Amendment Is Not Acted Upon

Bar Association Turns Down Condemnatory Resolution As Being Political Issue.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 29—(AP)—The Western Nebraska Bar association in session here rejected a resolution which opposed the Norris one house legislature plan The resolution was submitted to the organization by W T Wilcox, former state senator, and was rejected as a "political issue."

Frank Johnson of Lexington was named president of the association Other new officers are F. J Byrd of Gothenburg, vice president and William S Stewart, jr., of Lexington, secretary-treasurer

U. S. Senator W H Thompson spoke before the bar group at the afternoon session at the country club He confined his remarks largely to sketching some of his "senate experiences."

Million and Third Additional Payment For Beet Growers

DENVER, June 29— (AP) —The Great Western Sugar Co will pay a total of $1 318,000 to farmers in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana on July 7 for the 1933 beet crop, it was announced today With this payment, $16,380,000 will have been paid the company for last season's crop.

HOLD NO INQUEST IN PIERRARD DEATH

OMAHA, June 29 — (AP) — Coroner Tom Belford has announced there will be no inquest into the death of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierrard of Omaha, who were burned fatally Wednesday night when their car collided near Loveland, Ia., with that of Frank W. Buckwalter, prominent Sioux City realtor.

After a conference of county officials, Belford announced no charges will be filed against Buckwalter or against Miss Selma Nelson, treasurer of his firm, who was driving at the time of the crash.

PERITONITIS FATAL.

GOTHENBURG, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Billy Hibbs, 16, died here Thursday of peritonitis following an operation for removal of a ruptured appendix. It brought the number of fatalities here to five in the last two days.

SAY SHIPMENTS WILL DECREASE

Slight Falling Off Expected In Nebraska, Mountain States.

TROUTDALE, Colo June 29—(AP)—Shipments of many commodities originating in Colorado Wyoming Idaho, Nebraska and Utah, are expected to increase in the third quarter of 1934, but total shipments from the five states will decrease 4 2 per cent according to an estimate by the central western shippers' advisory board

Meeting here members of the board in their report given out today predicted that automobile shipments would be maintained at a rate which will bring about a 90 per cent gain over third quarter shipment in 1933

The report predicts a 22 2 per cent increase in miscellaneous merchandise shipments, 12 7 in cement 113 9 in apples and other fresh fruits

The biggest decreases predicted are for building materials and grain Decreases are forecast for lumber and forest products, and brick and clay products.

Wyoming and Idaho are the only states of five for which increases in shipments of all commodities are predicted Shipments of all commodities from Colorado, Nebraska and Utah are expected to drop 9 per cent each, according to the board report.

Thomas E. McKay, member of the Utah public utilities commission, is general chairman of the advisory board, Otto Bock Denver, alternate chairman, John E Curtiss of Lincoln vice chairman of the executive committee and A M. Hays, Denver general secretary State chairmen of the board include C N. Wright Nebraska

THE SKIPPER STRIKES BACK.

FOR the first time, Skipper Roosevelt struck back soundly at those attacking his administration. In that sense, it was a new man who addressed the American people Thursday night. For one of the amazing characteristics of the president has been his unfailing good humor, his tolerance of criticism, his buoyant spirit and his zest for the job. The buoyancy and the zest still are apparent, but there was an edge to his words and to his voice when turned upon those busily engaged in manufacturing "a scare" that American liberties are in danger.

And Mr. Roosevelt did a thoroughly workmanlike job of it.

He did it in the manner which could be expected—by bringing home this bogey man to the individual. He insisted that the citizen should determine whether he had been deprived of any of the constitutional guarantees—the right of free assembly, free speech, freedom of worship—and to that, he might have added, freedom in habits of a daily character. For the fact is that in the case of the masses, there has been little interference, except in isolated instances of overzealous New Dealers—with the everyday existence of people. What has been done, for the most part, has been voluntary.

But the president's thrust against those who would arouse fear and apprehension was timely. There is such a thing as wearing away even the solid substance of stone by constant, continuous pounding. And that is exactly what has been taking place. The men, who in all sincerity, or for selfish reasons of their own, have been pecking away gradually were making progress in their campaign to lead America to believe an actual threat to free institutions of government existed. It isn't true. It is the most absurd of criticisms. It is made solely because of the traditional devotion of the American people to liberty and to free institutions.

ROOSEVELT'S administration ultimately will rise or fall, not on the strength or folly of a scarecrow, but on the soundness of its economics. It will perpetuate itself in history as a success or failure in the event that full permanent recovery takes place or fails to take place.

Nor should there be any tendency to minimize the courage and the aggressiveness showed by the president in tackling his tasks, and the truly grateful appreciation of those qualities by millions of people, unfettered by rigid partisan ties. So far the strength and popularity of the president rest upon the fact that people are convinced he is a man of ideas, of imagination, of action, of an uncanny knowledge of the problems of those in the middle classes, and of a breadth of warm sympathy and understanding, which has never been revealed to a greater degree by any occupant of the White House. Go to the man on the street, and ask him about it. He may express doubts about specific programs. He may go further even to condemn them. But then his face lights up, and his enthusiasm mounts. Here is a man who is a fighter, he says. Here is a man willing to try. Here is a man with ideas of social justice, with desire for human welfare, with unselfish ideals based upon fundamental American principles of national well being.

All of these thoughts were reawakened by Mr. Roosevelt's warm voice Thursday night. He gave a forceful account of his stewardship. In his unusual way, he came before the country to strengthen the faith of the people. And regardless of what may be said of his subordinates, regardless of the flaws which may be picked in his program, the verdict now is, as it was in the beginning, that here is a president doing the utmost within his power to promote national welfare.

A DRINK FOR THE BIRDS AND THE TREES.

TO THE plea of Park Superintendent Ager that Lincoln people give the trees of the parking spaces a drink, should be added a plea for the birds.

They have had a stern duty placed upon them.

Few seasons have witnessed more attacks from insect pests which destroy crops, and add to suffering, than the present one. When their invasions become sufficiently menacing, man himself takes up the fight. But it is the feathered tribe, year in and year out, which conducts unremitting warfare and maintains the balance in nature.

The extreme heat and drouth have made life miserable for the birds. Wherever the sprinklers go, they may be seen in flocks, cooling themselves and drinking eagerly. It requires little effort to see that water is available to them.

TRIVIAL LEGISLATIVE MEASURES.

A MAN who has announced himself as a candidate for the legislature states that if he is elected he will introduce a bill to make it unlawful for an office holder to become a candidate for another office during the term for which he has been elected. Anyone who has had any experience in legislative affairs knows immediately that such a bill is the result of some local or personal incident which has convinced the aspirant that "there ought to be a law 'agin' it."

That is the great trouble with practically every new legislator and with many of the old ones. They come to Lincoln with brief cases loaded with bills having for their purpose the rectification of some supposed local or personal abuse and they pay more attention to these chicken feed measures than they do to broad legislative policies or matters of real import to the people of the state.

It is on this account that legislative sessions are of such interminable length, and that there is so much log rolling. Each member is intent on getting through his pet measures, and in order to attain success some of them trade votes with others in like position or with those who are anxious to get through bills which would ordinarily be condemned as without merit. The committees are overwhelmed and the calendar is cluttered with measures that should never have been given a thought.

It is not known at whom the legislative aspirant is aiming his lance, but it should be quite apparent that if the voters of a party do not want an incumbent to be nominated for another office they will not vote for him, and that will end the matter. Likewise, if he is nominated and the voters prefer the candidate of the other party they will signify their preference at the polls. They should have the privilege of doing so, though of course the office holder should not be allowed to neglect his duties in order to carry on a campaign. Few do so at that time any more than they do during the remainder of their incumbency.

During every legislative session there are matters of the highest importance to occupy the time and attention of members, and it seems ridiculous that they should allow themselves to be led away by trivialities. "There ought to be a law 'agin' it."

A DIAGNOSIS OF GERMANY.

THE ailments which point to eventual if not early disintegration of Germany's nazi regime are revealed in a searching diagnosis by Louis P. Lochner, veteran American press correspondent in Berlin.

The story is the plot of all revolutions. The nazis rode to power on slogans and issues designed to win mass votes, but the real supporters of the movement were divided into powerful and widely differing factions hoping that success of the general movement would give them power to fulfill their individual aims.

Thus great conservative groups, particularly the Steel Helmets, aided in the nazi revolution, not because they liked Hitler or his policies, but because they felt their own goals would be more accessible. These conservatives are now in open revolt against the "radicals" in Hitler's government. Von Papen spoke for them when he said, "Have we gone through an anti-Marxist revolution merely to make reality of the Marxist program?"

At the other extreme in the nazi battle are the brown-shirted storm troopers. The storm troopers constituted "the mob element" which seems indispensable to revolutions, although the troopers were somewhat more disciplined than some revolutionary "armies."

Lochner reports that storm troop leaders freely admit that some of their numbers are "converts" from the communist organizations that the nazis fought to exterminate. Hence the membership of the storm troopers must include large numbers of opportunists, following banners, any banners, in order to keep in the parade. When communism was enrolling Germans by the millions, they marched with communists. When nazis rose to power, the "mob" suddenly became devoted lovers of Hitler. Tomorrow they may be "enthusiastic converts" to another cause.

The Versailles treaty, the Jews and similar campaign issues were and are smoke screens in Germany. They were subjects upon which mass hysteria could be aroused for the purpose of gaining power. But such topics cannot carry a government after it attains power. Then the new rulers must provide work and happiness for their followers, or they are lost.

And when the real issues come to the fore, the heterogeneous elements in the revolutionary movement break up according to their own principles. Germany seems near this point now.

HENRY COTTON.

GEORGE may be king, Ramsay MacDonald prime minister, and the Prince of Wales, the most famous bachelor in the world, but a lanky golfer by the name of Henry Cotton outshone all three in the British Isles Friday.

Henry turned out to be Britain's prayer—a giant killer—who, armed with driver, brassie, mashie, and putter, went out and slew those bumptious Yankees, who for an uninterrupted span of ten years marched off with the crown in the British open championship. And Henry was not content with returning the crown to his native land—he did such a whale of a job of it there is nothing left but to bring Bobby Jones out of retirement.

The usual reserved Britisher has gone nerts. He's talking as wildly as a Frenchman. He has exhausted all of the good old Anglo-Saxon adjectives, and there is a grave danger he is about to draft some foreign words. But he had it coming to him. Ten years, in the language of the boys, is a hell of a long time. Then when a man steps out and shoots three rounds of golf over a course pestered with gales, cursed with traps, ambushed with all of the natural and artificial devices to make a man profane, in scores of 66, 67, and 65—when par is 72—to place himself so far ahead of the field it seemed to be playing in another tournament—then there is some reason for the British to become canaries. It's okey by us. Uncle Sam now has another job.

THE STRATEGY OF RADICALISM.

IT IS not the first business nor the prime purpose of those who aim at overturning the present state of society and setting up a "dictatorship of the proletariat," in its place to alleviate human suffering or make conditions of life easier for toiling men and women and their children. Their objective is to destroy existing governmental authority and seize power for themselves. Professional communists go on the theory that if the plight of the masses can be made harder and more desperate their discontent can be capitalized in support of the movement to abolish capitalism and private ownership of property and establish the new tyranny of the Russian system, first in one country and then in another, until it has become world wide.

Manuals of instruction have been written by leaders in the communistic ranks, outlining in detail just how the field agents shall proceed in their work of undermining the present social structure. First and foremost among the tactics to be employed, these guidebooks emphasize joining labor organizations and "boring from within". When a revolutionary agitator gets himself enrolled as a member he devotes himself to missionary work among the workers to make them "class conscious" and create a spirit of suspicion and hatred toward their "masters"—the employers who furnish the jobs and pay the wages.

In due course of time, a sufficient following is enlisted to make "demands" upon the employers for concessions which, in many cases, they could not possibly make and remain in business. Then comes a strike, during which workers who desire to remain on their jobs are harassed, intimidated, and sometimes assaulted to compel them to quit. Frequently there is organized mob violence resulting in damage to industrial plants and the homes of those who continue to work in them.

In communities where the workers show no interest in radical activities or doctrines, agitators from outside flock in and attempt to stir up trouble. This uncalled for interference in the affairs of a peaceful locality sometimes leads to acts of counter violence on the part of indignant citizens who naturally resent the intrusion of non-resident emissaries seeking to disrupt its economic life.

There is a big difference between freedom of speech and the right of peaceful assemblage to secure redress for grievances, as guaranteed by the constitution to citizens of the United States, and the business of manufacturing sentiment to overthrow the government which exists for the purpose of assuring these rights to the people.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS.

THOSE responsible for the arrangements for the meeting of the Young Republican organization in Lincoln, undoubtedly thought they were doing a good turn when they invited all three candidates for the gubernatorial nomination to be present and to speak.

But to place Dwight Griswold, C. A. Sorensen, and Admiral Ted Metcalfe on the same platform, with only the Marquis of Queensberry rules to govern the proceedings, is a bit of a gamble. Probably some of the candidates wished they had another engagement, for it is a popular rule in politics not to engage in debate. But they all accepted, whether or not they knew the other fellow was to be there, and it is too late to retire. All of the time worn excuses which served the young boy so excellently in explaining how he came to play hooky from school are outlawed. Nothing short of real sickness will excuse. And so, the Young Republicans are assured of a pleasant evening. No kicking, no gouging or biting should be tolerated. No hitting below the belt should be permitted. Let this be a clean exhibition, and to those of us on the sidelines, the cry is: Let the best man win.

Everyday Questions

ANSWERED BY
DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives. Address Dr. Cadman in care of the New York Herald-Tribune Syndicate, 230 West 41st street, New York, N. Y.

QUESTION.
Harrisburg, Pa.

How did you get the idea that the intelligence of the average voter is that of a boy of sixteen?

ANSWER.

It is not an idea so much as a conclusion founded on the facts in the case. At all times and in all places great disparities are found among individuals in wealth, education, culture and sound sense. "The Age Herald," of Birmingham, Alabama, printed a letter dated September 23, 1933, written by Roland M. Harper, which tends to prove the correctness of that statement.

The army intelligence tests during the World war showed that the average recruit's intelligence was about equal to that of a normal thirteen-year-old child. Since the universal service act brought all groups into its ranks those tests are probably a fairly accurate measurement of the average mentality of American citizenship.

Do you suppose it can be rated any higher today? I hope it can, but with the present starving of public education due to diminished appropriations the prospect is not very bright.

The demagogue in power is the result of the ignoramus in politics. To be able to read and write may be a disadvantage unless this elementary knowledge is supplemented by reflective capacity, intellectual discernment and the possession of ethical standards sufficiently developed to enable the voter to dismiss charlatans and rascals from the public service, or, better still, to keep them out of it altogether. Designing and self-seeking men are fully aware of this state of affairs and quick to profit by it. Meanwhile citizens who think correctly and justly are the saving element of our nation.

QUESTION.
South Bend, Ind.

The annual amount spent by women of this country for cosmetics is one of which we can't be very proud, and, if the various women's clubs and other organizations want to do some good, let them set about reducing it. But will they? Nobody seems to dare tackle them on the subject. As a bachelor it seems to me a stupid waste of good money. What do you think about it?

ANSWER.

Your single blessedness may largely account for this inquiry. However, there is something to be said for your position. Doubtless the money spent by women on cosmetics in this and other countries is disproportionately large and, so far as many mere men are concerned, entirely useless both from an economic viewpoint and from the results achieved facially. A well dressed woman is a social necessity, whereas a heavily painted one is a sorry sight to all except herself. But it is only fair to ask whether you have considered the excessive amounts spent by both bachelors and married men on their particular luxuries? If not, do so.

It is far more important to wipe out fake securities and financial trickery than the use of lipsticks and powder. Hundreds of millions have been lost through the former in the last few years. You may say all that is beside the point. Quite possibly, but it is the first argument for defense a woman usually makes, and its apparent inconsistency does not deprive it of a certain force. "Physician, heal thyself," is one of her favorite retorts.

Cosmetics have been used by the fair sex for at least 5,000 years, so there is no reason for anticipating their speedy abolition. Professor Breasted's expedition to Tell Asmar has unearthed rouge pots, kohl for the eyes and the remnants of ointment jars which were the allies of beauty and fashion twenty centuries before Christ. Therefore, historically the ladies are strongly entrenched and sentimentally they are heavily armed. Do you think there is any likelihood of your smashing these formidable fortifications? If so, guess again!

What concerns them far more than the protests of either bachelors or husbands is the report of the California state association of chiropodists that women's feet are growing bigger because of high-heeled shoes and athletic exercises. Larger feet are indeed a terrifying menace. So is the warning of science that not a few aids to feminine beauty are chemically harmful and in some instances may destroy what they are advertised to enhance. I think you had better leave the women alone. In any case they will do as they like. So what's the use?

QUESTION.
Brooklyn, N. Y.

How do you think the people regard President Roosevelt's policies?

ANSWER.

They are unique and surprising to some and the logical outcome of the present situation to others. Evidently a master hand is guiding democratic destinies in Washington. Attacks upon the president's measures will have to be opportunist. Yet we may expect Senator Borah to speak out in meeting. As a strict constitutionalist he is at his best when arraying that formidable instrument against what he deems violations of its principles.

Criticism is the salt of public life, but it must be constructive if it is to be helpful. In the prevailing mood of the nation captious or selfish opposition to the president will have a short shrift. It would not surprise trained observers if a superbank should be organized and on the grounds of public necessity, they also favor regulative legislation for the entire banking system of the country.

I make no claim to speak as an expert on these intricate problems of finance and economics. But as a citizen I believe that it is the purpose of the American people to readjust the entire social order and to base it upon a broader, better, and more beneficial foundation in order to secure greater stability. This is the objective which is supreme above every other just now and all governmental agencies are enlisted for its support and attainment. Nevertheless its achievement is a difficult and complicated process, requiring extraordinary sagacity, great courage and firm resolution.

TOURNIQUET AROUND LIMB IMPORTANT IN SNAKE BITE

With the increase in the outdoor life — automobiling, camping out, fishing and hunting—the hazard of poisonous snake bites also increases.

Dr Clendening

Snake venom may be poisonous in one of two ways, depending on the variety of snake. One sort of venom is neurotoxic — it affects the nervous system, causing paralysis, blindness, convulsions, etc. The other sort is hemotoxic, and causes disturbance by breaking down the red blood cells and the walls of the blood vessels, allowing hemorrhage, etc. In this country the coral snakes are the only ones which produce neurotxic venom. The moccasin, copperhead and rattlesnake produce the hemotoxic variety.

Nearly all parts of the United States are inhabited by poisonous snakes. The copperhead has a habitat for Massachusetts, as far west as Illinois, through the northerly southern states. The moccasin is almost entirely confined to the southeastern states. The rattlesnake is widely distributed everywhere west of the Alleghenies. I have seen rattlesnakes as far north as Wisconsin.

Most people who have had much experience do not believe that rattlesnake bites are very dangerous. Statistics show, however, they are fatal in from 10 to 25 per cent of cases.

In treatment, the most important thing is to put a tourniquet or constriction around the limb between the bite and the heart. If the bite is on the leg or foot, as it usually is, the constriction should be put just above the knee. It should be made tight, and loosened every 15 or 20 minutes, to allow a little blood from the part to enter the circulation. The body can usually neutralize the posion if it is not given an overwhelming amount.

The second most important element in the treatment is to cut open the bite widely. This is best done with a safety razor blade. The bite should then be sucked to remove the venom, either by human aid or by mechanical suction apparatus. When this is not possible, it should be washed out thoroughly with water that has been brought to a boil and then allowed to cool. It is very important not to get excited, not to drink a great deal of whiskey (the usually recommended remedy), and not to walk around.

There is an antivenom serum, which is manufactured at Glenolden, Pa., and widely distributed by drug stores, but if none is available, it is not as serious as might be supposed, because it has not always proved as successful as was at first expected.

QUESTION.

C. P.: "Are any medicines made from coal tar? Please name two or three."

ANSWER.

A great many different substances used as drugs are made from coal tar. For instance, carbolic acid as an antiseptic, picric acid for the treatment of burns, acetanilide and phenacetin for the treatment of headache.

ABOUT GOSSIPS.

A gossip spread the tale about
And up and down the town it went.
Another gossip stretched it out.
Till evil worse and worse it meant.

Not one of those who spread the tale
Would steal or cheat or maim or kill
Or, if the need were urgent, fail
The office of a friend to fill.

And if of them some one should say
They'd passed a wounded fellow by
And would not to assist him stay,
The charge they'd furiously deny

If of the gossips it were said
(Since this is not the thing to do)
They'd spoken evil of the dead
This charge would bring resentment, too

But many who defend the dead
And keep themselves from deeds of shame
Will thoughtless tales of scandal spread

Paralysis Epidemic Is Claimed Under Control

SAN FRANCISCO June 29—(INS)—Spread of infantile paralysis in California has been definitely checked today, health authorities reported. Only one new case was reported here.

Death of Anselina Cadematori, 11, increased San Francisco's death toll to seven.

An inquest was being conducted at Santa Rosa into the death of Jack Baldwin, 2 who died from an asserted improperly prepared serum.

Thirty-four new cases were reported in Los Angeles county where 14 women prisoners were quarantined after one of them had developed the disease. The prisoners were given serum as a precautionary measure.

Bump-on-a-Log

Some lessons may be learned in play
And often best are taught that way.
—Mrs. Peter Rabbit.

The dear Old Briar-patch suddenly became a lively place, a very lively place. Any place taken possession of by six lively children is bound to be a lively place. Peter Rabbit wasn't quite sure that he approved. It was disturbing to say the least never to be sure of finding a quiet corner in which to doze. It seemed to him that there was always a frisky young bunny under his very nose. To be sure those bunnies were his and he really was very proud of them, but sometimes he did wish that Mrs. Peter had waited a little longer before bringing them home.

He had had no suspicion that he had a family until one evening just after dusk had settled over the dear Old Briar-patch Mrs. Peter had appeared with the six babies. Where she had kept them hidden he hadn't the slightest idea. It made him feel a little nerved.

"My dear," he had said, "I do think you might have told me about these youngsters before. Do you think that hiding them from me, their own father, was treating me quite right?"

"I don't know about you, but I do know it was treating the children right," replied Mrs. Peter complacently.

Peter looked puzzled. "What do you mean by that?" he demanded.

"No secret is a secret that is known by more than one," she replied. "I kept it as long as was necessary, and now if it will make you feel better I'll tell you where they were all the time. They were over in the tall grass way out on the Green Meadows."

Peter looked as astonished as he felt. "But that was no place for them!" he protested.

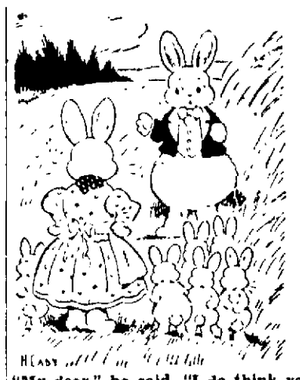

Wasn't it? Well, you didn't find them, and no enemy did, and here they are safe and sound," replied Mrs. Peter sweetly.

Peter had to admit this. They were very much there, hopping about this way and that way, poking their inquisitive, wobbly little noses into this and that, kicking up their funny little heels for the sheer joy of kicking, chasing each other about, getting their noses scratched on brambles they hadn't yet learned to avoid.

"Well," said Peter somewhat gruffly, "now that they are here, you will have to look out for them."

"That's what I have been doing ever since they were born," replied Mrs. Peter sweetly, and led the bunnies to the other side of the Briar-patch where they could not bother their father.

Now young Rabbits are born independent. Yes, sir, they are so. No sooner do they discover what legs are meant for than they begin to put them to their proper use. To them the Great World is a wonderful place meant just to satisfy curiosity and they cannot wait to grow up to satisfy it. Mother knew this and with the wisdom of a mother she knew that the time to teach them certain things that they should know would be short. And she also knew that little folk want to play.

"My dear," he said, "I do think you might have told me about these youngsters before"

So the very first morning after they reached the dear Old Briar-patch she started a game with them that she had learned when she was little and that Peter had learned when he was little and that they had used many times ever since only not as a game.

"Now children," said she, "see if you can catch me. Just keep your eyes on my white tail."

Of she started along one of the private little Rabbit paths through the Old Briar-patch and after her scampered the six bunnies in high glee. Up and down bobbed Mother's white tail and up and down bobbed six tiny white tails behind her. This was really a game in itself, the game of follow-mammy's tail.

Now, mother's legs being longer, she soon got ahead and disappeared around a turn in the path. Breathlessly the six bunnies raced around the turn and—mother had disappeared! Anxiously they looked every way, but there was no white tail anywhere to be seen. Beside the path was an old log. On one end of it was a brown bump. It didn't move any more than did the log. The bunnies ran right under it without giving it the least attention, all but one. He looked at it very hard. Then he climbed up on the log. That bump was his mother.

Says Doctor Lacks Humor.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 28.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Robert B. Greer, M. D. at Butler, Pennsylvania has caused merriment among students here. His poor effort to chastise Dr. Lowry C. Wimberly, professor of English for slurring such a decent city as Lincoln, and classing its citizens as Babbitts of simple mentality in the American Mercury magazine, is considered quite a joke.

In the first place the students think that the doctor takes himself too seriously. Whether he is trying to place a feather in his own cap by playing the role of an intellectual dictator, is hard to say. In his mad effort to bring Dr. Wimberly to task, he overlooked the fact that the first sentence of the second paragraph in his letter contains a serious error in grammar. We suggest that the Pennsylvania doctor might do well to come to the university and take a course or two in English with Dr. Wimberly. My opinion of the intelligence of the medical profession has always been very high, but the Pennsylvania doctor, with his poor English and lack of humor makes me wonder whether I shouldn't revise that opinion.

Students are not caring whether or not the pious doctor is enthusiastic about Dr. Wimberly as an instructor of youth. What the residents of any college town think of a professor is largely determined by the student body. As a whole the student body have great respect and admiration for their leader. They admit he is one of the most outstanding instructors at the university. Such terms as "deep thinker," "square-shooter," and "white man" have been applied to him. Like Will Rogers, Dr. Wimberly likes to poke fun at individuals and things. He claims every individual, himself included is a fit subject for humor at some time or other. In this instance Dr. Greer has furnished a bit of comedy, with himself playing the chief comic role. What students cannot understand is why any physician should lack ordinary intelligence, and a real sense of humor. But then the two go together. Without one you can't have the other.

NELLE L. FREER.

Heirs Of Knowledge.

Lincoln, Neb., June 20.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The philosophy of Henry George, often called the single tax, is receiving more than usual attention these days—and justly so. Insofar as it deals with the land and the rights of every person to access thereto, no one can object to its logic. Certainly every person born on earth has the right to live on the earth.

But I cannot agree with the singletaxers regarding the products of labor. We of the present age of abundance (which most of us cannot enjoy for lack of money) are the heirs of all the knowledge which mankind has acquired through countless ages of toil and trial and error. I cannot accept as true the statement that if I cut a tree and fashion a "dugout" for use on the river, it is absolutely mine as against all the rest of mankind — the argument used to show the robbery of taxing anything but land values.

For I could not cut down the tree and dig out its interior if it were not for knowledge handed down through the ages. Primitive man probably availed himself of floating logs and trees to save his strength in swimming for many generations before the thought occurred to him to fashion a dugout; and even then his primitive stone implements probably needed much improvement before he actually accomplished the task.

The Indians in early days in Nebraska and elsewhere dragged their belongings from one place to the other. They had not reached the stage of using the wheel. Now, the discovery of the wheel was one of mankind's monumental inventions. No individual or corporation owns the right to employ the wheel as his or its exclusive property. We are all stockholders, although very few of us ever receive any dividends for the use of our share in that invention. A comparatively few have monopolized the wheel and most of mankind's fundamental inventions, and require us to pay assessments instead of receive dividends. And yet, if I were a good single taxer, having "seen the cat," I should allow these monopolists to be free of all taxes except on the land values of the land they occupy."

CHARLES Q. DE FRANCE.

Equal Justice.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 28.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The editorial by J. E. Lawrence in the Sunday paper is worth thoughtful, careful reading and study. "What do we want?" First; it must be recognized, fundamentally, absolutely: we can have only that which we are perfectly willing the other has an equal right to obtain and thus bases its security. This point gained, for it is this syllogism which must be fully understood ere comes the next step in advance and we are in an unequivocal position. This is the first step in social, economic progress and it must not be carelessly brushed aside any longer. The greatest source of injustice occurs in the present tax system.

"The right tax system must accord with the moral law" Henry George. It must not give to some advantages over others, as by adding the tax to the price charged. The right tax system will not penalize thrift. There is a natural source

New! HIGHWAY SERVICE to CHICAGO

STREAMLINE BUSSES

• On July 1 a new bus route to Chicago will be established by the Burlington Transportation Company (owned and operated wholly by the Burlington Railroad).

A fleet of new-type high-speed busses of streamline design, possessing many modern refinements to increase travel comfort, will be in daily operation east of Omaha with convenient connection from and to Lincoln.

The new route closely parallels the main line of the C. B. & Q. Railroad, and utilizes the best all-paved highways all the way.

Pattern of Perfection.

Nobody saves anyone else in this complex world. It is all up to the individual, and all that any other can do is to advise, inspire and encourage. The person who adopts a holier-than-thou attitude and sets himself up as a model of perfection is more likely to result in making himself ridiculous than in helping any other to adjust his life.

"Mrs. B. B." writes that she is considering a divorce from her husband, because she believes he will have the wrong influence on the children. Her charges are that he is childish and selfish. She says she has tried for years to "change him" but to no avail.

The picture isn't attractive. But it is the wife who makes the most unpleasant impression on my mind. If she is setting herself up as a pattern of nobility and making the husband's supposed weakness the subject of many scenes of nagging and recrimination, then I'd say that the children and husband both might profit by the divorce.

The probabilities are that the husband has no more and no worse faults than the wife herself possesses, if she would be just and fair enough to recognize this fact. The home atmosphere would probably be fair and average if this wife and mother would cease trying to "make over" her husband, accept him as he is and give him a place of dignity in the home.

Within the Income.

Dear Minerva: My only sister is to be married next month, and the wedding will take place in the town of my family home, many miles from here. My husband can ill afford to spare the money for my trip home to the wedding, though he says he will manage some way if I feel that it is necessary. So my problem is to decide what I should do. I know my sister will feel badly if I am not there, and that mother and dad will grieve over my absence too. I owe it to them all to be there. On the other hand, how can I take money from my husband for the trip when he is worried over finances as it is. I don't know where my duty lies and would like your opinion.—THELMA.

A. I think it would be best to forego the trip home, when your husband's income does not justify the expenditure at present. Write your sister a letter of love, one which she will treasure always, and send her a gift that will convey to her your devotion. Write also to your mother and father, and take time and pains with your letters so they will carry to them a really personal tribute and message. They will understand. This would be far better than to mar the happiness of the occasion with the regrets and worries which will surely be yours if you spend money that cannot be spared.

Leaves A Scar.

Dear Minerva: I am considering a secret marriage and want your advice about it. I am twenty-three years of age and my best beloved is twenty-six. We have been friends for many years, but sweethearts only a short time. My mother died six years ago; my father has remarried; I am self supporting and live alone. So I really have no one to whom I must give an account. My fiance lives with his parents and they are very good friends of mine. The reason for our proposed secrecy is that he has just broken an engagement with another girl. He had been engaged to her for four years and the affair just frazzled out. He feels that it would be an awful blow to her pride for him to marry so soon. Yet he has been transferred to another city by his office. His desire is that we marry now secretly, so I can join him as soon as he is settled and sure that he will remain there.

The plan seems pratical, yet I shrink from the secrecy and thus am seeking your advice. I love him so much and would do anything to make him happy, but I wonder if his reaction to such a marriage might not be unfortunate later on. —AGNES.

A.—A secret marriage is sure to place something of a scar upon the event, which should be the happiest of your lives. There are always people who are ready to place an unkind interpretation upon any act, and a secret marriage does provide them with fuel for their maliciousness. Moreover, the reaction upon the participants is not always the best. It's a thing to be avoided, I believe that you and your fiance should take his parents into your confidence and ask their advice. I do not think that chivalry toward the ex-fiancee should demand that you start out on your married life under any sort of cloud.

DRIVER-OWNED TAXIS OPPOSED

Rail Commission Tells Policy In Increasing Omaha Licenses.

Opposition to driver-owned taxicab operations was expressed by the state railway commission Friday in announcing that it will shortly issue an order restricting the number of taxicabs in Omaha to 135 for the present; 31 more than are now operating.

Commissioner Hugh Drake, in his opinion and findings in the recent hearing on applications for certificates of convenience to operate 77 more taxicabs in Omaha, said that in limiting the number to 135, distributed among five concerns, the commission will assure the preservation of mass transportation facilities provided by the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co., and at the same time provide adequate special transportation facilities in the form of taxicabs sufficient to serve Omaha properly.

The opinion declared that the commission may find it necessary, in the interest of the public, to inquire in the future into rates and possibly establish minimum fares. The matter of rates was not involved in the hearing.

The Checker Cab Co. was allowed 16 certificates, Safeway, 4 and Publix Cars, 10. The certificates will be granted, however, on condition that the firms acquire title to the taxicabs, thus doing away with the driver-owned system, which the commission termed unsatisfactory.

Yellow Cab & Baggage Co. and Peoples Cab Co., which opposed increasing the present number of taxicabs operating in Omaha, operate 88 and 16 taxicabs respectively.

The commission also found that the Checker Cab Co., should change its color scheme so as not to duplicate that of the Yellow Cab Co.

The Macumber Co. was granted permission to operate one taxicab, but Vernon H. Gill, who asked permission to operate a taxi line in South Omaha, was denied that authority.

Shopmen Hear Report Of U. P. Employes' Vote Favoring Union

A meeting of more than 100 shop and roundhouse employes of the Burlington heard a report Thursday night at the Havelock I. O. O. F. hall that the Union Pacific shop employes had voted only a short time before in favor of employes union as opposed to company unions. The vote, the report said, was almost two to one for the standard unions.

The Burlington employes will vote on a similar proposition in the near future, it was decided. Speakers included representatives of the sheet metal workers, machinists and firemen and oilers unions. G. E. Price also spoke.

Murder at Mocking House

heard that Dufresne and I were rivals once and not very friendly ones, either. You could make some interesting deductions from that."

Harper was silent, puzzled by some repressed force underlying the words. Croyden paused to light a fresh cigarette. "That's the root of plenty of trouble, Harper, when women can take over the dominating role. Take my wife, for example. I love her dearly, but she has always had more money than I can ever hope to earn. Besides, what chance has the masculine ego with a girl who can outdistance you at any sport you name—swimming, golf, riding, bridge? There is only one field left in which I can exercise my masculine conceit and that is this—" resting his fingers on the keyboard.

The detective was at a loss to account for this deliberate exposure of Richard Croyden's.

"Harper," Croyden remarked after a short silence, "would it ease your mind if you knew that Officer Hamill's family would be provided for? Don't misunderstand me," he added quickly, seeing the detective's look, "this is not in any sense a bribe. The fact is, the man was killed in this house, presumably in defense of the property and if I offer aid to the family, my motives will be less open to misinterpretation."

"Mr. Dufresne has already made such an offer," the detective replied. "I understand your motive, Mr. Croyden. I'm sorry I can't separate the wheat from the chaff. I'll make no secret of the fact that certain recent developments have touched Mrs. Dufresne. By refusing to defend herself against very damaging evidence, she has forced me to place her under virtual arrest.

"And now I have some equally serious matters to put before another member of this household. If the same attitude is adopted, the consequences will be unfortunate."

Richard Croyden leaped from the bench. "Sylvia?" he cried, aghast. "Good God! No! Harper, no! You've got it all wrong. Let me talk to her!"

"Sorry, but I'll have to ask you to defer that until later. The nurse has orders to admit no one."

Croyden sat down again, shaken. The hand that held his cigarette trembled. His face was the prey of conflicting emotions that choked his tongue and in the stunned silence Harper left the room.

The detective returned the slippers to the breakfastroom and rang for Andrews. When the butler came he inquired as to the whereabouts of the master of the house.

"Mr. Dufresne is having his coffee in the library, upstairs, sir."

"Thank you, Andrews."

Once more the detective locked the room and went up the stairs. Dufresne's voice bade him enter and if he was surprised to see Sergeant Harper he gave no sign of it.

"Oh, it's you, Harper. Make yourself comfortable. You're too late for coffee, but I can ofer you a spot of this." He reached down to the lower shelf of the serving-table and brought up a square black decanter and two small glasses. The detective saw a similar glass with the coffee service.

"What is it—brandy?" he inquired.

Dufresne cocked a jocular eye at him. "Never ask that question, Harper, it's damned bad manners."

He splashed a white liqueur into the glasses to the very brim. "Cointreau," he explained solemnly. "Cointreau, my boy, is like the flawless blue-white diamond—Nature can do no more." He lifted the glass. "Your health"'

The pontifical tone, the gleaming eye, the dull flush, were not overlooked by the detective. Dufresne had been drinking again. Harper remembered his steady application to the brandy bottle the night before.

Farm Women's Exchange

There have been so many demands for the modish garden hat that we have ordered another edition of the pattern These hats are used not only for the garden but for marketing and little girls sometimes wear them for play One of the readers told me that she and her friends have made this pattern in a variety of forms That is some are two tones some one some have plain stitched brims and others have been made with quilted brims All you need to secure this pattern is a three cent stamped addressed envelope Address Mrs Clara Bell Gruver editor The Lincoln Star Exchange 1005 North Fifth street Springfield Illinois

A letter on my desk asks me why it is that we do not pay more attention to Father's day that has just gone into the past events column for another year The writer tells me of the virtues of her good father I can understand her letter for I too have a good father gone to his reward one worthy of abiding esteem of his daughter

Some of the stores in the community where I live report that they had a bigger Father's day sales than for many a year It seemed to me that more publicity had been given to Father's day, this year than ever before

Perhaps we have wondered just how much father would appreciate sentiment It may have taken years to prove to us that such day really is looked forward to by our fathers Men are so busy with the cares the work and the worries of everyday life, that they are apt to overlook the anniversaries and the birthday A reminder however usually tickles their fancy At a time when I was miles away from my husband I sent him the proverbial neck tie Because my gift was late in the mailing I sent the package to the office rather than to the home He told me afterward that when he opened the box he asked the newspaper boys what was the occasion While they were trying to recall whether there was a national holiday in the offing he remembered his own birthday That's a man for you

The Rose of Sharon Quilt Block pattern will carry under the postage sent for the garden hat pattern Or my readers may have either of the above mentioned patterns and a sandwich bulletin The salad and salad dressing bulletin is larger and requires a three cent, stamped, addressed envelope.

Garden Sachets.

Last year we ran in our In The Mail a sacket gift suggestion by one of the readers Because it is such a good one I am repeating it this year She writes Sachets from your own garden flowers are the sweetest things for gift giving Save rose petals pansies verbenas, honeysuckles sweet peas alyssum heliotrope rose geranium leaves and any other fragrant blossoms your garden affords These should be spread upon a box and placed in the sun until thoroughly dry When dry put the flowers on a board and roll them, with a rolling pin, until reduced to a powder Then to each pound of flower powder add twenty drops of oil of jasmine or oil of geranium or ten cents worth of lavender After mixing thoroughly allow sachet to stand for a few days in a covered box Then it is ready to use Here is a verse that would go well with the sachet Memories of summertime, in flower fragrance sweet From my little lovesome spot Your gift tide to greet

Do you want one of our rock garden sheets? A three cent stamped addressed envelope will carry this and also one other sheet desired

Waffle Biscuits

A reader says that hot biscuits take on a special charm if baked at a table on a waffle iron The dough ought to be somewhat softer and richer than when oven baked Use five tablespoons shortening and one cup milk to two cups of flour The waffle iron should be preheated about six minutes Then a spoonful of dough is dropped on each grid and baked about three minutes

The derby hat for women will be a favorite this fall It covers one eye pretty well

Tin-Can Field.

In a certain field that one passes in an automobile are hundreds of tin cans a few inches away from a struggling plant Into each can water is sprinkled from the hose Slowly the water seeps into the ground, watering the roots of the plants

Here is another suggestion for relief from the trying cabbage worm This reader says that she sprinkles her plants with black pepper while the dew is on the plant This treatment is repeated after a rain The white moths that fly over the plants will not bother the peppered plants

Picnic Cakes

Those cakes that are baked in paper cups are so easy to take along Try this method for making cup cakes One-half cup butter, one cup sugar two eggs separated one and seven-eighths cups sifted flour, three teaspoons baking powder one-eighth teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup milk one teaspoon vanilla Cream butter and one-half cup of the sugar Beat the egg yolks and beat into them the remaining one-half cup sugar Combine the two mixtures Mix and sift the flour baking powder and salt Add dry ingredients to first mixture, alternately with the milk Add vanilla and fold in the beaten egg whites Pour into paper baking cups placing these cups into tin cake tins or muffin pans and bake in moderate oven of 385 degrees for about twenty to twenty-five minutes Frost each cake with a powdered sugar icing and decorate differently to give color and variety

Somebody says that accessories make a party Spicy relishes for cold meats, attractively stuffed olives radishes and celery are excellent accompaniments at this season of the year

Luncheon Salad.

What is prettier as a garnishing feature than asparagus? Make your molded salad by placing ten asparagus tips down into an oval mold to give the appearance of a crown and pour salad int othis Here is how Use one package of lime jello, one cup hot water three-fourths cup asparagus juice three tablespoons lemon juice one pimento, one cup cooked drained lima beans, ten asparagus tips one-half cup chopped celery one-half teaspoon salt Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add the asparagus and lemon juice Cool until partly set Pour into the crown mold chill until firm Unmold on a lettuce bordered platter and garnish with mayonnaise

A reader says to stop the hose runs touch up run top and bottom with nail polish It does the trick

IN THE MAIL

Chicken Loaf

Two cups finely cooked chicken two eggs one cup fine bread crumbs one-half cup mashed canned peas, one and one-half tablespoons butter one-half cup milk salt paprika, one onion and one green pepper, fried in butter Heat the milk, and moisten the crumbs with it and combine with other ingredients, adding the beaten eggs lastly Place the mixture into a greased baking dish, bake firm and brown Turn out onto a platter and serve hot or cold Good to serve at picnics—MRS FRED HOOPS Republic, Kas

Banana Surprise.

Split bananas lengthwise and put together with a tart jelly such as red currant or plum Cover with slightly sweetened whipped cream to which a few drops of vanilla have been aded Sprinkle top with finely chopped nuts Serve very cold A delicious dessert which may be quickly prepared — MRS WILL UMPHRES, Sterling, Nebr

Canned Corn.

Sixteen pints of corn two pints of sugar one pint salt Cut uncooked corn from the cob Mix well with sugar and salt Let stand until milk covers about two hours) Cook thirty minutes and seal in sterilized jars while hot When using corn, season and cook for a few minutes This is delicious and almost like fresh—MRS J W BERTZ, 2126 Sewell street, Lincoln, Nebr

Fruit Nectar

When making apple jelly I add fruit nectar to the jelly when it is ready to be removed from the fire Then boil until this jells again Pour into jars tha thave been sterilized and seal Raspberry is my favorite flavor but you can use any flavor you like Use the amount of nectar you wish according to strength and color of the flavor of your taste—MRS DAVID STEHR, 835 Peach street, Lincoln, Nebr

If readers will send us a summer hint or recipe we will send in return any one of our bulletins or patterns, postage free

RAILROAD TAXES MAY BE REDUCED

4-Year Averaging Plan To Cut Assessments For Carriers.

Further material reductions in the tax assessments of Nebraska railroads which have undergone successive cuts year by year since 1930, are believed to be inevitable when the state board of equalization makes up the valuations for 1934 The total railroad appraisement may fall to $175 000 000 or less compared with $183 581 655 last year

Since 1931 the state board has been assessing the six principal carriers by taking an average of the market prices for their stocks and bonds on April of each year the four years preceding This is now the settled practice and the 1934 tax values like those of other recent years, will be determined on that basis

Quotations Chief Factors.

Other factors such as gross earnings figured on a proportionate mileage basis, are also taken into consideration but the assessments are determined chiefly by stock and bond quotations which have been on an abnormally low level during recent years and have not yet got back to normal levels

The Burlington and Union Pacific come the nearest of any roads to attainment of their former values, the former may possibly be in line for an assessment increase but the latter will probably get some reduction

The Northwestern and its companion line, the M . O are still further behind while the Rock Island and Missouri Pacific, which have been struggling under partial or complete receiverships are in a position to claim very substantial tax cuts at the present time

"Shoe On Other Foot."

Now the shoe is on the other foot This year's computation drops out the security values for 1930, which helped to hold up the average a year ago, and in their place takes in the lower prices recorded as of April 1 this year Figures for 1931 1932 and 1933 will be included in this year's assessments as they were a year ago Thus the change will be measured solely by the difference between 1930 and 1934 price quotations for stocks and bonds

What this will mean in the case of the Missouri Pacific is indicated by the fact that in 1930 its common stock was valued at $93 50 a share, but for 1934 is listed at only $5 13 Preferred stock of the same road is down this year to $8 25 share, against $139 in 1930 First mortgage bond values are a trifle higher— $97 50 now, compared with $95 25 four years ago

The Rock Island's common stock has slumped from $125 a share in 1930 to the insignificant price of $5 this year 7 per cent preferred, from $107 75 to $8 25 and 6 per cent preferred from $103 25 to $6 38 The R I's general mortgage 4 per cent bonds as now rated at $69 compared with $90 four years ago while its first and refunding 4s are off from $97 50 to $24 50

Averaging Plan Fortunate.

If this drop had taken place in a single year and there were no four-year average to take up the slack the shrinkage in tax values for these two roads in 1934 would be frightful in its effect on state and local revenues Even as it is they will be entitled to very sizable cuts

The Northwestern's common shares go in this year at $13 where they were priced at $87 87 in 1930 Its preferred stock ruling has dropped from $140 50 to $23 50 and its 20-year convertible 4½ per cent bonds from $102 75 to $4"

No comparative stock prices are available as to the M & O since nearly all its shares are owned by the Northwestern and held off the market The 5 per cent gold bonds series A are valued this year at $83 88 against $100 in 1930

In the case of the Burlington whose stock is similarly owned by the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific market quotations are also lacking but last year the shares were assessed at $55 each compared with $225 in 1930 It is possible the stock may be found to be worth more now which would mean an increase of assessment for the Q Its general mortgage 4 per cent bonds are listed at $109 13 for this year against $92 63 in 1933

Union Pacific common shares have gone down nearly 50 per cent from 1930 from $239 50 to $127 44 The preferred has held up better being rated at $80 63 now compared with $64 75 four years ago U P bonds average about the same The 40-year gold 4s are up about $3 at $93 50 but the first lien and refunding 5s are off nearly a dollar at the price of $108 38

The total railroad assessment of Nebraska in 1930 was about $253 000 000 It was slightly below that figure in 1931 and was lowered to $221 000 000 in 1932 Last year it went down to $183 000 000 and this year another 5 or 10 millions will probably be lopped off

Correct this sentence My biscuits turned out unusually well today' said the housewife 'As a rule I'm not this lucky"

WRECK PLOT REVEALED.

BOMBAY June 29—(AP)—A plot to wreck a train carrying the Mahatma Gandhi here from Poona was believed today to have been discovered by a trackwalker who found iron clamps ordinarily used to hold the rails in position on the ties, placed on the track at a crossing near Poona As the spot was near a river a train derailment probably would have been disastrous

Amount Paid Out In Benefit Checks Reaches Total Of $216,000,000

SHARE FOR THIS STATE TO DATE IS $4,697,820

Processing Taxes Of $328,379,500 Are Collected.

With more than $216,000,000 in rental and benefit payments already sent out to farmers in 46 states, Nebraska's share to date has been $4,018,507, all of which was for wheat, according to the most recent information received here from the agricultural adjustment administration. Should all states which have received benefits shared equally, each would have received $4,697,820

Heavy wheat, cotton and tobacco producing states have received the largest benefits so far, a bulletin from Washington shows but when the corn-hog benefits start to move the proportionate standings of the various states will be considerably altered. The amounts received to June 20 by Nebraska and neighboring states is as follows:

Nebraska, wheat, $4,018,507.

Iowa, wheat, corn and hogs, $4,722,280

South Dakota, wheat $3 487,037.

Wyoming, wheat, $277 056

Colorado, wheat, $1,447,827

Kansas, wheat, cotton, $16,654 513

Iowa has received corn-hog benefit payments in but a few counties, the bulletin shows

A total of $328 379,500 in processing taxes had been collected to the end of May and by commodities they were as follows, the agricultural adjustment administration announced

Wheat, $106,602,252, cotton, $139,635,293; tobacco, $16,066 606, field corn, $3,915,388; hogs, $59,475,786, paper and jute $7,684 181.

In May alone processing tax collections on all commodities amounted to $43,292,450

CATTLE BOUGHT IN DROUTH ZONE

Total Of 374,378 Head Purchased By Farm Administration.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—The farm administration has purchased 374,378 cattle in emergency drouth areas of Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

The program started less than three weeks ago in an effort to aid farmers in the drouth belt, will be broadened later to all other emergency areas.

Cattle bought through yesterday included: Minnesota, 58,190 head; North Dakota, 239,470; South Dakota, 72,991, Wisconsin 3,827.

Purchases made represented slightly more than 42 per cent of all the cattle on farms from which they were purchased.

Two trainloads of cattle have been sent from the Dakotas to feeding yards in western Minnesota to relieve reported congestion of stockyards in the Dakotas.

U. S. GOVERNMENT IS CALLED HOARDER

Simmons Says Huge Sum Being Collected In Processing Taxes But Corn-hog money Held Up.

"One of the greatest hoarders in the United States today is the government of the United States," Robert G. Simmons, candidate for the republican senatorial nomination, told a group of political supporters Thursday.

"We have heretofore accused everybody in the country of hoarding and have blamed a part of the economic conditions of the country upon those people that took money out of circulation, for one reason or another, and have urged that money be kept in circulation as an aid to business, employment and labor," Simmons said. "In my opinion one of the greatest hoarders in the United States today is the government of the United States. Definite figures from Washington are not available, but conservative estimates indicate that approximately $1,950,000 every month is being collected in processing taxes on Nebraska hogs and being hoarded by the federal government while the payments under the cornhog loans are being held up."

Simmons declared "this does not alone affect the farmer, it is the farmer's money, he is entitled to it, he ought to have it now and he needs it now, but every dollar of processing tax collected and hoarded by the United States is a dollar that cannot be spent for merchandise or paid in rent, or taxes, it cannot be used to reduce interest or pay labor."

"These processing taxes should be removed and the money returned to farmers and the channels of trade from which it is being taken. I believe we would find a distinct movement upward in business in Nebraska, if the farmers were permitted by the government to have their own money and permitted to spend it in the communities where they live. It will help business, labor and agriculture."

STRANGE GEESE.

DAYTON, Wash.—(AP)—Old mother goose at the Fred Gilbert farm arose from the nest on which she had been setting and, presto out walked four goslings.

Each of three had two distinct sets of wings while the fourth just to be different, foundered about on four legs.

Government Tries Community Farm Experiment

Above is one of the community farm homes in the federal government experiment at Woodlake, Tex. Homes for 100 families, all of them with modern conveniences and each of them different, are being built and their residents will engage in agricultural work on the 1,500 acres comprising the community.

BY HARRELL E. LEE.

WOODLAKE, Trinity County, Tex.—(AP)—Here in the piney woods of "deep east" Texas the federal government is launching a community farm experiment which officials hold may revolutionize the relief policy for hundreds of thousands of depression victims.

Houses, now being completed, will care for 100 families whose heads were stranded in Texas cities with little hope of being re-employed by industry. The government hopes these families will become self-supporting again, through cultivation of the 1,500 acres it has purchased for them, by the start of winter.

Each family will have a three-acre home plot for a garden, orchard, pigs and poultry.

The remaining 1,200 acres will be worked by all the residents, and the income pro-rated according to the amount of work done by each. This acreage will be cultivated with community animals and implements. In addition there will be a community dairy, community bakery, machine and work shops, trading post, 10-room school, church, water system, community center and athletic field.

Expenses Pro-Rated.

The expense of these projects, and the income from them, will be pro-rated.

While chief attention will be paid to agricultural work, with cotton and tomatoes probably the principal money crops, articles will be fashioned from fabrics, wood, iron and steel in the community work room.

The houses are from three to five rooms each and have modern conveniences. No two are alike. Some are one-story, some one and one-half and some two, designed in eight distinct types of architecture, with many variations.

May Be Tried Elsewhere.

Officials say that if the scheme succeeds, thousands of families will be financed on several hundred similar community farms scattered throughout the 48 states, under present plans. They believe the families can repay the government for the cost of their homes in 15 to 20 years.

The total cost of the Woodlake experiment has been estimated at about $250,000 or $2,500 for each family. It is believed each will be able to contribute an average of $18 monthly toward paying off its obligation.

The 100 families here were selected from about 5,000 destitute unemployed applicants who had previously lived on farms. Preference was given those whose heads were more than 40 years old, on the theory that they stood less chance of being reabsorbed in industry.

Conservation Work May Be Carried On By Relief Roll Farmers

RED CLOUD, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Water conservation work done here last winter by CCC men will be carried on this summer by farmers upon the drouth relief rolls, if present plans materialize. Those who qualify for drouth relief will be permitted to work out the amount of their feed and seed loans on the construction of earth dams for erosion control.

Mothers' Vacation Camp To Be At Crete

The mothers' vacation camp for farm women will be held this year at Horky's park in Crete instead of at Camp Brewster near Omaha. Miss Mary-Ellen Brown announced the change and said the camp will commence Tuesday afternoon, July 24, and close Friday afternoon July 27.

FEED LOANS ARE MADE AVAILABLE

Extended To Farmers In Secondary Drouth Districts.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—The Farm Credit Administration today made emergency feed loans available to all farmers in counties designated as "secondary" drouth districts throughout the affected drouth area.

Emergency loans, which are limited to $400, will be made from the $40,000,000 emergency crop loan fund and, the credit administration said, "are not to be confused" with feed and forage loans to be made in the Dakotas and other emergency drouth areas.

Feed loans are to be made on the following basis: $4 a head each month for workstock, $3 for cattle; $1 for hogs; and 75 cents for sheep and goats.

They will be advanced in one payment and extend only until September 1. They are to be secured by first liens on livestock or crops.

Governor William I. Myers of the credit administration also announced that drouth relief loans would be made only when non-disturbance agreements are signed by all holders of chattel liens on farm property.

Protection will be given lien holders, however Myers said, by a provision requiring borrowers to sign a document giving reasonable security against operation of statutes of limitation. In any case where borrowers show bad faith, lien holders will be released from their obligations under the loan contract, he added.

Look To Flies From Alaska For Answer To Mule Sterility

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP)—Just why a mule has no offspring may be determined by the California institute of technology in an experiment with flies from Alaska.

Dr. Theodosius Dobzhansky, biologist, has been given a grant by the Rockefeller foundation, it was disclosed today, to make a trip to Alaska and find a certain type of fly which will be cross bred with a collection of California flies.

A problem of heredity the scientists here seek to solve is why cross breeding of certain flies produce a sterile fly. If they find an explanation for that, they said, it may explain the sterility of the mule.

Scientists Will Search In Asia For New Plants

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Into the vast Gobi desert scientists of the United States government will push a search for plants to foil the evil genie of erosion that threatens to create new deserts in America.

This is an important aim of four men from the department of agriculture who are now launching two expeditions in search of new farm plants.

Dr. H. G. Mac Millan and James L. Stephens, starting from Tokyo, will work during the next two years through the Far East and into the Gobi.

C. R. Enlow and H. L. Westover, now at Moscow, will push their way south and eastward into Turkestan, Persia, and the Caucasus.

One object is to find new grass plants, browse plants, trees and possibly legumes which safely can be introduced into the United States to replant areas of the southwest and north central states which are to be retired from farm production permanently.

Plants for erosion control work are sought, too. In places where there are extremes of temperature hardy varieties may develop. If they can be made to flourish in sections of America where erosion threatens serious damage, their roots may save the soil against the onslaughts of wind and water.

Knowles A. Ryerson, chief of the bureau of plant industry, commenting on the exploration of Turkestan and other parts of Russia, pointed out that many crops widely cultivated in the United States were introduced from that part of the world, among them being peaches, prunes, plums, apricots, and the so-called "English" walnuts of California.

Create Artificial Drouth For Testing Resistance Of Wheat

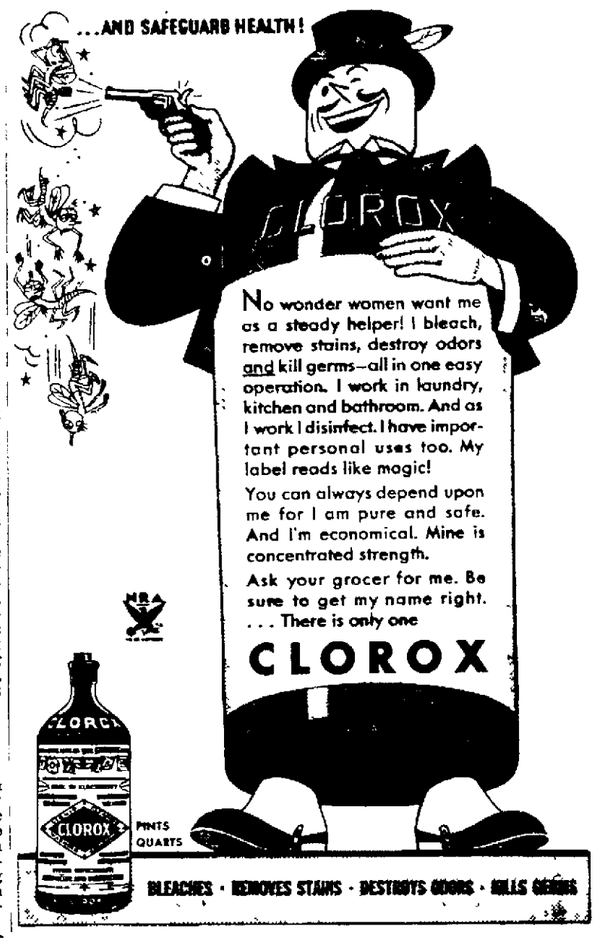

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—While drouth conditions continued to grip the major part of mid-western states, the department of agriculture scientists were experimenting today with artificial drouth on wheat in an Arlington, Va., greenhouse.

They were subjecting eight varieties of spring wheat to "made" drouth conditions by exposing young plants to warm currents of air on a merry-go-round. The plants were given sufficient water to maintain growth and their resistance to the hot winds was being tested to determine which the most drouth-resistant.

DOBBIN SCORES

Society

Society Will Soon Forget Its Lethargy

Next Week Is Devoted To Affairs in Honor of Texas Visitors.

IF WE may be permitted a prophecy — it looks as though things were brightening up, and that at least a week's moratorium has been declared on inactivity, socially speaking.

It all begins Monday when Mrs. Edward J. Walt, jr., will be hostess to sixty guests at a tea at her home between the hours of 2:30 o'clock and 5 o'clock, as a courtesy to her two house guests, Miss Catherine Moore, of Grand Prairie, Tex., who has been in Lincoln for the past two weeks, and Miss Lucy Ritchie Gowdy of Dallas, Tex., who arrived today.

WHAT WE REALLY should have said is that the ball starts rolling Monday morning, long before the tea, when Mrs. Mathias Volz and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson will be bridge-breakfast hostesses to sixteen guests, honoring Mrs. Walt's two guests, and Mrs. Volz' house guest, Mrs. Robert Scouler of Omaha who is expected to arrive Sunday at the home of Mrs. Volz. Breakfast is to be at 9 o'clock, with bridge following.

* * *

JUST THIS MOMENT we found out about another party, a morning bridge and luncheon, for which Mrs. William Newens will be hostess Saturday at her home, also as a courtesy to Miss Moore and Miss Gowdy.

AND THEN—at the end of the next week there is the bridge breakfast which Mrs. Hubert Schaddalee will give on Friday, honoring Miss Moore and Miss Gowdy.

IN BETWEEN THIS weekend and next weekend is the Fourth of July—and more guests—Arriving Monday to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Throop over the Fourth, will be Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Clausen of Davenport, Ia., who are stopping in Lincoln enroute home from Denver where they visited Mr. Clausen's sister.

Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Throop will have an informal dinner at home as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Clausen.

TO VALLEY ON THE morning of the Fourth, and home again in the evening, will go and come, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Folsom and their family—and to Broken Bow on Saturday to remain until after the Fourth will go Mrs. John Whitten and young son, John.

AND THERE ARE to be quite a few family parties—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woods, and their two children, together with Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger and their three children, will have a picnic at the Woods home the evening of the Fourth.

IT'S DINNER IN the evening at the Lincoln Country club for Mr. and Mrs. Leland Waters and children, Jimmy and Jane; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Waters, and Mr. and Mrs. John Champe—and for dinner at the Shrine Country club will be a group which includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, jr., Mrs. A. H. Edgren and her daughter, Marion Edgren, and son, Robert.

NEWS PICKED UP here and there—Miss Virginia Foster is recuperating at Bryan Memorial hospital following an operation for appendicitis early this morning.—Miss Grace Porter who has been spending several months in Winterhaven, Fla., is in Lincoln, and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Frampton—May go to Omaha for a short visit with friends next week, and return to Florida a few weeks hence.

GEORGE HENRY SAUER, who needs no introduction, will go to Chicago in August to play in the world's fair football game between an all-American team and the Chicago Bears, August 30. He goes to Chicago about two weeks and a half before the game is to be played.

THERE IS A possibility that Johnny Kraft, who has been playing in the trans-Mississippi golf tournament, may be in Lincoln for the Fourth, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walt. Anyway, he is expected in Lincoln rather soon en route to his home in Olwein, Ia., from the south. Mr. Kraft is physical education instructor in the Denver schools.

A LITTLE LOW-DOWN on the coming French-Astor nuptials—the Empress Eugene diamond, the trifling matter of thirty-two carats, is to remain among the Astor jewels—the wedding is at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon—the home is a four-story mansion—there will be two hundred guests — the traditional wedding music Lohengrin and Mendelssohn—wedding gifts are arriving hourly at "Chetwode" Mr. Astor's new estate, which includes a sunken Italian garden, a great hall panelled in crimson brocade, and a ballroom in gold and white, like a room in Versailles—the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor Dick Fiermonte, plans to attend the wedding, contrary to her previous declaration that she felt physically unable to stand the strain.

DID YOU KNOW that Mrs. John Helm, jr., formerly Miss Mary Brownell, is in a cast at Charlotte Swift hospital in Manhattan, as a result of an accident when she was thrown from her horse last week? Mrs. Helm, according to recent reports, is recovering nicely, although she must remain in the cast for six weeks.

CROXSON-DOUGLAS WEDDING IN OMAHA.

Miss Jane Millicent Croxson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Newton Croxson, of Omaha, was united in marriage with Howard Nicholson Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, also of that city at a home ceremony Thursday. For the service, read by the Rev. Dr. Frank Smith of First Central-Congregational church, the bridal party stood before the fireplace, with palms forming the background for the white satin prie dieu. White regal lilies banked the mantel and two tall candelabra were inset.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. F. J. Carpenter, of Arkadelphia, Ark., was Mrs. Douglas' only attendant, the day marking Mrs. Carpenter's fifty-eighth wedding anniversary. She was gowned in pink crepe, with a delicately embroidered cape of the same tone, and wore a white hat and accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias.

Donald Douglas served his brother as best man.

The bride wore a Lanvin model of aquamarine bangolin crepe, with a short jacket fashioned with long, tight sleeves. The deep collar was of shirred pink chiffon and lace. The slender gown lines fell into a train formed by four flounces widening from the hem of the skirt. Mrs. Douglas' hat was of pink horsehair in the smart wide mode finished with a velvet band in the shade of her gown. Her slippers were pink and she carried a lace handkerchief used by many Croxson brides and her mother's prayer book. She completed her costume with a shoulder corsage of pink orchids and pink lilies of the valley.

A wedding breakfast followed, with Mrs. John A. Carr of Lincoln and Mrs. Donald Douglas assisting. A silver bowl of white roses and lilies of the valley were placed on a plateau mirror, with tall white tapers in silver sticks on either side. The bride's and the groom's cakes were at each end of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas are motoring through the east and south, and will return to Omaha to reside. Mrs. Douglas is motoring in a white linen suit, with a blue and white linen blouse, a rough straw hat, and blue and white accessories.

Guests from Lincoln included Mrs. Ralph E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Carr, and son, John Carr, jr.

BUFFET LUNCHEON FOR MR. AND MRS. ROLOFSON.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rolofson, whose marriage took place Thursday evening, were honor guests at a buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock Friday, for which Mr. Rolofson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Rolofson were host and hostess at their home. Early summer flowers in tones of crimson and white were usedon the serving table. Included in the sixty guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knepper, Tarkio, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. George G. Knepper and son, Ralph, Skidmore, Mo.; Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Johnston and children, Robert, Ruth, and Mary, Perry, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Rolofson and sons, Rollin and Lawrence, and Miss Mary Neith, Cairo, Neb.; Miss Mary Keech, Chicago. The afternoon was passed informally.

The Aeolian orchestra met for a picnic Thursday evening at Antelope park. One hundred and ten members and their parents were present.

Plans Are Made By Hi-Y Club Officers For Strader Period

Plans for a Hi-Y period at Camp Strader were made by presidents of the various clubs at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. The camp will be held from September 14 to 16 and will include a program of recreation, inspirational talks and discussion of activity methods. Committees will correspond with other clubs throughout the state and nation to get the best information regarding practices for programs at meetings, social events, membership finances and organization. A limit of ten officers and members of each club was set. Those who had a part in making plans were Leland Berggren, Leon Eno and Harlan Graham of College View, Eldon Janda, Leonard Fulton of Havelock, Ray Williamson and Jim Anderson of Jackson and Dean Worcester of Lincoln. The other three Hi-Y clubs affiliated with the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. will participate in the camp.

In addition to the Hi-Y period at Camp Strader, tentative arrangements have been made for a number of other groups to meet at the camp after the end of the regular periods. These are boys from Methodist and Chistian churches of Valparaiso, August 13 to 18, Beatrice M. E. church Epworth league August 24 to 26, Nebraska Electric asociation, August 30 to September 4 and Second Baptist church officers September 23. Camp will be occupied by boys of 12 to 18 from July 2 to 11. A period for 9 to 11 year olds will be held from July 11 to 21. A group of young men and young women from the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will be in camp on July 21 and 22. Neighborhood clubs have aranged for a period from July 23 to 28.

MORE BUILDING IS ANTICIPATED

Housing Bill and Cut In Lumber To Help In Lincoln.

A substantial advance in Lincoln construction activities is expected by J. F. Durr, secretary of the Lincoln Builders bureau in the chamber of commerce, as a result of the enactment of the federal housing bill and the 10 per cent reduction in lumber prices.

"I know of several persons who have been planning to build homes in Lincoln, in some cases $10,000 and $12,000 structures, but have been waiting for a reduction in construction and financing costs," Mr. Durr reported.

Construction interests here are heartily in favor of the housing bill, Mr. Durr declared. Previous proposals of a like nature had been regarded as unsatisfactory, but the new act seems to meet general approval, he said.

Building permits have shown slight increases already, and more rapid gains in the near future can be expected, Mr. Durr said

MRS. FANNIE NORRIS IS 92 YEARS OLD

(Special to The Star)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., June 29—The ninety-third birthday of Mrs. Fannie C. Norris was celebrated at her home here Wednesday, with a dinner served to near relatives, which has been an annual custom for many years. Mrs. Norris came to Nebraska with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Giddings, in 1857 and has resided in Table Rock continuously since, with the exception of a few years which her husband, the late C. H. Norris, spent in the Indian service. Her father, Rev. Giddings, was the founder of Table Rock.

Mrs. Norris is the mother of ten children, seven of whom are living. Four of them were present for the celebration. C. I. Norris and Mrs. Sue Phillips of Table Rock; Mrs. Gertrude Cotton of Herringford, and Clinton Norris of Omaha. Children not present were Horace of Hyannis, Mass., Frank of Los Angeles, and Roy of Upton, Wy. A sister, Mrs. Lydia K. Holmes of Kansas City, who is two years younger than Mrs. Norris was also present.

COMPENSATION FOR WIDOWS BILL SIGNED

Announcement of Action on Farm Bankruptcy Measure Deferred.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt today approved a bill liberalizing laws covering compensation for World war widows and orphans.

The president also acted upon the farm mortgage moratorium and the railway pension bills, but deferred announcement of their disposition until he could prepare a statement later in the day.

Another day at the white house gives hm opportunity to look over more completely the personnel for the new stock exchange and communications commissions.

Mr. Roosevelt is listening to all classes of thought on the men to take over supervision of the stock exchanges and the nation's radio, telephone and telegraph services. He has conferred with Raymond Moley, former assistant secretary of state; Bernard M. Baruch, retired New York financier and economist; and Postmaster General Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Approved By Administration.

The widows and orphans measure was passed shortly before adjournment and had the approval of the administration. Chairman Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, of the house veterans committee estimated it would cost the government $4,000,000 annually. The act applies to the widows and children of veterans who had a minimum 30 per cent disability rating. The monthly rates are as follows:

Widow without child, $22; widow with one child, $30; with $4 for each additional child; one child without a mother $15; two orphan children $22 equally divided; three orphan children $30 equally divided, with $3 for each additional child, the total amount to be equally divided.

Widows who have remarried are not allowed the compensation and those who married veterans who died after July 3, 1931, are not eligible to the compensation.

RECEIVERSHIPS SUBJECT TO TAX

Law Removes Exemption From Properties In Bankruptcy.

Announcement that failed national banks and other federal receiverships will be subject to assessment and taxation in Nebraska this year, for the first time, was made Friday by State Tax Commissioner Smith, who has received notice to that effect from Washington.

A bill recently passed by congress and signed by the president provides specifically that any receiver, liquidator, referee, trustee, or other officer or agent appointed by a United States court to conduct the business of any institution in receivership or bankruptcy shall, in such capacity, be liable for payment of state and local taxes levied upon the business and property under his control, the same as if it were in the hands of a private person or corporation.

In the past, national bank receivers have refused to recognize the authority of the state or its subdivisions to tax property in their custody.

As a sort of return compliment for this concession made to local taxing authorities, the Nebraska banking department has agreed to extend for one year its existing mortgages held on live stock of farmers who are indebted to failed banks, where the owners of the animals are in difficulty due to drouth and are in need of assistance from the federal relief administration.

The extension will be allowed only on 10 animals, which is the maximum permitted by federal drouth relief regulations. Where surplus stock is sold by the farmer in order to become eligible for relief, the proceeds must be applied by him on the mortgage debt to the state receivership division before an extension on the remaining ten will be granted.

NORTH DAKOTA REMAINS 'DRY'

Voters Against Sale Of Liquor in State and Local Option.

FARGO, N. D., June 29—(AP)—North Dakota frowned on the sale of liquor within its borders in Wednesday's primary, voting to remain dry.

Returns from 926 of the state's 2,242 precincts showed 50,923 voted against intoxicating liquor while 36,407 advocated liquor sales.

The vote was virtually the same on local option, 49,947 voting against local option to 36,296 approving it.

H. A. Paap Asks $10,000 In Alienation Suit

Harry A. Paap has filed a $10,000 alienation of affections suit in district court against Carl Rodaway. Claim is made that Rodaway alienated the affections of Paap's wife, Ada Hensley Paap, and caused her to abandon her husband and five children. Rodaway and Mrs. Paap became acquainted while living as neighbors near Eagle about a year ago, it is claimed.

400 FERA JOBS ALLOTTED HERE

Resumption of Work At Fair Grounds Lessens Exposition Threat.

Herman Jobst, county FERA work relief director, announced Friday afternoon that the state relief committee allotted Lancaster county 400 men for next week and that he will put them to work on several projects Monday. Jobst said he has not decided fully which projects will be resumed, after the May 22 cessation, but declared that some of the men will be sent to the state fair grounds.

Jobst's announcement follows a declaration Friday morning by Perry Reed, secretary of the fair board, that unless work is started shortly on the fair grounds projects, it will be necessary to abandon the 1934 exposition. Reed said that it will require most of the time intervening between now and fair week to complete work on buildings and other projects and get the grounds into shape for the fair.

CORRECT NEMAHA TAX LIST.

Nemaha county assessment returns to the state tax commissioner's office, made public several days ag, which showed an apparent decrease of nearly $150.00 in total valuation below the 1933 figures, have been corrected by the county assessor, who now reports that one precinct was omitted. With the figures from this precinct added in, the total is raised to $20,011,505, or only $36,000 less than a year ago.

Wayne county's aggregate personal property and real estate are listed at $24,450,155, or $183,000 above the amount turned in a year ago. This is one of the few counties which also shows a gain on intangibles.

REV. HASSLER RETURNS.

After a three-year absence, Rev. Paul Hassler, formerly pastor of the Blue Hill Catholic church has returned to the Lincoln diocese. He will be stationed at St. Thomas' orphanage for the time being.

Now open from 8 a. m. 'till 10 p. m. including Sundays.

BETTY-LOU WILL REMEMBER THIS FROCK!

PATTERN 1913

BY ANNE ADAMS

Not every mother keeps in mind all the time quite how important a little girl's frocks are. Of course she should look pretty every day of her young life . . that goes without saying! But don't you remember your "little girl" frocks? Well, Betty-Lou is going to do the same thing. Here is a charming thing for her to recall. Epaulets that flare crisply over youthful shoulders and turn into a little cape in the back . . net, trim pleats which look smart and permit a girl to play to her heart's content. Lovely in swiss or dimity or voile.

Pattern 1913 is available in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 8 takes 2¼ yards 36 inch fabric and 3 1-8 yards edging. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the new Anne Adams pattern book for summer. Order your copy of this helpful new summer book. Price of book fifteen cents. Book and pattern together twenty-five cents.

GRAIN MEN SEEK REPEAL OF AAA SAYS TUGWELL

Defends Agriculture Act and Assails Wickham and Cutten.

BROOKINGS S D June 29—(AP)—Rexford G Tugwell said today that the 'grain trade is seeking the "repeal of the agricultural adjustment act

In this section ravaged by drouth the under secretary of agriculture urged an audience at a farm and home picnic to stand steadfast for the act and 'against the forces that desire no good for farmers"

He attacked both Thomas Wickham, chairman of the grain committee on national affairs, and Arthur Cutten, Chicago grain speculator.

"Oceans of crocodile tears' he said, "have been shed over your behalf by middlemen who asserted that all legislation enacted to benefit the farmer actually works to your injury"

Raps Wickham And Cutten.

He quoted Wickham as saving the farmer was shackled by the agricultural adjustment act

"Another middleman who has posed as a great friend of yours is Mr Arthur Cutten" Tugwell said adding that it seems 'significant that "during the period which Mr Cutten piously proclaimed his activities in supporting and providing a market for the grain farmers evidence developed by the government would indicate that he was selling short."

The processing taxes, levied on processing of farm commodities to reimburse growers for curtailing production were termed by Tugwell "the very heart' of the farm act.

"Of course, we are reluctant to plow under growing cotton leave fertile grain fields fallow and use other restrictive means But to meet the crisis, it was necessary to do these emergency things to raise the farmers' income

Used Only Means At Hand.

"It seems rather foolish to deny ourselves the natural abundance which is at hand yet if the farmer is to exist, if he is to be kept producing, a fair price is not only a matter of justice and decency, but necessary to assure a constant supply of basic necessities

"We used the only means at hand under the competitive and money economy, shocking as it seemed We used the well known industrial device of controlling production where there was need.

"And if idle acres, turned-under cotton and slaughtered little pigs constitute a symbol of sin, the indictment is against the whole system and not against the farmer who wanted to play the game and not the government which helped them do it"

generating plant swung against a switchboard

Rev Francis J Haas of Washington, chief conciliator of the National labor board, said after a conference with S B Way, utility president, that he had found the "company's position is unchanged."

He said Way was still adamant to the requests of organized labor for a vote of employes as to what type of collective bargaining representatives they wish

Utility Chief Assailed.

Way, who yesterday was the target of an attack by Mayor D W Hoan, who charged him with being the cause of the strike and consequent violence received another verbal blow from George M Harris, chairman of the local NRA compliance bureau

"The situation is intolerable" said Harris. "It is absurd that transportation be refused because the president of the company owning a transportation system refuses to conform with the laws of the United States."

He declared Way guilty of violation of the NRA for discharge of eight men for union activities

Zaro Agha Succumbs At Age Of 160

Science's Doubts About Longevity Partial Cause of Death.

ISTANBUL Turkey June 29—(AP)—Death caught up today with Zaro Agha Turkey's Methuselah who once boasted he would live forever

The picturesque old man who claimed 160 years and felt deeply hurt when anyone doubted it died—

ZARO AGHA.

by a quirk of fate—in the Children's hospital

Worried Over Skepticism.

For two months Zaro Agha whose longevity brought him from obscurity to world fame and Broadway when he was 'past 150 had been ill

He was suffering from a variety of ailments including Bright's disease and gland and bladder disorders Physicians said a contributing cause to his death was worry over science's skepticism of his age

Probably his proudest possession was a certificate purporting to show he was born in 1774—before the American colonies declared war on Great Britain

Had 11 Wives.

Zaro had buried 10 wives and had another desert him No 11 got angry six years ago when her aged husband decided he wanted a 12th wife—one young and pretty—and refused to come home after playing around in New York and London.

The number of children? Zaro boasted that at 96 his 36th offspring was born

GAINS CITED IN A REPORT TO COUNTRY

'fascism sometimes 'communism' sometimes regimentation,' sometimes 'socialism'

"But in so doing they are trying to make very complex and theoretical something that is really very simple and very practical

'I believe in practical explanations and in practical policies I believe that what we are doing today is a necessary fulfillment of what Americans have always been doing—a fulfillment of old and tested American ideals"

To illustrate, he told how the white house office building would be enlarged and modernized while he was away on his sea trip.

'But the structural lines of the old executive office building will remain," he said

"The artistic lines of the white house buildings were the creations of master builders when our republic was young. The simplicity and strength of the structure remain in the face of every modern test But within this magnificent pattern, the necessities of modern government business require constant reorganization and rebuilding."

Sees Big Relief Expenditures.

Declaring that in a land of vast resources no one should be permitted to starve, he said relief would call for large expenditures for some time

The paralysis that made this necessary, he said, "arose as the after-effect of that unfortunate decade characterized by a mad chase for unearned riches and an unwillingness of leaders in almost every walk of life to look beyond their own schemes and speculations"

Reform and reconstruction are necessary, he said—"reform because much of our trouble x x x has been due to a lack of understanding of the elementary principles of justice and fairness by those in whom leadership in business and finance was placed—reconstruction because new conditions in our economic life as well as old but neglected conditions had to be corrected"

After citing statistics to show progress of recovery, he said

"But the simplest way for each of you to judge recovery lies in the plain facts of your own individual situation Are you better off than you were last year? Are your debts less burdensome? Is your bank account more secure? Are your working conditions better? Is your faith in your own individual future more firmly grounded?

"Also, let me put to you another simple question Have you as an individual paid too high a price for these gains?

"Plausible self-seekers and theoretical die-hards will tell you of the loss of individual liberty. Answer this question also out of the facts of your own life Have you lost any of your rights or liberty or constitutional freedom of action and choice?

"Turn to the bill of rights of the constitution, which I have solemnly sworn to maintain and under which your freedom rests secure . . I have no question in my mind as to what your answer will be"

SIMON'S TO ADD TO STORE SPACE

The main floor of the building at 1215 O has been taken, on a long lease, by the Mangel Stores of New York City, who operate a chain of ladies ready to wear stores in approximately 60 cities Remodeling will start at once and the firm, which features ladies ready to wear at popular prices will open for business about August 1 An elaborate new store front will be installed.

The properties involved in the transactions are owned by Miller and Paine and the leasing arrangements were effected by C. C Kimball AGAINST SEX FILMS.

OMAHA, June 29—(AP)—Independent motion picture exhibitors in the Omaha territory, meeting here, passed a resolution against the production of "sex and salacious" films and the "system that requires independent theaters owners to buy and exhibit pictures in blocks"

Sour Revenge.

CHARLOTTE, N S., June 29—(AP)—Margaret Smith went for a ride and walked home. The next afternoon she thought she saw the man's automobile outside a cafe, so she took a nice, big stone and pitched it through the windshield.

Grrrrrr!' growled W. H. Wingate, middle-aged and highly respectable owner of the car

"My mistake," gasped Margaret.

Said the judge "Five Dollars."

ALL DEFENDANTS IN RIOT CASE FOUND GUILTY

Sherman county There are no capitalists but too many poor people in Sherman county Ninety per cent of them are farmers"

The judge talked about the evils of communism and urged Booth a young man to change his ways

The case had been on trial three days when it went to the jury late yesterday The jurors reached an agreement after about four hours deliberation but their verdict was not returned until this morning

Charges have been filed against two other persons — Burt Sells, prominent Arcadia business man and father of Portius, and Harry Smith Grand Island organizer. Sells was injured so badly in the fight that he could not stand trial now, and Smith has not been caught Deliberated 4 Hours.

LOUP CITY, Neb, June 28—(AP)—A County court jury of six farmers returned a sealed verdict at 11 15 o clock Thursday night after deliberating for about four hours the charge of rioting against seven persons in connection with a hand to hand battle on the court house lawn here June 14.

The case was brought to a close by final arguments, in which County Attorney W. H. Lane was the first speaker R. P. Starr of Loup City and David J. Bentall of Chicago, defense attorneys, next presented their arguments, and Assistant Attorney General William Wright closed for the state The jurors began their consideration of the case about 7 30 p. m.

Intimidating Letters.

An attempt was made late Thursday to intimidate County Judge E W Moehnert, presiding at the trial. The incident occurred shortly before the case was scheduled to be placed in the hands of the jury, Moehnert revealed to friends

The judge made no comment, but in the presence of state and defense counsel asked jurors if any attempt had been made to communicate with them since the trial started and was told that no one had been approached

While testimony was being taken in the trial, the judge received a letter dated Box 802 Omaha, June 26 and signed by the Omaha Provisional committee, American League Against War and Fascism, it said

"Judge—We, at a mass meeting of 200 persons in Omaha, June 25 demand the freedom of Mother Bloor and the other workers

"We hold you and your masters responsible for this unlawful fascist terror upon these workers who have guts enough to demand the right to live as humans should.

"We protest against this fascist terror used against these Nebraska workers.

"The power of the organized working class will expose whose interests you protect—the bosses of Sherman county and the damnable capitalistic system.

"We demand the freedom of Mother Bloor and her fellow workers"

Mrs. Bloor Testifies.

Mrs. Ella Bloor Omholt of Grand Island testified at the trial she is a member of the national executive committee of the American League Against War and Fascism She is one of the seven on trial here for rioting

County Attorney Lane, Deputy State Sheriff Dudschus and other officials connected with the case also revealed that they had received messages of threat or intimidation. Defense attorneys said they also had received such letters but that they paid little attention to them. Federal postal officials and state officers were notified of the letter to the judge.

Well Known Here.

"Mother" Bloor has frequently spoken in Lincoln, and was prominent in the "farmers' march on the state capitol in February 1933.

Her alleged membership in and activity for communistic organizations are listed in the recent book, "The Red Network" by Elizabeth Dilling who lists 1,300 outstanding "radicals" in the United States

Pair Bound Over.

OMAHA June 29—(AP)—Charged with conspiracy to defraud the government two Omaha men J Lyle Van Valin and Wallace Manion were bound over to the federal grand jury today by United States Commissioner Mary Mullen, after postal inspectors had described the pair's complex operations in special delivery stamps through the Strang Neb, postoffice Bert L. Christiancy, postmaster at Strang for 11 years was chief witness for the government

FOUR ARE INJURED.

FREMONT, Neb June 29—(AP)—Four Omaha people were injured seriously when the car in which they were riding skidded at a highway curve eight miles east of here, overturned and crashed into a ditch early today

The women occupants of the car, Mrs Harley S Goodenough, 50 and Miss Ethel Barquist 28 were injured seriously They were riding with Mr Goodenough and Glen Hunemar who escaped with severe bruises The women suffered fractured ribs and possible internal injuries All were brought to a local hospital

Mercury Checked.

The rain held the mercury in temporary check early Friday morning the 8 o clock reading being 76 degrees as compared to an 86-degree mark at that hour on the two previous days High humidity, however, offset any relief that might have been afforded by the lower temperature After Thursday's high reading of 103 degrees at 3 and 4 o clock, the mercury hit its low point with a 73 degree reading at 7 o clock

In the western part of the state no rain was recorded with the exception of 02 of an inch at North Platte and showers at Max and Stratton

The weather bureau reported high temperatures Thursday as North Platte, 102, Omaha, 104, Valentine, 96, and Sioux City, 102

Twister Near Elgin.

ELGIN, Neb June 29 — (AP) — Striking between 8 and 9 o'clock last night a twister left considerable damage in its wake at the farm of Mrs. Mary Mackel northeast of Elgin

Several small buildings were demolished the farm home damaged, trees uprooted and telephone wires torn from their posts No one was hurt. So far as could be learned the twister struck no other place

A substantial rain that measured one inch or more fell in Elgin and over a wide territory northwest of here last night

Good Rains Northeast.

NORFOLK, Neb, June 29—(AP)—Generous rains ranging from one-half inch to an inch and a half fell in some sections of northeast Nebraska last night, bringing relief to crops and pastures but the moisture failed to crack the heat wave that drove the mercury to the 104-degree mark in Norfolk yesterday afternoon and to 106 the day before.

An inch rain was reported at Neligh One-half inch of moisture fell between Oakdale and Norfolk, while light rains struck Bonesteel S D, and Anoka A shower fell at Scribner sprinkles at Fullerton, Randolph and Spencer and one-half inch at West Point

Norfolk was benefited by a 68 of an inch rain that brought the June total to 3.36 inches which is below normal

COURT ASKED TO OUST RECEIVERS LINCOLN HAIL CO.

transferred to Herdman's department

The state officials are asked to repay the company for alleged "funds expended or squandered, wasted or disbursed unlawfully or without authority of the court" This request is made in connection with an alleged claim in the petition that the officials have expended 'about $50 000," from the loss fund of the insurance company without paying any hail losses"

An attack on the constitutionality of the 1933 law revising code departments of the state government is included in the application, and the court is asked to hold this law invalid. The code bill attack is made on the claim that the transfer of control of the Lincoln Hail company from the department of trade and commerce to the department of insurance was unlawful because of the alleged unconstitutionality of the act.

Seek Liquidation.

The court is asked further to appoint 'a competent person or persons to take the Lincoln Hail with instructions to discontinue the company as a going concern and 'pay its losses with funds recovered from the defendants or their bondsmen if they have bondsmen"

The intervening policy holders who claim they hold claims on adjusted but unpaid hail losses in a total amount of more than $30 000 are Ludwig A. Bonnemeier, Walter M Stroy Louis Kupke, Bernard E Grady, John W Fox John Gustafson N V Newham, Leonard Jerome Charles R. Stander and Edgar Carlson.

Accompanying the petition of intervention is an objection filed by the same men to an application made June 14 by the department of insurance for authorization to transfer $500 from the company's hail loss fund to the expense fund Allegation is made that moneys can under state law be drawn from the loss fund only for losses

TOOK PILLS FOR YEARS THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrected His Constipation

If you are troubled by common constipation, read this letter:

"Just a word in appreciation of what your ALL-BRAN has done for my health. For years, I had been doping myself with pills and other dopes for constipation.

"I decided to try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Now I am in good health, and haven't taken a drop of medicine for six months."—Thos. F. Little, 564 E. Wheeling St., Lancaster, Ohio.

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness—any one of these may be caused by common constipation. Yet this condition can be corrected, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to help promote regularity. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much safer than patent medicines! Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal

If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Get ALL-BRAN, and not a part-bran product. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Operate on Wisherd.

Dr Pittman's topic at the morning session was 'A Supervisory Program for Rural Schools in Nebraska" In the afternoon, he spoke on "The Supervisory Program Applied to the Field of Rearing"

Must Teach Parents.

The opening session of the last day's meeting heard Miss Alice Sowers speak on 'The Contribution Which Parent Education Makes to School Education" She urged that educators make parents realize their importance as educators "The first six years of a child's life should not be wasted How many parents do we know that let children do as they will and only say 'You just wait till you start to school, the teacher will straighten you out'"

"The teacher will do it to be sure, and she'll straighten up 30 or 40 others, too But education begins at home and we know now that many of the problems of elementary secondary and even college students can be traced to something in the pre-school era It is the teacher's job to make parents realize that."

'The natural sciences have devised an exactive method of thinking which if applied with proper caution can end will solve many of our social problems" Dr. P. G Johnson of the University of Nebraska told the audience "It is important that the student be given not only the problem to solve but that he be given the means with which the problem may be solved"

"Influences of the Social Sciences on the Reading Program of the Elementary School" was the topic chosen by Miss Alice Cusack She said social sciences have changed not only the methods of teaching reading but the materials "The reading program now must be taught so that the student gets some value from it for his own society That is he must learn something more from it than just how to read"

At noon Miss Eva B Shuman presided at a luncheon at the Y W C A Miss Chloe Baldridge was the presiding officer at the morning session and Mrs. Alberta Ballance had charge of the afternoon meetings

The FLAG GOES BY!

Since man first left the chase and the nomadic way of existence, and settled down to living, he has looked to some standard which represented his ideals.

The Egyptians and the Assyrians carried staffs bearing emblems. The Persians bore an eagle fixed to the end of a lance. The Greeks had a piece of armor on a spear. The Romans had their vexillum and, later, their labarum of purple silk embroidered with gold.

The organized way of life has always had its ensign. Today, the great manufacturing companies that provide the means of existence—food, clothing, shelter—have their standards, their trade-marks, of which they are as jealous as ever was any people of its flag.

Hats off to the modern trade-mark—symbol of reliability, square dealing, guarantee of your money's worth! Whatever you buy, be sure it bears a familiar, advertised trademark, and you can be sure the money you spend for it is well-spent.

Henry Cotton Captures British Open Title

BY F. A. WRAY.

SANDWICH, Eng., June 29—(INS)—Henry Cotton, an Englishman, scored a home-bred victory in the British open golf championship today for the first time since 1923 when he finished the 72 holes with a score of 283, tieing Gene Sarazen's record for the championship.

Cotton, with preceding rounds of 67, 65 and 72 had the record absolutely at his mercy but blew higher than a kite in the final round this afternoon to take a 79, seven strokes over par. However, he was too far ahead of his field to really endanger his status, Cotton having entered the final round ten strokes ahead of Joe Kirkwood, the American, in second place.

Kirkwood Also Blows.

But, at the same time, he made it pretty difficult for himself. With everything, including practically all records for this championship, in his favor, he let the antics of the biased, pro-British gallery get under his skin and, messing around to take four strokes to reach the first green, he was off on his only mediocre round of the event. He finally got so that he couldn't hit an iron shot to any green and his miraculous putting touch deserted him simultaneously, with the result that he became fretful and distrait.

The crowd of 10,000, all a-twitter over his renaissance of British golf, simply ran all over Cotton and, for a time, seemed capable of doing to him what it had done to MacDonald Smith in 1925—root him out of the title.

Back Performance Is History.

However, even though Cotton "backed into" the championship, his performance here established history. As he started out this afternoon, he was 12 under par for 54 holes of the actual event and 17 under par for 120 holes played this week, including the 36 holes qualifying round. On the first day of this, he shot a 66 at St. George's to tie Bobby Jones qualifying record. In the first round he shot a 67 to tie Walter Hagen's championship low round. In the second round, he shot a 65 to break all low-score records for major championships in England and America.

Then he shot a 72 in the third round this morning to finish with a record 204. He needed only a 78 this afternoon for another record. But fate decreed otherwise.

It also decreed that, for once, America was to finish far back in the ruck. It had won this championship ten times hand running and in twelve out of the last thirteen years. It was more than a monopoly; it was a habit.

Yank Monopoly Broken.

But all things must end some time and the end of American dominion, not at all evident at any time in this event, came late today when Joe Kirkwood finished with a 78 for a total of 292 and a tie with Mac Smith, another American, who shot two brilliant 72's today. However, these scores did not even earn second money, as S. F. Brews, South Africa, held that position, with some of the contenders still out on the course, and Alf Padgham, the Englishman, ranked third.

Brews shot a 71 in the fourth round for a total of 288. Padgham, in second place overnight, came through with a 75 and a 74 today for a total of 290.

Meantime, Denny Shute, defending champion from America, had put on a sorry finish. He had a 79 this morning and a 78 this afternoon for a total of 300. As for Gene Sarazen, 1932 champion from America, he started the day with a total of 148, had a 77 this morning and then went to the turn in an indifferent 39.

Kirkwood Fumbles Chance.

However, Kirkwood's first nine this afternoon was more disconcerting, in that Joe had a real chance in the face of Cotton's sudden reversal. But the American took a 7 on the fifth and a 6 on the seventh and was finished for the day, although he did rally a bit, coming home.

It was at this point that Cotton's supremacy became slightly threatened for the first time. He started back with three 5's but just when the roaring gallery was beginning to worry, Cotton got hold of himself and played even pars the rest of the way to make his title secure. Cotton's card:

Fourth round—

Out ..5 4 3 4 6 4 6 3 5—40

In ...5 5 5 4 4 4 3 4 5—38—79—283

As he holed out the final putt, the tense gallery broke down the flood gates of its emotions and liberally mobbed its hero. They say that this same Cotton was literally booed off Prince's course in 1932 for some fancied grievance on the part of the public but today it rushed upon him like a long-lost friend and bore him away on its shoulders in triumph.

Crowd Cheers Cotton.

Well it might, too. Since Jock Hutchison first took this title back to America in 1921, only one Englishman has been able to win it—Arthur Havers back in 1923. Otherwise, it has been strictly an American institution with Walter Hagen taking it home four times, Bobby Jones thrice and individual victories being scored by Gene Sarazen, Denny Shute, Tommy Armour and Jim Barnes.

So this was a red-letter day in British golf and its gallery gladly forgave Cotton everything, even his failure to beat Sarazen's record when he had it in the palm of his hand.

Crowd Always In Way.

But if Cotton failed, the crowd had much to do with it, for its bluster and boisterousness heightened his plainly nervous condition and, at the eighteenth, caused him to putt timorously where he might have been bold.

Here he was in a bunker with his approach but came out beautifully, 4 feet from the cup. With this meagre putt and the record staring him in the face, Henry flinched on the stroke and it edged to the left of the cup. Nevertheless, everybody was satisfied. He had restored British prestige to the niche it occupied so many years ago.

Sarazen Posts 302.

Sarazen finally came in with a 39-41—80 for a total of 302 and, without doubt, his weakest showing of any championship of the last decade. Knowing himself to be out of it, after being eighteen strokes behind the leader at the close of the morning's round, Sarazen made no attempt to apply pressure this afternoon and merely finished out the string. And like all competitors today, his shots were greatly affected by the prevailing high winds.

This completed the American rout, by the way. Of a number of rounds here under 70, only one, Kirkwood's 69 of the second day, belonged to an American. Mac Smith, following his 77 of the first day, played successive rounds of 71, 72, 72 to be a stroke under par for the last 54 holes. Kirkwood tied the low round of the day with a 71 this morning and was good all the way until he blew in the final round. Sarazen, of course, was never himself at any time.

As for Shute, he was in a tie for third place overnight, eleven strokes behind the leader. But today he could neither putt nor play an iron and his game collapsed utterly.

FAVOR GOODMAN WIN AT DALLAS

Lawson Little Among the First Round Losers In 'Sippi Meet.

DALLAS, Tex., June 29—(INS)—Johnny Goodman, Omaha's brash, blond young golfer, was odds-on favorite to cop the thirty-fourth annual transMississippi tournament today. In a day crammed with startling upsets, that saw three advance favorites bow in as many stiff links battles, Goodman marched into the second round yesterday with a brilliant 6-5 victory over M. L. (Hap) Massengill, of Fort Worth.

Only Johnny Dawson, Chicago's natty amateur, was conceded a chance to beat out the former national open champion. Dawson won an uphill fight from Fred Haas of New Orleans, 2 up.

Most jarring upset of the first rounds was Zell Eaton's smashing 2 to 1 victory over W. Lawson Little, San Francisco's British amateur champion and the prime favorite prior to yesterday's play. Eaton marched coolly along, matching stroke for stroke with the husky west coast golfer. He never went down to Little, grabbing his first advantage with a win on No. 8, when Little overshot the green and overplayed his trap shot. Little muffed a chance to come back on the ninth when he rimmed the cup with a four-footer, and from that point on Eaton was invincible.

JACOBS WINNER IN THREE SETS

American Champ Given Scare By Young English Player.

BY CHARLES A. SMITH.

WIMBLEDON, June 29—(INS)—Joan Ingram, a 24-year old British girl, gave a packed gallery at the all-England tennis championships a thrill today when she took the opening set of her match from Helen Jacobs, American queen of the courts.

Helen was far off her game at the start but after dropping the first set, 4-6, she gradually settled down and ran out the next two and the match, 6-4,6-1.

While Queen Helen was giving the fans a thrill with reverse English, Sidney Wood, the slender blond from New York, was breaking the American ranks on an outside court by eliminating his countryman, David N. Jones, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Queen Helen Off Form.

Miss Jacobs was listless when she appeared in her customary shorts. Her back hand was erratic, her ground strokes faulty and she often found the net when she had the easiest kind of returns.

Helen was still obviously off form in the second set but she had enough to squeeze through against an opponent she far outclasses. Then she hit her stride in the third set and quickly ran out the set to enter the fourth round.

The first round of the men's doubles got under way with a victory for Breese-Reed, an American-British pair, who defeated Kleinschroth-Menzel, German-Czech duo, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Mlle. Lolette Payto, Switzerland's No. 1, eliminated Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, who is France's second ranking star, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. In a fourth round match, Fraulein Cilli Aussem defeated Freda James, England, 6-2, 6-1.

Crawford Wins Again.

Jack Crawford, Australia's defending champion, eliminated J. Yamagishi, Japanese star, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

At this point Prince George of England and Princess Juliana of Holland entered the royal box and were interested spectators as little Sarah Palfrey of Boston eliminated Kitty McKane Godfree who was the last British girl to win the Wimbledon title. The scores were 6-3, 6-1. This was a third round match.

In a fourth round match, Mme. Simone Mathieu who has been France's No. 1 for many years, defeated Fraulein Marie-Louis Horn of Germany, 7-5, 6-2.

Stoeffen Marches Along.

Shields and Sharpe advanced to the third round of the men's doubles by eliminating the Britishers, Collins and Frank, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, in a match featured by Shield's brilliant serving.

Stoeffen will meet Crawford in the quarter-finals. Lester played a sizzling game today. He forced Lee into many errors and his smashing cross court drives drew salvos of applause from the gallery. His backhand has improved 100 per cent and many experts believe he may be a finalist. In any event, his match with Crawford promises to be the best of the tournament.

Bunny Austin playing in shorts as usual, easily defeated Ladislaus Hecht, Czech Davis cup star, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2. At no time was the little Britisher forced to show his best stuff.

Three weeks ago a shortstop, making his first start on the mound this year, handed the Roberts Dairy team a setback. Thursday evening Wendelin employed the pitching services of Davy Bork, regular catcher, and the Dairymen again lost, 6-4, to drop into a tie for first place with the Powermen, with Wendelin and City just one game behind and Hardy only one more game in the rear.

Paul Amen, league-leading hitter, boosted his mark a few points by hitting twice in as many tries. It was the five-run rally in the third, produced by three hits and some Milkmen misplays, which gave the game to Wendelin. Both teams had patched lineups Roberts playing without Frank Ullstrom and Al Wintersteen, while Vergil Yelkin was absent and George Sauer warmed the bench after arriving late for the Bakers. Score:

St. Paul Franchise on Road To Peoria

ST. PAUL, June 29—(AP)—After 32 years with an organized baseball club, St. Paul today seemed destined to lose its American association franchise.

Efforts to keep the club here apparently have failed and indications were that President R. J. Connery would accept an offer to move the team to Peoria, Ill., where business interests were reported ready to buy.

Connery was expected to leave for Peoria today, following failure of local business men to complete financial arrangements for keeping the club here. Poor attendance prompted Connery in his decision to sell the Saints, who have been a member of the association since it was founded in 1902.

GIANTS RETURN FROM ROAD TRIP

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 29—(INS)—Bill Terry, the man who seems bent on making discourtesy popular and even fashionable, came back to town last night at the head of the league-leading New York Giants and, if there were no badge-wearers and brass bands down at the depot, neither was there a committee with rope, torch and a bucket of tar. In other words, it looks as though William is going to get away with it and, frankly, it would be most difficult for him to miss. After all, there is no known way to reasonably disapprove of success.

For if one tries, one's position rapidly becomes untenable, this being the reason that nothing whatsoever has come of the famous feud between Terry and the newspapermen. They can't very well keep complaining about a man who is either going to win a pennant with a second-place ball club or make it so close that they'll have to wait for the pictures.

Critics Eat Crow.

There was a time during a recent western trip when his newspaper critics had a chance, the Giants having fallen all the way down to fourth place. But now that's all over with, the Giants are first by a game and a half and it looks like a repetition of the Tunney incident in which some sports writers, with cold malice in their hearts, had to sit down and write glowing descriptions of his strategy and style for the papers.

But Terry is no Tunney. The latter secretly craved popularity and was tremendously nonplussed by the fact that he didn't get it. Whereas Terry feels that it is nothing out of his lunch box and conducts himself accordingly. He's the man who walks alone—and anybody is at liberty to follow, if they wish. I feel impelled to add that his ball club has found this profitable, having followed him into a world's championship nine months ago and first place now.

However, there was a time some years ago when Terry did not seem entirely unsociable. He used to sing trios as a matter of fact, with Freddie Lindstrom and the writer and everything seemed very mellow and human. But now Lindstrom is in Pittsburgh and the last I heard of Terry he was sending his felicitations through a third party. I had asked the third party to inquire just what was the matter with the Giants during that previous western trip.

Terry Cracks Wise.

"You tell that guy," Terry is purported to have said, "that he ought to know. He seems to know everything else."

Maybe my reaction to this wasn't what it should have been. I found it amusing, bcause it showed that even in adversity Terry was consistent in his austerity, and there was a certain appeal about it, too, because with a man like that you always know where you stand, which, roughly speaking, is out in the vestibule. That invariably simplifies matters.

As for the now decrepit New York feud—there are others not so inactive elsewhere—I should say that the former failed equally because of Terry's success and its own fundamental weakness. It was based rather negatively on the fact that he didn't like us. But who is to say that this is imperative? There are times when I don't like us, either.

HEINE MANUSH LEADS LEAGUE

BY PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, June 29—(INS)—It takes a salamander to stand the gaff these days when bleacherites are shedding their shirts and ball parks are baked hard as a wrestler's skull.

Heat's supposed to help old ball players and this is true to a certain extent. It loosens up aged pitching arms. But it certainly is no bargain to the rest of them, especially the old timers whose aged dogs will bark more and more through the next two months.

Started With Ty Cobb.

It seems only yesterday Heinie was a big raw rookie trying to break into Ty Cobb's outfield at Detroit. But a glance at the records shows that it's been eight years since Heinie led the American league in hitting with a fancy .377 average. Yet here he is making threatening gestures at leading the pack again and hitting better than ever. In fact, Heinie's well over the the .400 mark and busting all kinds of pitching with what the boys in our gas house set call great eclat.

Hot or cold, win or lose, Heinie is always in there doing his stuff and it was no fault of his yesterday that the Yanks knocked off the Senators, 4 to 0. Red Ruffing gave the Senators only three hits but two of those three went to tough old Heinie and his double was the only extra base hit of the game.

Monte Weaver, the school teaching pitcher, stepped right along with Red until the fifth when he wilted and the Yanks bunched five hits for three runs.

Dietrich Baffles Red Sox.

Bill Dietrich, Connie Mack's young thrower, also had a great game up his sleeve. Bill held the Red Sox to five hits and breezed in, 7 to 1.

The Athletics knocked Welch out of the box in the opening stanza when they shoved across five markers, but they could have won even without these runs for in the second heat Jimmy Foxx smacked his 21st homer and Bob Johnson got his 23rd off Herb Pennock in the eighth to remain at the head of the home run derby.

Another pair of veterans, Sam Jones of the White Sox and Fred Marberry of what Mickey Cochrane is pleased to call his battling Bengals hooked up in a neat pitching duel six innings. Then Fred wilted and the Sox shot over six runs, the main spring in this cluster being a homer by Bonura.

The heat got old Sam the same inning and he too started to fade, and the relief corps got on the job. The Bengals tied it up in the ninth and won out, 8 to 7, on doubles by Gehringer and Greenberg.

Beatrice and Lincoln In Three-Game Stand At Landis Ball Yard

The Links are back home again tonight for an all-important series with Beatrice. The Blues, a tough nut for Lincoln to crack this season, took two of three games from the capital city club in the series just closed at the Gage county seat. The three-game stand opening tonight will afford the Links an opportunity for revenge. The game starts at 8:30 and ladies will be admitted free Friday and Saturday nights.

Expect Large Crowds.

Manager Pug Griffin of the Links is anticipating large crowds at Landis field for the series, having received word that the Beatrice outfit will be backed by a large delegation of fans from the Queen City.

Beatrice has been the pace team for the past few years, with Lincoln on the bottom. This season, with a new management at the Capital City, the Links have maintained their margin over Beatrice from the beginning of the season. The margin has sagged dangerously close, however, the Blues coming within four and one-half games following Thursday's mixup.

Seats May Pitch.

Just who will toil on the mound tonight for the leaders is doubtful. It is Tom Seats' turn, but the showing made by the springy lefthander in his last few games may lead Managers Pug Griffin and Cy Lingle to try another chucker.

The hospital list for the Lincoln club has a new addition in Jim Callahan, who sprained an ankle Wednesday and will be out of the game until the northern trip next week. Al Filbert may be able to return to the wars Friday or Saturday, but Ray Zimmerman still is hobbling around in center field with a "knot" in his leg.

Beat Blues Thursday.

The Links Thursday won a 4-2 victory from the Blues to salvage one game out of the series at Beatrice, with Nelson Potter holding the losers to five scattered hits. All Friday and Saturday nights games will start at 8:30.

Norfolk spanked Sioux Falls, 5-4 Thursday evening. Scores:

CORUM'S CHATTER

By BILL CORUM.

NEW YORK, June 29—(INS)—The little gentleman of Queensbury, who is Tony Canzoneri in case you are not familiar with the boys in our set, came back to the resin pit at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, last night with all his guns booming.

By scoring a technical knockout over game little Frankie Klick in the ninth round of a 10-round fight, the thumping Tony clearly earned a second shot at Barney Ross, lightweight title, and if there is justice in boxing he will get it.

It was not so long ago that Klick fought a catchweights draw with Ross in California and sent the champion out of the ring wit ha badly puffed eye.

Last night the puffed eye was in the other face—Klick's. A right-hand smash to the optic that struck with the gong ending the fourth round started the fighting Brooklyn Italian on the road to victory and up the comeback trail. That is, if he has ever been away. I don't think personally that he has.

Perhaps it is not much for us to crow about, a non-title lightweight fight decided before some 15,000 souls in Brooklyn. But we must have something to silence Pat Frayne, Mark Kelly, Jim Tully, T. Laird and the rest of 'em, now and then.

It may not have been much but it was mall break in the California swep, a tiny leak in the dam, and we should be thinkful for small favors the way those native sons have been going around here this season.

AND of all things, it had to be a California prune that brought it about, for that was exactly what Klick's eye looked like after the fifth round—an oversize California prune. Or is an oversize California prune a watermelon? Well, it wasn't quite that big but it was big enough.

Big enough to have Klick blind in the eighth and ninth, though he kept punching, punching, punching, like the truly game kid he is. He is no bad fighter, Mr. Klick. Not great. But not bad, either. It was the first peep I had ever had of him, and in fairness I must say that if Tony hadn't hung that shiner on him he would have annoyed the little gentleman of Queensbury no little.

He is a tricky punching, annoying like fighter, the Friscoan, with a style peculiarly his own. Sometimes he looks as though his joints worked on hinges and every now and then he would yank 'em back and forth when sparring, like a guy opening and shutting a door.

Champion Barney Ross did not see the fight of his most dangerous lightweight rivals although he is in New York. He was on the other side of the bridge in a motion picture theater, where all good champions go when they get to be champions.

Mr. Max Baer, in person, opened in a rival theater down the street from Ross yesterday, and I am told that he left the audience, largely composed of ladies, standing and cheering when he sang them a soft good-bye.

He sings three songs and sings them well or at least they sound all right to a fellow who doesn't know anything about music. They are good enough, at any rate, to earn him 6,000 potatoes a week, which is pretty good singing in all languages including the Scandinavian. What a remarkable gent!

BECAUSE of the injury to Klick's eye it was difficult to tell just how good Canzoneri might have been if he had been forced to the limit. But with Frankie peering courageously from only one peeper, Tony was cagey.

Indeed, he was as slick as the inside of a ripe tomato. He kept walking around on Klick's blind side and hooking him with a jolting left Frankie couldn't see. He only knew it was there. He couldn't well have failed to know that. Tony was constantly reminding him.

Canzoneri also took Frank's Fourth of July slam without seeming to suffer much from it, except perhaps once in the fourth when Klick staggered him with a right that made the white mouthpiece he always wears pop through his lips.

Barney is going to have to beat our boy one more time to make it take with me.

Eastern Unknown Upsets Champion

PHILADELPHIA, June 29—(AP)—An 18 year old Massachusetts youth with a fondness for playing in his bare feet put on his socks and shoes and knocked the nationa lintercollegiate tennis crown from Jack Tidball's head.

So no one would misunderstand his clothing of the pedal digits—bare in earlier matches—as a "kowtow" to court rotalty, the champion killer, Gilbert Hunt, accosted the west coast titlist before their tilt at the Merion Cricket club yesterday and boasted:

Tidball didn't. The new England champion blanketed the star from the University of California at Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-1, and gave the east high hopes of regaining the intercollegiate throne after a six-year abdication.

In the semi-finals today, Hunt pits his strokes against those of Billy Reese, Georgia Tech ace who furnished yesterday's second big upset by trimming Martin Buxby, Texas, seeded No. 3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Stock Market Values Drift Lower, Although Subjected To No Especial Pressure

Exchange Close Is Rather Heavy

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—

Although subjected to no especial pressure, stocks drifted lower today. A reaction in grains may have been a depressing factor. At the same time speculators apparently could find no immediate argument in the president's address for either buying or selling. The close was rather heavy. Transfers approximated only 460,000 shares.

The dullness of trading was the only feature of the day's proceedings, most equities seemingly declined of their own weight. A few food company issues, however, displayed resistance.

The reversal in grain trends found wheat and corn losing 1 to more than 2 cents a bushel. Cooler temperatures and some moisture relief was said to have induced the downturn. Cotton was a laggard. Rubber did little, but silver futures were again in demand at higher levels. Bonds were irregular and the dollar was firm in relation to leading foreign exchanges.

Rail stocks did not respond to the report on freight car loadings for the week ended June 23, which showed a somewhat more than seasonal increase of 4 223 cars. Livestock and grain shipments accounted for the principal gains.

Share losers of 1 to around 2 points included U. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Eastman Kodak, American Telephone, Westinghouse, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Auburn, Chrysler, Santa Fe, New York Central, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville, Kennecott, Du Pont, Union Carbide, American Smelting and U. S. Industrial Alcohol. Stocks of Borden, General Foods and National Dairy were about unchanged to slightly higher. Union Pacific was fairly firm and Homestake Mining advanced 3 points on a single sale to a new record high at $412 a share.

Announcement of a reduction in various steel prices was not altogether unexpected in Wall street in view of the lowering of automobile prices and the insistence of most consuming industries that steel makers should meet the cuts.

While there was some revival of inflationary hopes following the appeal of the committee of the nation to the president to boost the domestic gold price from $35 to the maximum limit of $41.34 an ounce financial circles generally were of the opinion that such a step will not be considered by the administration, at least until the silver-buying program has been given a chance.

One of the principal arguments being advanced against further dollar devaluation at the present time is that consumer resistance is already being shown to higher prices in some lines and that additional increases might result in a sharp decline in trade.

The continued pressure of idle funds was seen in the sale of $30,000,000 of emergency unemployment relief bonds by New York state at a net cost marking a record low. Some market commentators expressed the belief that the investment urge must eventually affect equities, especially those of the higher grades.

Omaha Produce.

OMAHA, Neb., June 29—(AP)—

The food situation on the local produce market was tightening up today due to an advance in feed grains and sortage of forage crops. Wholesale prices of creamery butter advanced one-half cent, with butterfat weak despite the firmness in creamery butter. Eggs were unsettle ddue to loss by heat. Poultry was generally unrevised although the market is nervous.

POULTRY—No. 1, poultry delivered: Broilers, colored, under 2½ lbs. 15c; springs, over 2½ lbs. 16c; Leghorn chickens, 2 to 3c less than colored; roosters 5@6c; heavy hens 9@10½c; light hens 8@9c; Leghorn hens 7@8c.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—

COTTON—A slight advance in cotton at the opening today which carried October up to 12.52, or back to the high price of the week, was followed by moderate reactions under realizing or liquidation and some scattered southern selling. The easier ruling of the grain and stock markets were contributing factors. Weather news from the southwest continued bad and offerings were absorbed on setbacks of 8 or 10 points. October was selling around 12 42 in the mid-afternoon market when active months were ruling about 3 to 5 points net lower with trade quiet.

Futures closed barely steady 7 to 12 lower. July 12.15, Oct 12 35-35, Dec. 12.50, Jan. 12 55, March 12 64; May 12 75. Spot quiet; middlings 12 35.

Grain Values Pushed Lower

Corn Closes Heavy, 2⅛-2½c Down; Wheat 1½-2c Down.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29—(AP)—

Notable weakness of grain prices today contrasted with strength shown yesterday and there was also a pronounced contraction in the volume of trading.

Corn led the declines of prices, and at times dropped more than 2 cents a bushel. Cooler temperatures and some moisture relief for the corn belt did much to induce selling and to restrict demand from buyers.

Corn closed heavy, 2⅛ to 2½ cents under yesterday's finish, July 58¾@⅞c, September 60½@⅝c. Wheat weak, 1½ to 2 cents down, July 90⅝@¾c, September 91@91⅛c. Oats 1 to 1⅛ cents off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

Material setbacks of grain values took place early today after an irregular start. Showers reported at places in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska led to profit taking sales on the part of holders of corn futures and to a cessation of aggressive buying. Opening ¾ to 1 cent lower, September 62¼@⅜c, corn soon underwent additional downturns. Wheat started ⅛ cent off to 1 cent up, September 92⅞@¾c, and subsequently receded all around.

Cooler temperatures overspreading the northwest and expected to reach Chicago tomorrow added to the downward momentum of all grain prices. Wheat traders took particular notice of good rains in Canada. Some points in the corn belt advised that there had been heavy rains, not merely showers. Corn values at this stage showed more than 1½ cents a bushel overnight fall, with wheat down about a cent.

Renewal of selling pressure in the wheat market was associated more or less with contiuned liberal arrivals at Kansas City from harvest fields southwest. The Kansas City receipts of wheat today totaled 356 cars, against 27 5a week ago and 249 at this time last year. On the other hand, a decided falling off in the movement of wheat to various interior Kansas terminals was reported. A bearish factor as to corn was talk that 15,000,000 newer pigs this season implied 150,000,000 bushels less corn needed. The oats market weakened wit hcorn.

About mid-session, corn was ⅞ to 1⅝ cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, and wheat was ½ to 1 cent down.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 74 cars, a week ago 78, and a year ago 318.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 32,585,000 bushels, corn 24,376 000. Open interest in wheat was 112,435,000 bushels, and in corn 60 733.000.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—

The curb market idled through its session today without making much headway toward either higher or lower price levels. Trading was almost at a standstill in all sections of the list except the oils and metals which were bid up fractionally in moderately active trading. Some of the specialties were higher, but utilities and industrials yielded.

Humble Oil gained around ½ point and Creole Petroleum was slightly higher, although Standard Oil of Indiana sold fractionally lower. Lake Shore Mines and Pioneer Gold gained small fractions while Wright Hargreaves and Newmont Mining held close to the previous closing quotation.

Miscellaneous shares selling fractionally higher included American Cyanamid "B," and Sherwin Williams, while Dow Chemical, which seldom appears on the tape, was more than 5 points higher on a single transaction.

American Gas declined nearly a point, Electric Bond & Share was about ½ point lower and American Super Power, Cities Service, and others in the group yielded slightly. National Bellas Hess and Swift & Co. were lower. New York Honduras and Rosario, which gained 5 points in the previous session, lost around 1½ points.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—

The bond market showed but little life today and values had no definite trend during the forenoon trading.

U. S. governments and most of the prime company issues met enough support to hold the levels of the previous day. In the semi-speculative classifications there were a few minor gains and some equally narrow losses, but signs were absent throughout the list.

Early dealings in Treasury loans added slightly to yesterday's gains. The 4¼s-3¼s and 4¼s of 1953 did a little better than the rest with gains of 3-32nds and 4-32nds of a point, respectively.

Corporate obligations like American Telephone 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, St. Paul 5s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Erie 5s, Goodyear 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s and Southern Railway 4s edged up to a top gain of hal fa point. A few transfers in Detroit Edison 4½s rtsulted a loss of nearly a point, which was considerably wider than the general run of declines.

There were offerings of American Smelting 5s, Santa Fe 4s Duquesne Light 4½s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Pacific Gas 5s, Electric 5s and Phillips Petroleum 5¼s at small concessions from the previous finals.

Trading was slow in the foreign division with most prices irregularly lower. German governments and Agricultural bank 6s were down around half a point each, and narrowed losses marked Argentine 6s, Brazil 6½s, and Canada 4s. Japan 5½s showed a moderate recovery following weakness yesterday.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Ill. June 29—(AP)—

Butter was firm in tone today. Eggs were unsettled, hens easy and chickens firm.

The recent inclination of many butter operators to take to anything with a bullish sound stresses an underlying sentiment for higher prices, traders believed. However weather indications have been too changeable, and as a result the market has developed a nervousness reflecting uncertainty.

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO, June 29—(AP)—Technical gossip around the board of trade centers almost exclusively these days on the fate of the corn crop. Although it is still a bit early to make predictions, it is conceded that most reports are potential dangers that may materialize if certain conditions exist.

[illegible]

[illegible] Texas area wheat threshing has begun and indications are that results may be better than predicted.

Weekly Trade Review.

NEW YORK, June 29—The Dun & Bradstreet weekly trade review said today that while the "trade tide undoubtedly is ebbing from the standpoint of sales and earnings," a gradual but irregular uptrend is noticeable in practically all major lines.

"It cannot be denied," asserted the review, "that crucial points lie in the path which business must follow during the next six months, but with the reassurance given by the president that nothing is to be allowed to interrupt the recovery movement, the overcoming of timidity and the jettisoning of the present excessive caution may result in a sudden surging ahead in the next few weeks.

"Much is expected to be gained by the elimination of any unworkable code provisions, which may carry prohibitions detrimental to industry or call for the conscription of unwilling units.

"Reports from the south and southwest as demand has turned weaker in the middle west and northwest, except in those districts where aid has been given to closed banks, or payments made by the AAA for crop reduction and drouth relief have been resumed.

"The trend of industrial indices is becoming more mixed, with new peaks being set down for some divisions, while in others the recession is more accentuated than seasonal.

"On the whole June was a satisfactory month for retailers with moderate gains over May recorded, and the general showing far better than it was in June, 1933."

DIVIDENDS.

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—Directors of the Reading Co. declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, payable August 9 to stock of record July 12. The company previously paid 25 cents quarterly.

The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad Co., which once was the property of Henry Ford, declared a dividend of $2 a share on the common stock, making the second distribution in the road's history. Since reorganization in 1914 the property has had several owners and is now controlled by the Pennroad corporation, an affiliate of the Pennsylvania railroad. The dividend is payable June 30 to stock of record June 29. The previous dividend was paid in 1931.

BROKERS' LOANS.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—Total of brokers' loans by reporting member banks in New York city was [illegible] for the week ended June 27, representing a decline of $17,000,000 for the week. The loans for the week ended June 20 [illegible] were $784,000,000.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 29—(AP)—

SUGAR futures were irregular today but changes were confined to narrow limits. After declining a point on most positions under liquidation and selling by producing interests, the market rallied on covering for over the week-end adjournment and buying by trade interests against sales of actuals. July contracts sold up from 1 66 to 1.67, and September from 1.71 to 1 73, or unchanged to a point above the previous close with the market at the beginning of the last hour holding around these levels.

KANSAS HOLDUPS OBTAIN $25,000

OSAWATOMIE, Kas., June 29—(AP)—Two armed men obtained between $25,000 and $30,000 here today in a holdup, executing the robbery as the payroll of the Missouri Pacific railroad was being transferred to the postoffice from the railroad station.

The money, which was addressed to a local bank to be used in payment of wages at the Missouri Pacific division shops, was in a mail sack.

A postal employe was met at the station by the two men who forced him to accompany them four blocks away where they had a motor car parked. At this point they took the money and drove off.

Mail Sacks Rifled.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 29—(AP)—The rifling of 10 sacks of parcel post mail and some express packages destined for Indiana cities was under investigation here today by postal authorities.

The loot, taken from a storage car on Big Four train No. 34 probably had a value of several hundred dollars, according to A. C. Garrigus, postal inspector.

The car was loaded late yesterday at the Twelfth street station in Chicago. The robbery was discovered early this morning after the train, to which the car was attached, had left Kankakee, Ill.

Army Awards Contracts To Chevrolet for 1,838 Trucks and Ambulances

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—Bidders for war department automobile contracts hereafter will not be required to certify that they had not employed lobbyists or other agents to solicit the business.

This ruling was made today by Hary H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, following an opinion by J. R. McCarl, the controller general, that such action would tend to promote competition.

A while later the war department announced award of contracts for 1,838 trucks and field ambulances to the Chevrolet Motor Co., Detroit, for more than $1,000,000.

The trucks and ambulances are part of the army's $10,000,000 motorization program.

Award of the contracts had been held up for a number of weeks because of investigations of war department purchases.

CHICAGO MILK PRICE BOOSTED

CHICAGO, June 29—(AP)—A one cent boost in the retail price of milk in Chicago was announced today by two of the largest dairies and the others were expected to make similar increases.

The Borden and Weiland concerns said the price would be lifted to ten cents a quart Sunday because of higher prices being paid producers.

Producers Get More.

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—An increase from $2 to $2.25 a hundred pounds, or to 4.8 cents a quart to producers of milk in the seventy miles zone of the Chicago sales area was approved Thursday by the farm administration. The increase is effective July 1.

The administration said the Pure Milk association serving Chicago had requested the advance and that it was found justified because of widespread drouth conditions.

The federal trade commission today launched an inquiry into methods of supplying the nation's milk.

Many officials, including Secretary Wallace and his under secretary, Rexford G. Tugwell, rank the problem second only to the water supply in importance to the people. They urged, and congress passed recently, a resolution for the investigation.

Farm administrators say that in some cases farmers have received as little as 50 cents per hundred for milk for which consumers paid from 8 to 14 cents a quart after it had been pasteurized, cooled, and delivered.

THREE KILLED IN CHICAGO COLLISION

CHICAGO, June 29—(AP)—Three persons, including Edward H. Peck, prominent dry goods merchant of Warren, O., were killed and three others injured today when Peck's automobile and a produce truck collided on a highway in suburban Harvey.

Mrs. L. B. Reed of suburban Oak Park and E. F. Moss of Chicago, owner of the truck, were the other two fatalities.

Adamowiczes Leave Harbor Grace; Favorable Weather Lies Ahead.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 29—(AP)—Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, aviation's adventurous brothers, swung into the eastern sky shortly after dawn on their projected trans-Atlantic flight to Warsaw, Poland, their ancestral home.

They hopped from Harbor Grace airport at 5:26 a. m. (2.58 a. m., Lincoln time).

Ahead, along the north Atlantic seaway, lay favorable weather. A report from New York, which arrived as they warmed the motor of their plane, predicted favorable conditions all the way across.

Prospective Route.

Holger Hoiriis, their flying instructor who hopped to Copenhagen in 1931 in the same plane, accompanied them as far as Harbor Grace.

He superintended the loading of 610 gallons of gasoline and he made a final check of the motor while the brothers slept in nearby St. John's.

Benjamin is 36 years old and married. Joseph is 39 and single. They have been flying since 1927.

SAITO EXPECTS NO WORLD WAR

Says Toll Would Be So Great No Victory Could Compensate.

OMAHA, June 29 — (P) — Japan's ambassador to the United States, Hiroshi Saito, his wife and two small daughters, passed through Omaha today by train returning to Japan after an absence of two and one-half years. They will come to the United States again in October.

Mr. Saito, who has represented Japan at every important peace conference since the Washington conference in 1922, was one of the leaders who influenced Japan to withdraw from the league of nations. He was at The Hague when the announcement was made that his country would be out in 1935.

"The league, as it is composed now, is not a suitable organization to handle big questions," he said today. "All members have one vote. Suppose that there were a dispute between your country and Mexico and it was settled by the vote of Japan, or Czechoslovakia, or Uruguay. Might there not be room for dissatisfaction?"

Mr. Saito does not anticipate another World war.

"We can't go to war. There can't be any victors any more," he said. "The development of warlike machines and implements has reached such an advanced stage, with gas and incendiary bombs, and even bacteria, that the toll in destruction would be so heavy that no victory could possibly compensate."

Mr. Saito expressed "fundamental optimism" for world prosperity. He believes that President Roosevelt has the qualities with which to bring his country out of the depression.

Wholesale Liquor and Beer Men Ask U.S. for More Strict Regulation

WASHINGTON, June 29 — (P) — The men who sell liquor and beer at wholesale want the government to regulate them more strictly, Joseph H. Choate, jr. federal alcohol control administrator, disclosed today.

Officials said there was a possibility that President Roosevelt may act before he leaves Saturday on the request to be put under a drastic permit system so that codes may be enforced.

Beer code spokesmen complained that many persons have plunged into the business, usually selling out at sacrifice prices when they could not make it go, and threatening to demoralize the business.

FUNERAL AT CRETE.

(Special to The Star)

Kardi of College View officiating. Interment was in Riverside cemetery. Her daughters, Mrs. Paul Wilson of Hugo and Mrs. Charles Brown of Ramah, Colo., and their husbands, accompanied the remains here. Her husband died in 1899.

O'Furey Declines Run For Congress

Hartington Editor Files Again For State Senate, J. V. Ladman, Friend, Also Files.

State Senator J. P. O'Furey of Hartington thanks his friends for the compliment of filing petitions with the secretary of state to have him run for congress in the third district but he has decided to be a candidate instead for renomination in the democratic primary to his legislative seat for the 10th senatorial district.

He is the editor and publisher of the Cedar County News at Hartington and is a past president of the Nebraska Press association. In the 1933 session O'Furey was chairman of the committee on committees representing the majority party in the state senate.

J. V. Ladman of Friend has entered himself for state senator on the democratic ticket in the 18th district.

Another candidate for director of the Central Nebraska power and irrigation district (Tri-county project), whose nomination papers reached the secretary of state's office Friday, is J. H. Taylor of Holdrege. They were accompanied by a receipt for $10 filing fee paid to the treasurer of Phelps county.

SCHICK IS CANDIDATE.

SEWARD, Neb., June 29—Robert A. Schick, Seward filed Tuesday as a democratic candidate for county attorney. Mr. Schick was graduated from the University of Nebraska law shool this spring.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS — By John Hix

Maurice Worthington, railroad detective in Philadelphia, suffered three distinct wounds when a suspect fired at him with a .38 revolver. The bullet punctured his skin in five places.

Germany, in 1888 had three emperors between March 9, when William I died, and June 15, when the death of Frederick III brought William II to the throne. The last of these three emperors was the last of the German kaisers—he was the Kaiser Wilhelm of the World war.

William I was the second son of Frederick William III of Prussia. Upon the death of his father he became heir presumptive to the throne—his elder brother being childless. In 1858 he became regent for his brother, succeeding him three years later. William died in early March, 1888 and was followed by Frederick III. This ruler lived only a few months, dying in June the same year.

William II, his son, then became emperor, remaining in power until the closing days of the World War when he gave up his throne and fled to Holland where he now lives.

BRIDGE IS BURNED.

CURTIS, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Trains on the Sterling division of the Burlington were stopped yesterday by the burning of a bridge spanning a dry creek. The bridge was two miles east of Farnham and materials were rushed there from McCook and other places to complete rebuilding by Friday morning. The bridge is 120 feet long and 18 feet high.

JUNIOR EVENTS START PROGRAM

Annual A.A.U. Carnival Gets Under Way at Milwaukee Oval.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 29—(INS)—The curtain rises today on the forty-seventh annual national A. A. U. track and field championship meet, with the most impressive collection of athletes since the 1932 Olympic games ready for an assault on the records.

Twenty-six of the stars gathered for the competition in Marquette university stadium were members of the 1932 American Olympic team. Pressing at their heels were a collection of newcomers aiming for places on the squad Uncle Sam will send abroad to the Berlin Olympiad in 1936.

The drama of speed will get under way this afternoon when the Junior A. A. U. championship trials will be run off. The junior event finals will be contested tonight and such senior events as the 10,000 meter run, the 5,000 meter walk and the hammer throw will be run off.

Tomorrow will bring the stars forth for the senior competition.

Interest on The Mile.

Attracting perhaps the greatest interest is the 1,500 meter run in which Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, holder of the world's record for the one mile run, 4 minutes 6 7-10 seconds, will fight it out with two worthy rivals, Bill Bonthron of Princeton and Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania.

An injured left ankle and a strained right leg muscle may slow up Cunningham, but he was on the scene today and pronounced himself ready to start.

"Blazing Ben" Eastman, the former Stanford star, is picked to take the honors in another feature event, the 800 meter race, despite the opposition of Charles Hornbostel, Indiana university's holder of the Big Ten half mile record.

Metcalfe Seeks Slam.

Ralph Metcalfe, the flashy Marquette negro, will be aiming at victories for the third consecutive year in the dash events, the 100 meter and 200 meter races. If Metcalfe is successful he will tie the feat of Bernie Wefers, New York A. C., who made a sweep of the dashes in 1895, 1896 and 1897.

Metcalfe will first have to best another negro, James Owens, the Ohio State freshman, who is expected to furnish the chief competition.

One of the closest duels in the field events is expected to develop in the pole vault between Keith Brown of Yale, holder of the indoor record, and Bill Graber of Southern California, holder of the world's record.

New York Athletic club, defending team champion, was on hand with 38 men as compared to the 21 men ready to represent the Olympic club of San Francisco, Louisiana State is expected to offer a tough fight for the team championship.

Thousands Bushels Corn Crash Through Floors Of Elevator

SUPERIOR, Neb., June 29—(AP)—The weight of two thousand bushels of corn caused a floor to give way at the Superior Milling company's plant here Thursday night. The corn fell through three floors and did considerable damage to machinery in the plant.

Hessie King, the only employe on duty at the time of the accident, was in another part of the building. The damage will run into several thousands of dollars.

Hold Services For Salvation Army Man

OMAHA, June 29—(P)—Funeral services for Samuel V. Broas, 36, Salvation Army adjutant who came to Omaha recently from Grand Island, were held today. He died yesterday at a local hospital. Present at the funeral were division staff officers including Major Charles Ward, Lincoln. A military guard and a bugler from the Omaha American Legion post participated. The body was taken to Chicago for burial.

Bankruptcy Discharge Obtained By Livermore

Livermore was petitioned into bankruptcy on March 5, his assets being listed as of no tangible value, his liabilities at $2,900,000.

Gordon Beck Returns To Lincoln On July 5

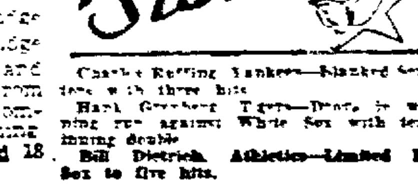

Charles Gordon Beck, regional director of veterans administration, will return to his duties in Lincoln on July 5, according to word received here from Des Moines, where Beck has been stationed since January.

He has been temporary manager of veterans administration facilities there since the first of the year, when he went there to supervise the opening of the new hospital. Dr. T. F. Moore has been acting director at Lincoln during Beck's absence.

Young Ruether Signs Pitch With Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29—(INS)—Frank Ruether, 19 year old son of Manager "Dutch" Ruether of the Seattle Coast league baseball club has been signed to pitch for the Indians officials announced today.

(Special to The Star.)

TECUMSEH, Neb., June 29—The farm house of Porter Dysart, living four and one-half miles southwest of Tecumseh, was burned to the ground Thursday. Most of the furniture was removed from the building. The fire originated from a leaky gasoline stove. Tecumseh firemen made a run to the fire with a pumper truck, but all the water available on the place was in a watering tank, was soon used and the firemen were then helples. The house was seven-rooms one story, estimated to be worth $1,700. It was insured for $1,200. Loss on furniture not saved wes estimated at $200 and was insured.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

for all needed funds and until this method is employed there will continue the maladjustment the world is, recurringly, subjected to. Now this is the point to recognize. Ground value is the direct result and effect of the community and this value or rent should be taken for public purposes in lieu of all other taxes.

Automatically this ground value grows as the community's needs increase and this is the most simple, ethical, direct and just method of obtaining needed public funds. This ground rent system has every good feature desirable; there is absolutely nothing inimical to any one in the operation of this system of ground rent and the abolishing of all other taxes. In social justice is the solution of all of our economic troubles. It is the Multum in Parvo.

Golden Rule.

Lincoln, Neb., June 27.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your editorial in the Sunday paper was fine—but I must observe that it reminds me of a remark of Mark Twain, when he said: "All my life I have heard people talking about the weather—but I have yet to hear of anyone doing anything about it."

This ambiguity as to the fundamentals of social science, when youth is seeking a way out on the advice of such prominent industrialists as Owen D. Young who points the way.

I am happy to know of many cases of the practical application in the business of social science, to the eminent success of said business. The most outstanding case is that of Golden Rule Jones, now deceased, who after he received his vision, started with a clothing sweat shop, and by all of the practical application of the "Golden Rule," built up one of the largest clothing establishments in the country. But no man can do a job like this unless he has his whole heart in it. Even such a man as Owen D. Young would, and in his talk to the University of Nebraska graduates, did shirk from outlining such a task, because he felt unequal to it.

On a remark to him that Christianity had fallen down, Evangelist Dwight Moody replied: "How do you know? You have never seen it tried." This is also Golden Rule Jones' observation, and the reading of his story of his experiences will give one the best idea of the best in the application of the social sciences. And a perusal of Henry George's "Progress and Poverty," will also be enlightening to an open mind which wants the truth, all the truth, and nothing but the truth.

WILLIAM SIBLEY.

Political Thoughts.

Lincoln, Neb., June 28.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Politics must not drift along as of yore. We must have plain statements of facts and purposes, and a higher degree of frankness, with no deceptive assertions of an elusive character so frequent in past campaigns. We have candidates seeking high offices that have been tried. Wil they allow the voters to be the judge of their qualifications by past conduct? Is there no compunction for truth in modern candidates for offices of alluring salaries? One candidate had some years service with the dear people in congress. Will he review his efforts while there to forestall the inevitable distress occasioned by his pandering to the wishes of those responsible for the many causes of this people's chaos, rather than invectives toward those, these voters sent there, and who he now panders for their gracious support.

Another candidate the people trusted now avers that he wishes to accede to the will of the people of Nebraska. Two years ago he declared in favor of the party platform in its entirety. He conspicuously used his influence to avert the will of the people decidedly expressed at the polls, and did accede to the biased will of a minority, and chaos continues in Nebraska. Will the voter have faith in such betrayal of trust in a great position? Insincerity in one major issue is likely to father perfidity to other desired measures. "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he.' 'And actions speak louder than honeyed words. Brethren. "Let your lights so shine before men that they may see your good works, etc."

The forces of intrigue must be kept out of our governmental functions. There will be no good government in a democracy until political treachery is banished ahead of the so-called reds. The voters will not forever be deluded by the scare crows of unconstitutional reds, communism, socialism, and the like, when experiencing hunger and distress from the worse menaces in plain sight.

Make This Model At Home

FRILLS ARE SO VERY FEMININE
PATTERN 1889

By ANNE ADAMS

Now, really...wouldn't any woman at all...look sweet and charming in this delightful little frock? Have it in anything you like, but we recommend cotton. For two reasons...the cottons are heavenly this season...and they cost so little! And there is another thing about this little affair that is going to make friends for it. The trimming may be bought all ready made ...frills and frogs...if you wish, which leaves so little to the making of the frock. Nice in silk or cotton prints or a dainty organza.

Pattern 1889 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3⅞ yards 39 inch fabric, and 1¾ yards ruffling. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coin preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

The smartest warm weather fashions, the newest fabrics, and the Summer season's outstanding accessories are illustrated and described in the NEW ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK FOR SUMMER ORDER YOUR COPY OF THIS HELPFUL NEW SUMMER BOOK. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to Lincoln Star Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

'Daddy' Browning Critically Ill

EXPLAIN DELAY DROUTH ACTION

Brokaw's Signature Must Be Added To Primary Area Reqests.

Absence of the signature of Extension Director W. E. Brokaw on formal requests for classification of Nebraska counties as emergency drouth area is responsible for the delay in approving such requests, A. E. Anderson, state and federal agricultural statistician, said he learned Friday in a telephone conversation with Washington officials.

Anderson said the previous understanding was that requests for emergency drouth designations would be granted upon recommendation of himself and Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the agricultural college.

Thirty Nebraska counties probably will come soon into the emergency class if the drouth continues, Anderson said. Moisture received in those areas has been insufficient to do much good and extreme heat of the past few days has placed these counties in a "most unfavorable condition again."

Contracts Let By Army for Planes

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—The United States today made another move toward increasing its airplane power to a level with that of any other nation.

A $3,195,450 contract was awarded the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore for 81 bombing planes, and a $1,705,733 contract was given the Wright Aeronautical corporation of Paterson, N. J., for 280 airplane engines.

The war department action was in line with army air corps plans for obtaining approximately 1,000 new planes.

DROP OF 28 PER CENT IN SPRING PIG CROP SHOWN

WASHINGTON, June 29—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics today reported a decrease of 22 per cent in the spring pig crop of 1934 from the 1933 crop and prospective decrease of 38 per cent in sows to farrow this fall.

The June 1 pig crop report showed the number of pigs saved this spring to be 37,427,000 head. This was a decrease of 14,595,000 head from June 1, 1933.

The estimated number of sows farrowing this spring was 6,418,400 compared with 8,865,700 in 1933. The decrease was 28 per cent for both the United States and for the corn belt.

The number of sows to farrow this fall was estimated at 3,132,600 head, a decrease of 38 per cent from 1933. The number of sows to farrow in the corn belt was estimated at 2,979,000 head, 42 per cent smaller than the 1933 total.

Good Finds No Law To Authorize Election of Precinct Committeemen

A new interpretation of the statutory method of selecting delegates to county conventions and also precinct committeemen and committeewomen was announced Friday by Attorney General Good.

The opinion holds that county convention delegates should be selected at the primary election, except when the party has failed to cast 20 per cent of the votes cast for governor at the last general election. In that case convention delegates may be selected at a caucus, the opinion said.

Reversing a previous opinion, Good said that so far as he knows there is no statutory provision for the selection of precinct committeemen and committeewomen. He previously ruled that such party officers should be elected at the primary, basing his opinion on the assumption that a statute bearing on the matter had been repealed, later finding that the statute is still in force.

Fifteen-Minute Stalls To Be Recommended

But Caster Does Not Believe That Such Facilities Are Necessary Or Feasible.

A recommendation that the safety advisory board adopt the chamber of commerce retail subdivision plan for 15 minute parking stalls in the one-hour district was to be made at the meeting Friday afternoon by M. T. Caster, chairman of the board's traffic and pedestrian safety committee.

Mr. Caster stated Friday morning that he had met with the retail committee and while he believes that there is no apparent need for the 15 minute stalls, he will recommend it for a trial. The plan is to put two such stalls on both sides of the street at either end of a block with two stalls on each side in the middle of the block.

Mr. Caster points out the increased police supervision necessary to enforce the 15 minute parking rule and believes that by cutting down the number of cars parked overtime in hour stalls, sufficient parking facilities could be made available.

Investigating For Purpose Of Fixing Beet Workers' Pay

DENVER, June 24—(AP)— John Dalton, head of the sugar section of the AAA, is in Colorado investigating labor conditions in the sugar beet fields, preparatory to fixing the minimum wage which growers will be required to pay their field workers.

He arrived from Washington two days ago and conferred with officials of the Great Western Sugar company, later leaving for northern Colorado where, it was understood here, he planned to talk with representatives of the growers and field workers. Sugar officials said before a grower can receive benefit payments he must sign an agreement fixing the minimum wage for field labor.

A committee of beet workers from northern Colorado said they have decided that $23 an acre is a fair wage.

It is understood Dalton is attempting to find out whether the usual amount of credit is being extended to field workers and whether delay in establishing a minimum wage is subjecting them to hardship.

Southern Nebraska Highway Is Wanted

Many Enthusiasts Meet At Superior To Plan For Federalization Of Projected Route.

SUPERIOR, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Delegations from towns along a proposed route for a new federal highway through the southern tier of Nebraska counties and west through Colorado met at the Nebraskan hotel here Thursday night to form a permanent organization to work for this road.

Governor Bryan expressed interest in the proposed road and offered the services of his office in bringing about the marking of the highway. State Engineer Cochran, in a short talk, outlined the steps necessary to bring about federalization of a highway.

Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City opened the meeting and outlined the purpose, and Judge Stiner of Hastings, president of the South Platte united chamber of commerce, pledged the co-operation of that organization.

In the afternoon the group of 500 delegates passed resolutions endorsing a bridge across the Missouri river at Rulo.

WILTSE NEW HEAD OF YORK SCHOOLS

YORK, Neb., June 29—(AP)—Earle W. Wiltse, superintendent of the Franklin, Neb., schools for five years, was unanimously elected by the York school board today to succeed E. L. Weaver as superintendent of the York school system.

Wiltse was selected from probably the largest field of candidates ever to apply for superintendency of the York schools. He holds a master's degree from Columbia university in New York and a bachelor's degree from Wesleyan. He is engaged at the University of Nebraska teaching educational methods this summer.

Jail Flooded In China; Many Die

CANTON, June 29—(AP)—Floodwaters submerged the jail at Toishan, a city near Canton, today and before the panicky guards were able to release the prisoners, scores were drowned.

RED CLOUD PLANS CELEBRATE FOURTH

(Special to The Star.)

RED CLOUD, Neb., June 29—Plans are rapidly being formed for the celebration of the Fourth here, the first time in years that the day has been observed in this way. The program includes races of various kinds, a ball game, water fights, dances music by the Red Cloud, Guide Rock and Blue Hill bands, which will include a mass concert of over 100 pieces in the evening, and a parade. In the evening there will be a big fire works display. One of the big attractions will be the Burlington Zephyr, which will be on display here in the afternoon.
